A Great American Chorus.

Sneezing, snuffling and snorting! This is the music all over the land just now. And well it should rise. "I've got such an awful cold in my head." Cure it with Ely's Cream Balm or it may end in the toughest form of Catarrh. Maybe you have catarrh now. Nothing is more nauseous and dreadful. This remedy masters it as no other did. Not a snuff nor a liquid. Apply by the finger to the nostrils. Pleasant, certain, unfailing.

WOMAN'S PHYSICIAN, —AND— Ladies' Private Companion, —FOR— HOME TREATMENT.

A Common Sense Medical Instructor for Ladies Only!

Containing full information in reference to all questions relating to WOMANHOOD, the better to enable the sex to fulfill their duties and to enjoy themselves in their various relations as MAIDENS, WIVES and MOTHERS. It is, as a popular work, commending itself to the great heart of Womanhood; written in plain, concise and delicate language, easy of understanding and above all other recommendations, it is thoroughly reliable and right to the point.

It is a work which fills a place occupied by no other book, and is a complete library in itself. No lady, however sensitive, will ever regret its perusal. It gives information which will make life more pleasant, gives a higher zest to its enjoyment, make those by whom home are prized, prize and enjoy them still more; while it will certainly relieve many irksome burdens now borne by those to whom life has proved almost, if not quite, a failure. It gives the cause, the symptoms and treatment with prescriptions for every disease peculiar to the sphere for which it is designed. To those who have unintentionally, by ignorance, or by a reckless disregard of the divine laws of health made themselves wretched in life by sickness resulting from any of the various forms of weakness, which follow in the train of womanhood, we can unhesitatingly and most confidently recommend this book as one which will give you the advice which your necessities require in order to restore you to health and happiness. The wasted form, the pale, wan cheek, the listless, sunken eyes, the slow, dragging step, the "tired nature" is too often seen in our homes. The authors of this work sincerely believe that all these features may be changed, the form again rounded and plump, the cheeks to bloom with roses of health, the eye to sparkle with life and vivacity, the light quick step regained, and the enervated nature restored, by a simple, home treatment and prescriptions as laid down in this work, and in this belief, and with an earnest desire to benefit the suffering, and renew health and happiness to the afflicted, and to furnish such information to those now in health, as will enable them to retain it and avoid those difficulties, this book has been prepared. Every invalid should obtain a copy and TREAT THEMSELVES, and no lady in health can afford to be without it and thus remain in ignorance of its PECULIAR, ENTERTAINING and INSTRUCTIVE teachings. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a SAFE GUIDE FOR THE SEX. It is handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent post paid to LADIES ONLY, upon receipt of $1.00. Address the American Merino Sheep.

When the first prizes for Merino sheep were awarded to American Merinos at the International Exposition at Hamburg, about twenty years ago, all Europe was astonished. The Yankee sheep took the prizes over the best flocks of Europe, and they could not understand it. After the first surprise was over, the European sheep growers, at the close of the exhibition, did the best possible thing—they purchased the American Merinos, or "Vermont Merinos," as they were generally called, for the improvement of their own flocks, at what was then an unusual price.—The American Merinos are the result of several importations, made early in the present century from Spain, and included animals from the Paular, Infantado, Negretti, and other celebrated flocks, regarded as the finest in Spain. Of these early importations, some were lost sight of, or "run out," through careless breeding. Others were bred with great care, and by crossing with other pure flocks, under our climate and with no doubt better feeding, they gradually developed, perhaps unintentionally on the part of the breeders, into a distinct family of Merinos now known as American. The superiority of the American over the best European families of Merinos is shown, in the first place, in its greater size and weight. While the rams of the most noted of the Spanish flocks range from sixty to one hundred pounds—this last a weight rarely reached—the American Merino rams run to one hundred and twenty pounds, and upwards to one hundred and eighty pounds. These large weights are accompanied by shorter neck and legs, an increased width of loin and, what is most important, a great increase in the weights of fleece. Some flocks have averaged ten pounds of washed wool, and individual rams have greatly exceeded this weight. The American Merino is marked by strong folds and wrinkles, and some flocks have been bred with a view to these. It is a common impression that excessive wrinkles indicate purity of breed and fineness of wool, and breeders have endeavored to meet the prevailing taste for heavily wrinkled sheep. Those who look to the best returns in wool do not approve of excessive wrinkles, as they increase the difficulty and the cost of shearing. Breeders differ as to the amount of yolk and [desirable in the wool, and this is sometimes excessive. Fashion has much to do with both yolk and wrinkles; the present tendency is to reduce the amount of both. The Americans have been found to be superior to any of the European Merinos for improving the flocks of Australia. A few months ago an Australian flock master who called upon us, said that the sole object of his visit to this country was to purchase American Merino rams. He attributed the great improvement which has lately been manifested in Australian sheep, to the introduction of American Merinos. We notice that English Agricultural writers speak of the improvement in Australian sheep by the introduction of Merino rams. In sheep raising, as in many other branches of agriculture, Australians and New Zealanders look to America for aid and improvement, rather than to the mother country.—Am. Agriculturist.

Household Hints and Helps.

One of the most reliable receipts for a white layer cake is this: One cup of butter beaten to a cream, with two cups of sugar; add one cup of sweet milk, three cups of flour, with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder mixed with it and the well beaten whites of five eggs. This is also delicious if baked in a loaf, with a large cup of chopped raisins in it, put them in last, reserving a little of the flour to sprinkle over them.

Pieces of layer cake that have become too dry need not be thrown away. Steam them for five minutes, and serve as dessert with nice pudding sauce. The layer cake made with boiled frosting and chopped raisin filling makes a delicious pudding.

To get the full flavor of dried or evaporated peaches, they should first be allowed to soak for at least three or four hours, then cook them slowly; when they are almost done add the sugar, then set them away and let them get perfectly cold. If not used until the second day they will be still better, as they will absorb the sugar and be much richer apparently. If for use in puddings, treat in this way also, as it will repay you for taking thought. Use the juice in the pudding sauce.

This rule for corn bread must be carefully followed to procure the excellent possible result: Take two tablespoonfuls of Indian meal, two of molasses, one pint at all heaping, one of soda, one and a half teacups of buttermilk, a good pinch of salt; thicken this until it is about like a thick paste with rye flour, bake in a moderate oven for thirty five minutes.

Excellent breakfast cakes are made of three eggs, one teaspoonful of sugar, one coffee cup of sweet milk, one cup of warm water, three tablespoonfuls of yeast, flour enough to make a stiff batter. Leave the white of three eggs until the batter has risen, then add them; a pinch of salt is needed. If started the night before, these cakes are delicious. They will be as light as puffs.

An excellent rule for making out candy is to take two pints of maple sugar, half a pint of water, or enough to dissolve the sugar and no more. Let this boil until it becomes brittle, when a little is "tried" in cold water. Butter some plates or tins, cover with nut meats, and pour the candy over them. Hickory nuts or butternuts are nicer with this than almonds or peanuts.

—Milk is a constantly changing substance, and from the moment it is drawn from the cow, except when temporarily arrested by unnatural heat or cold, decomposition is in progress. Cream has the same tendency, though not in so marked a degree.

—Hens having liberty to go around the farm-yard, scratch at the manure-heaps, and run over the adjoining lands to pick up worms before sunrise, etc., will get more than half their living, beside being exceedingly healthy and laying many more eggs than if confined to the poultry yard.

—It is said that plums, pigs and poultry flourish well together. If plums are planted in grounds occupied by pigs and chickens good crops nearly always result. The pigs continually disturbing the soil, and thus preventing the growth of weeds hinder, the curculios from secreting themselves at night.

—Celery boiled in a little milk flavored with salt and thickened with a little flour makes an excellent sauce for boiled mutton.
