THE WORLD OF AGRICULTURE

THE WORLD OF AGRICULTURE.

The Agricultural World, one of the best if not the best, farm papers of the class, is making a great success of the plan inaugurated by its editor, a few years ago. This plan is nothing less than the giving of exhaustive articles by the best writers on agriculture in all the countries of the world. The articles from the different States and Territories of our own country are particularly instructive and entertaining. Judge Parrish's articles on "The Farmer's Relation to Law" are alone worth the price of the paper. Judge Parrish, who is one of the paper. Judge Parrish, with the view of supplying the paper with a series of articles on, the agricultural teatures of that exciton. This journal also has a fine household department, which makes it particularly attractive to lady revolers. The price of the Agricultural World (now in its tenth year) is only one dollar per sinum (36 numbers) in clubs of five, 80 cents each. Six months, 60 cents, three montas 40 cents. Sample 60 cents; three montes 40 cents. Sample copies, 6 cents. Two-cent postage stamp received on subscription. Address Acur cultural World. Grand Rapids, Mich.

Scientific Pig Feeding. Pig feeding experiments of more than isual value are being made by Prof. J. W. Sanborn, of the Missour: Agricultural Col lege. Those described in a report issued ander date of July 1st are of special interest since they show plainly that spring pigs marketed in the autumn or the early par of the winter next following their birth, are nuch more profitable than are those kept brough the winter. In the course of thes xperiments it was found that two pounds of food per day per cental of live pig wa required to keep up the weight of the inimal, and that about two pounds more were used for each pound of growth. The average weight of the pigs fed corn or corn mea in this experiment was 112 pounds each fo the period of 116 days. As they requir ed 2 24 lbs, per day for maintenance ration without growth, then 1,032 pounds were used in 116 days, merely to support four pigs, leaving for growth only 573 pound out of 1,612 pounds of corn meal fed. The igs actually gained 250 pounds, showing that the food was well utilized.

When whole corn was ted the grain in weight was much less than when meal waused; yet careful review of the figures result ng shows only 1.1 lbs. saved by grinding every 6.8 lbs ied. As millers charge ne eighth tell, this gives 176 lb. to every lbs. sayed, or 44 lbs. per ton to pay for arrying to mill. The conclusion from th is that this high toll is about equivalent to prohibition of the use of meal for feeding egs in the West. The nutritive effects of whole corn were apparently greatest, al ough from the little eaten, seemingly eractically valueless. When whole corend corn meal eaten in similar amoun the meal is more effective than the who

In this experiment 98.8 lbs. of "ship stuff' gave the same gain that 100 lbs. o corn meal gave. This has been the constant result for the last ten years. The first threy ars of the trials were conducted in the dry, cool basement of a barn, and with pig-A gain of 28 1 lbs. was made with 100 lbs of sorn meal produced but 26.4 grawth. At the rates paid for nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash in chemical manures, in every State east of Missouri, these materials is he manure made from the consumption of ton of ship-stuff are worth $12.63, anhose from a ton of corn meal $6 65. Prot Semborn says: "I do not expect that thes are practical values for Missouri, but rela tive, and such as to warn us against the sile, to smart people beyond our borders, o our wheat should be ground at home, thu building up our own markets with all their dessings, and retaining as much as possibl of our own soil fartility at home,"-Prairie

Much Honey with Little Labor.

I believe that the amount of labor really eccessary to get good, fair crops of honey per colony of bees has by many writer been estimated. I do not claim that the plan I shall propose will give the very largest yield which it is possible to get, but do claim to get a large yield with the least possible laber. To make this plan a necess, the following conditions must be beerved:

First, the bees must be in a moyable rame, chaff hive, with large storage room. Second, the bee-keeper must have some enowledge of bees' so as to know what to do and when to do it .- Now take for example certain colony I set spart to test this I lan, Detaber 1, 1882, in the chaff hive, with plenty of winter stores, with chaff cush on n the upper story to cover the bees. The lid was not raised again until in March, when it was raused and a comb or two lifted just to see for a certainty that the queen was there, and which fact was known by the presence of brood. It was not touched again until the truit bloom was out, and it could be seen by outward appearances that the colony was getting strong. Then the claff cushion was removed, and at the same time the surplus combs were placed on, all being done at one time. No more work was done until July, when fifty and one half p unds of honey was taken with the extractor, and the combs again returned and left until October 1, 1883, when what surplus they hal was taken, -about fifteen pounds. The combs were put away, and the cushicn again placed on for the winter.

It will thus be seen that I got sixty five sunds extracted honey, and only opened the have four times in the year. They gave no swarm, but I took bees enough from them to start a nucleus .- Cor. Furm and
