appoint a special police force to serve during the fair, but no quorum could be reached, some of the members claiming that the appointment of a police force was nuncessary. These old fogies should enigrate to Timbueto or some other uncivilezed locality. They evidently thick that the people pay taxes only for the purpose of digging down hills, and that none of the money should be used for the protection of life and property. A new element should be infused into the Board wat spring—men who will fill the position after they are well well fill the position after they are well well fill the position after they are the wealth, the culture and the intelligent elected, justend of men who only wish the election for the name. The people have some rights which even a Borough Council must respect.

lost with all save six on board she was making for Lough Foyle to take the Sheriff and badiffs to Instrbull to evict the inhabitants. The total renial of this speck in the ocean is £18. It is a small island on the seabourd of Donegal, and is well known as the scene of the wreck of the Iris some few years back, when the hardy islanders, at great rick of life and limb, succeeded in rescuing the passencers and crew of the ill-fated steamer. The extreme length of the islet is 3 miles and the breadth one and a balt miles. It is distant from the mainland about nine miles, and of all the desolate specks of land it is the most uninviting Sixteen families with the lighthouse keeper make up the entire population. There is no arable land, and the surface of the ground is fermed of rocks. Some of the tenants have never paid any rent, and others are from ten to fifteen years in arrears. A precarious livelihood is carned during the summer months, by fishing but owing to the stormyand dangerous nature of the coast in the winter, the islanders go to the matuband notil the spring, as there is no fuel to be obtained on the islet. There is only one landing place, and it requires skill and care to collect some $90 has cost the British mayy thousands of pounds and fifty-two lives. A better and more effectual way of destroying the British navy, than O'-Donovan Ross's dynamite party.
