WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

Among the many symptoms of Dyspepsia or indigestion the most prominent are: Variable appetite; faint, gnawing feeling at pit of the stomach, with unsatisfied craving for food; heartburn, feeling of weight and wind in the stomach, bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, low spirits, general prostration, headacho, and constipation. There is no form of disease more provalent than Dyspepsia, and none so peculiar to the high-living and rapid-eating American people. Alcohol and tobacco produce Dyspepsia; also, bad air, rapid eating, etc. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will cure the worst case, by regulating the bowels and toning up the digestive organs. Sold everywhere.

pose in a herd of twenty fairly good cows we introduce a good full-bleodedbull, at a cost of one hundred and fifty ! dollars, which will secure a very good one. The twenty calves will probably be half males, good for yeal. There will probably be a gain of fifty cents to a dollar a head on veal calves, for halfbloods always fatten quicker and better than serubs, and generally grew larger. The ten beifers will be marked after their sire, will follow his dam in strictly feminine points as a rule, but will be influenced also by their own dams in whatever may have been the line of their breeding. It the dams have been kept, and so far as they have been breit; at all, have been raised and kept with reference to their goo lness as mileb cows, this trait will be increased in the daughters, as it is fair to assume, that hardly less than five dollars each, or fifty dollars for the ten head, should be added to the value of the calves, and credited o the bull. The Nut Crop. The squirrels are happy, and the little boys and girls rejoice, for there was never a more abundant crop of nuts in the forest, field and garden than there is this year. Where I live, the bickory, walnut and chestnut trees, are bending down with their loads of nuts. These will no doubt be gathered, and during the coming winter many happy hours will be spent around the fireside, cracking and eating these delicacies. Last year, nuts of all kinds were very scarce. We saw fewer in our markets, and throughout our Northern States there BACHER Make sto to $150 per month was almost a total failure, except in Some localities there was a very good prior and summer. The chestnut sometimes sprout very early in spring, or as soon as the frost leaves the ground, and it is better to place these on the north side of the building, or in the shade of some tree, so that they will be kept cool or frozun until the ground has become warm enough outside for planting. BY M. QUAD,

One night, when his atomach had rebelled at the coarse fare of the poorhouse table, and he had been cursed and sneered at and told that it was too good for him, be sat by the open window and looked out into the darkness. His wounds pained and his heart ached, but not for long. The ra! tat! tat! of the drums suddenly came to his ears, and through the gloom of the night he caught sight of a waving flag and marching men. It was a company marching away to the war. New life came too his blood-new strength to his limbs. He looked more closely, and he saw that he himself marched in the ranks and waved his cap in response to the cheers

The vision changed. There was the rattle of musketry and the boom of cannon, and a battle was on. He saw regiment after regiment advanced, halt, oblique to the right or left. Batteries galloped here and there, bodies of cavalry thundered along with banners and guidons hidden in the smoke. His own regiment moved forward to the edge of Lehighton, Penn'a. regiment moved forward to the edge of the woods, and directly there was a blaze of fire all along its front. It was advancing again, the men were cheering, when darkness suddenly came to He had been wounded. In his vision he saw the bospital to which he was borne, heard the grouns of the REMOVAL! wounded, caught the whispered words of a surgeon:

"Very seriously wounded, but I hope we may save him."

The vision changed, and the roar and rash of Antietam came to his ears. He his new store room opposite the Public Square was a corporal then. When the smoke sleeve and it bore the stripes of a serbroken only by the wind rustling amon the apple trees and whirling away the dead and dying leaves. Then came a crash and din as if the earth was broken up. It was the guns on Falmouth Heights bombarding Fredericksburg. When their roar died away he crossed the historic river-he pushed up the narrow streets - he faced the deadly stone wall at the foot of Mary's Hill. Night came to him again. Another builet had plowed its way into his flesh.

Again the roar an i din of battle cam o him. It was the terrific crash at Gettysburg. His sleeves new bore the ingnia of an orderly sergeant, and as he poked up and down the lines of his ompany he was amazed to see how few nen were left him, and how bronzed and old their faces looked. The earth shook as if earthquakes were battling. Death laughed at prospects of such a harvest, men were no longer men, but demons. The crash died away, and there came the vengeful crackle of musvariced the sergeant, waving his cap to his men, but it was not for long.
