TRICEMAN'S BOLLIGUY—TODAY.
"Well, well, I have thought the worst would come of it."

Ice of such thickness as never before was seen—Thanks to the thousands of tons of ice imported by the Lehigh Valley, it is a wonder that it is not thicker.

Liberal Bequests to Charities.

The will of the late John Lerch, a prominent merchant of Bethlehem, was probated last Saturday morning. The estate is worth $100,000. The public bequests are $2500 to the Board of Home Missions of the Reformed Church of the United States for charitable work; $2500 to the Board of Education of the Reformed Church of the United States for charitable work; $500 for the relief of ministers of the Reformed Church or their widows; and $200 to the Reformed Seminary School of Bethlehem. The estate goes to his family and relatives.

Cave-in Beneath a Railroad Track.

A serious cave-in occurred under the bed of the Shenandoah branch of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, just north of Shenandoah, Sunday morning. About sixty feet of the road bed sank fully two feet while a coal train was passing over it, and a short time afterward the surface dropped into the workings below, leaving a hole upward of seventy-five feet in diameter. The passenger train containing nearly a hundred persons, had passed over the place but a few minutes before. Traffic over the road is suspended in consequence, and the colliers in this section were thrown idle.

The Mine Inspectors Visit Nanticoke.

The mine inspectors, of the Fourth district, and Hugh McDonald, of the Second district, went to Nanticoke last Friday for the purpose of making an inspection of the ill-fated slope where the recent accident occurred. They penetrated the mine as far as the point where the rescuers are now at work. Inspector Rodicker says it is the worst he ever saw. The inspectors will make a report of their findings to Mine Inspector Williams, in whose district the accident occurred, but who has been unable to visit Nanticoke, owing to serious illness. It is understood that the inspectors discouraged the idea of boring a hole to communicate with men below. They say they are all dead, and it would be a waste of time and money. The officials of the company will drill the hole, however, just to satisfy the relatives of the victims.

Damages for Loss of Water Power.

An important case, in which heavy damages were involved, came to an end in the Lehigh County Court, at Allentown, on Thursday evening last week. The plaintiff was David Williams and the defendant Henry Fulmer, both rich slate operators of Slatington. Williams operated a school slate factory, the power being furnished by a turbine water wheel, run by the Lehigh river. Fulmer operated a large slate quarry a short distance away and dumped his rubbish into the river. Gradually Williams' power gave out, because, as he claimed, of Fulmer's rubbish in the river cutting off his supply of water. Williams had to introduce steam power, at an annual expense of $15,000. He then brought suit to recover damages from Fulmer for the loss of water power, contending that his property was damaged to the extent of $15,000 and to remove the rubbish would cost $25,000. The defense was that by act of Assembly the Lehigh river is made a navigable stream and that there can be no property in the water of a navigable river. The court held that the plaintiff would recover damages for the loss of the water power above the low water mark. The jury went out at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and Thursday evening brought in a verdict of $5,800 damages.

James Mulligan, a brakeman on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was struck by a passenger train and killed last Monday at Wilkesbarre.

On Saturday Amos Kistler and Alvina Zimmerman were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. That their matrimonial bark thus auspiciously launched may steer clear of life's shoals and dangers and safely bring its burden into the Heavenly haven is our wish.

Daniel Kressley last week received twenty carp from the State Fishery at Harrisburg. The fish, which are from one to three inches in length, were shipped in a small tin can and arrived safely. These are the first fish received from the State Fishery by any one in the valley. There are a number of places in the valley suitable for building dams, and we hope some of our farmers will build some and then get a supply of these valuable fish. DASH.

A Noted Woman's Death.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beaman Collage, widow of Samuel B. Collage, who was at one time distinguished in Lehigh County as a lawyer and politician, died rather suddenly at her home, on Thursday night of last week. Mrs. Collage was the eldest of the nine children of Andrew Beaman, of Wilkesbarre, all of whom achieved distinction. During her residence in Washington with her father she met all the best men prominent in the territories, and her autograph album contains lists of names of John Quincy Adams, besides the autographs and good wishes of scores of other names well known in the political history of the country. After her return from Washington to Wilkesbarre Miss Beaman was one of the leading society women and finally married Samuel P. Collage. President Pierce appointed Mr. Collage Consul to Tangier. Thither she went with him to reside a year.

An Actress' Death.

Eight years ago a woman whose maiden name was Della Williams deserted her five children, in Pottsville, leaving them in the care of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Curry. Friday afternoon Mrs. Vincent, a member of the Goodwilliam's theatrical company, was coming over the Ave. Ferry of Music, at that place, from rehearsal as was arrested as the missing Della Williams. She was taken before a Justice of the Peace and confronted Mrs. Curry. The latter thought Mrs. Vincent's figure compared with that of her absent daughter-in-law, but she had no eye-glasses, and her countenance was so positively, she went home, probed her spectacles and was still in doubt. Mrs. Vincent vainly protested that she never had a child and in the thirty years she had been on the stage that was the first time she had seen in Pottsville. Finally Mrs. Curry closely examined the actress' eyes. The Justice ordered her discharge.

Not to Hang, But to Jail.

In June last Michael Rowley, a Hungarian, was convicted of murder in the first degree for shooting and killing Thomas J. Hogan, the Lehigh Valley station agent at Penn Haven, nine miles above Mauch Chunk. The shooting occurred in the station building and was apparently without motive. A new trial was granted by the Court and the second trial commenced on Monday, 18th inst., and ended Friday with a verdict of murder in the second degree. The strong point of defense was that prior to the shooting the prisoner frequently declared that he was the owner of Penn Haven Junction, telegraph, locomotives and all, and this was proven by eight or nine witnesses, leading to the belief that he was a monomaniac on that subject and that probably accounted for the sudden exasperation when Hogan ordered him out and the shooting which immediately followed. He was sentenced to eleven years and nine months in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Not Liable for Levy Payments.

The case of Hunter vs. Wanamaker, first decided by the Supreme Court, bears upon a subject of interest at this time—the liability of property-owners for the slippery condition of their pavements. The plaintiff was walking along Thirtieth street, Philadelphia, on the pavement fronting on Wanamaker's store, which was in a very slippery condition from snow and rain. She slipped and falling, struck the back of her neck near the base of the brain upon the edge of an iron cellar-door which covered an area belonging to the store, and which had been left open about one foot and propped up with a cap. The main question in the case was as to whether the slippery condition of the pavement or the condition of the iron cellar-door was the proximate cause of the accident. The lower Court thought that under these facts the defendant was not liable for plaintiff's injuries and entered a nonsuit. A writ of error having been taken to the Supreme Court, that tribunal, in the decision referred to, has just affirmed the judgment.

The Company Not Responsible.

The case of William Tice against the old Bangor Slate Company for $15,000 damages was tried before Judge Albright, at Allentown, and resulted in a nonsuit being entered. Tice was an employee of the company and engaged in blasting slate in the company's quarry near a substation named Labor. He claimed that Labor did not give him proper notice or warning to leave the holes that were charged for a blast and that in consequence he remained at the blast while Labor discharged the blast by an electric battery. His hand was torn off and he was otherwise injured. He asked $15,000 damages. The defense asked for a compulsory nonsuit on the ground that the company is not liable for the negligence of a fellow workman, which motion was granted.

ANSWERS FOR TAXPAYERS.

CIRCULAR ISSUED BY THE STATE BOARD OF REVENUE COMMISSIONERS. HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 20—The Board of Revenue Commissioners today issued the following circular:

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 25, 1886.—The Board of Revenue Commissioners, at a meeting held on January 21, 1886, considered the many questions submitted to them growing out of the enforcement of the Revenue act of June 20, 1885, and call your attention to the answers to the following questions, as their interpretation of the law.

Are bank deposits bearing interest but not subject to check on sight, and money in hand not invested, included in the item, "All other money capital" taxable?

Are deposits on real estate taxable? No. Are deposits bearing interest in national banks, savings banks and private banks taxable? Yes.

Are musical instruments, pictures, books, etc., to be regarded as household furniture? No. Are mortgages, judgments, bonds, notes, etc., not bearing interest, taxable? No. Are bonds issued by school districts taxable in the hands of the owners? Yes.

Are foreign corporations owning in this State taxable in the hands of the owners? No. Is the stock of the New York Central Railroad and other foreign corporations owned in this State taxable in the hands of the owners? Yes.

Can a taxable person deduct debts from the amount of his moneyed investments and only pay tax on the net sum shown? No. If a borrower money from B on a note and lend it to C on a note, are both notes taxable? Yes.

W. S. STEPHEN, Secy of Commonwealth, W. Lehigh State Treasurer, JAMES H. SMITH, Author General, Board of Revenue Commissioners.

A Joint Local Institute.

The teachers of Lehigh, Northampton and Carbon counties, held a joint local institute at Lehigh Gap, on Saturday last. A large number of teachers and friends of education were present and the institute was a complete success.

The evening previous to the institute Hon. J. J. Davis, of Harrisburg, delivered an address on "Alaska and its Resources," which, in its entirety, is published in the Carbon Advocate of Saturday. The address was a most interesting one and was followed by Hon. J. J. Davis, who gave them an interesting speech on the people of Alaska. It was followed by S. W. Hawk, of Cherryville, who explained his method of teaching grammar. I. F. Bachman, of Danielville, spoke on the method of teaching mental arithmetic.

In the afternoon Mr. J. P. Messenger favored the institute with an interesting talk on "Object lessons on bugs and insects." Mr. Davis explained his method of teaching reading in immediate classes. H. J. Reichard, of Parryville, opened a discussion on teaching primary geography. Prof. J. E. Stettler, Principal of the Slatington schools, conducted a class drill in Phonics. Analysis was something new and very interesting. He exhibited several charts and cuts showing the orthography of the alphabet which was very interesting to the teachers. His remarks were well appreciated. At the close of the institute Supts. Knauer and Warner delivered appropriate addresses in which they thanked the people of Lehigh Gap for courtesies shown to themselves and teachers. About 80 teachers were present from this county and a large number from Carbon. The institute was a grand success, and no doubt very beneficial to those who were present. We cannot forget to add that Thos. L. Weitzel, of Milport, conducted an interesting exercise in physiology illustrated by charts—Slatington News.

Death of a Prominent Slate Operator.

Daniel D. Jones, a leading citizen of the Lehigh Valley and a pioneer in the slate industry, died Wednesday morning, at his home, at Slatington, in the fifty-ninth year of his age. He built the first house in Slatington and gave the town its name. He was his first post-master and four years his burgess. For nine years he was a director of the Manufacturers' National Bank, of Philadelphia, and represented that city in the directorship of the North Penn Railroad and was a life member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society. He was an active Mason, being a member of Meridian Sun and Girard Mark Lodges and Columbia Chapter, of Philadelphia. He served two terms on the Republican State committee.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The centenary of Weber's birth is to be celebrated at Entia by a musical festival, at which the principal operatic works of the composer will be performed by the best available German artists.

In St. Petersburg there are men who take about hot tea in large metal pots covered with felt, and sell it to hack drivers and coachmen, who have to wait for long hours in the cold when there is a party.

General G. is thinking of getting up an International Exhibition in 1887, one of the chief features of which is to be a complete exhibit of the chemical and pharmaceutical industries. A committee has been appointed consisting mainly of German apothecaries established in Switzerland.

The grand spectacle of Paris is M. M. Ercmann-Chatrain's "La Guerre" at the Chatelet. It represents Massena's campaign in 1792 against Suwarow. The grand scene is the capture of Zurich, the ensemble of which is spoken of as being the finest military spectacle ever mounted on the stage in Paris.

At the Grosvenor Gallery Exhibition in London a few days ago, Mrs. Langtry wore a tight fitting black velvet coat, heavily trimmed with sable; it entirely covered her dress, and was very well shaped. Her hat was in the newest Parisian model; high with thick gold embroidery all over the crown, and pigron's feathers placed at the back standing upright; the narrow brim trimmed with brown fur.

An unusual spectacle was presented at a wedding in Birmingham, England, on the other day. The bridegroom was so drunk that he had to be taken to the altar and the officiating clergyman was so disgusted with the man's appearance that he refused to perform the ceremony, despite the entreaties of the bride's family.

Scrofula

is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, indigestion, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a dangerous condition of the whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am Entirely Cured and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 213 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years, but after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elihu A. Wadcock, 64 Appleton Street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores were healed, and my health is restored.—M. M. A. Willard, 213 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

There are shops in London where suits of clothes may be washed for an evening. In Paris an agency has been started for hiring out bedded goods for the special benefit of people whose relations live in provinces. The managers say: "We can place at the disposal of the bridegroom a choice society, well educated young men, charming talents, elegant dancers, several of whom are models endowed with all the necessary talents pertaining to the society."

Superintendent of Public Instruction Higginson, in his annual report, makes the number of public schools in the State 20,854; the number of teachers, 22,864, and the number of scholars, 932,503; the male teachers number 14,388, and the female teachers $,471; the average salaries of the former being $39.08, and of the latter $30.01. The total cost of tuition, building, fuel and contingencies is $10,800,405.00; the State appropriation is $1,600,000, and the estimated value of school property, $32,614,440. The Superintendent recommends that physiology and hygiene be taught in the schools.

The firm of Coxes Bros. & Co., have notified the residents and property owners residing on their leased land on the Beaver Meadow track, that on and after April 1st, 1886, no intoxicating beverages can be sold. No saloons, hotels where liquor is offered for sale or unlicensed places
