Of the Mercer School he says that it is badly overcrowded in every department, some of the buildings are improperly located and others more or less out of repair. The day rooms are rulnous, comfortless and imadequate; the cooking and laundry facilities are entirely insufficient: the Cothing of all kinds is deficient, worn out and much of it filthy; the food is pacrly cooked, monoton and insufficient; the employes are too few and are greatly overworked. Notwithstanding thee many delinquencies the health of the children is fair. Dr. Lee speaks much shore favorably of the McAllisterville School, although he finds a number of things justifying ad. verse criticism.
