Hay Fever sufferers. The number of people annually afflicted with this most annoying malady seems to be greatly on the increase. Saltine Butter. Freshly made butter contained to some extent salt added in this wet condition we get perfect saltine; for the moisture in the butter will saturate the salt and dissolve it, so that each little globule will be encased in this salt solution, and when the butter is worked over, the surplus moisture will be pressed out, leaving the dissolved salt evenly distributed throughout the mass. Any more salt than can be dissolved in butter, remains in the butter as salt crystals, and does not aid in preserving it. The film of dissolved salt about each globule scale, so to speak, from the air, and holds its color fast for the time. The addition of more salt than this is to enter to a taste for a salt flavor acquired by habit. As soon as one becomes accustomed to the salt solution, salted about half an ounce to the pound, he discovers that butter flavor, and the sharper salt flavor in butter are not in degree, but of kind, and so prefers the former. Butter, like lard, should be eaten when young. The practice of making butter and then keeping it for months for a "rise," is wrong. Butter never is as perfect as it is the first week; and, if possible, the production of butter should be kept pace with production, and do away with the summer over-supply that hedges down the market, brings low prices, and consigns thousands of tons of good butter—in its day—to the grease rendering factories.—AM. AGRICULTURIST for August.

The editor of the Cosmopolitan, Tex., Observer, Mr. G. P. Miller, had a severe attack of rheumatism in his left leg, which became so swollen and painful that he could not walk up the stairs. He writes that after an application of St. Jacobs Oil, the pain entirely disappeared, and the knee assumed its normal proportions.

Summer coughs and colds generally more today, but the use of Red Star Cough Cure invariably drives them away, safe, prompt, sure.

Cutting Timber in August. Experience has shown us that the best time to cut timber for posts, rails or stakes, is in August. The bark will then come off readily, and the wood becomes harder and endures longer than if cut at any other season. Hickory never makes a good post or stake, as it rots rapidly in the ground or on it, and if cut when the bark adheres, will soon rot or likely be cut to pieces, before it can rot away. But if cut in August, very few, if any, trees make more than 100 or 150 feet of the ground. The bark drops off as the wood becomes so hard that it "jingles" when struck, while the worms do not attack it. Hickory rails, made from trees cut in August and kept off the ground, will last for fifty years. White oak makes a durable mill or post, cut at any season, but its durability is increased at least fifty per cent by cutting in August. "Pin oak" is unfit for posts, or for rail-sets, or on the ground, when the tree has died, and is entirely unfit for post, and almost unfit for rails if cut when the sap is flowing; but rails made from a pin oak tree, cut in August, will last at least twenty years of the ground. What is true of pin oak is true of red elm. If cut in August it is as durable as hickory or white oak, as long as it is not set in or on the ground. White elm is fit for firewood only, no matter at what time it is cut, and this is true of wild cherry also. With few exceptions the gain by cutting in August is sufficient to compensate for cutting at that time. It is not necessary that the rails or posts be split out then. The trees may be felled only, and the further work be put off until cooler weather. But it is better to split the trunks into rails or posts for later use as soon as felled; the wood will then season rapidly, and the highest point of durability is attained.—AM. AGRICULTURIST for August.
