

LEHIGHTON, PA., SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1886.

Entered at the Lehighton post-office as Second Class Mail Matter.

REMEMBER THIS!

It is reported here that George Washington Esler, of Mauch Chunk, while at Glen Onoko last Wednesday made the remark, that "in case the Democracy of Lehighton failed to support Michael Cassidy for Congress, no Lehighton democrat should have an office for ten years, as the Irish would slaughter them every time."

THE DUTY OF EVERY VOTER.

It is the duty of every good citizen to see that he is properly registered before September 2d. New and important issues are constantly arising, the proper settlement of which devolve on the voter. Consequently he should see to it that his ballot is cast in such a way as will not conflict with his individual rights as a citizen.

AS REVISED BY MR. JENKS.

It is but little more than a week ago that Solicitor-General Jenks was asked by an unenlightened officeholder in Kentucky for the correct interpretation of President Cleveland's order intended to regulate the officeholder's connection with politics.

THE PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

The prohibition convention met at Harrisburg, Wednesday, and adjourned in the evening till Thursday, without having made any nomination for Governor. Commenting on the subject, the Philadelphia Times says: The spectacle of a political convention exercising an hour of its time to devotionally exercise something entirely novel.

Broadbrim's New York Letter.

Special to the Carbon Advocate. "Here's a pretty how-do-do." The drag net is coming in, and mighty big fish are in the habit of coming up the house, but his friends are engulfed in ruin with the Phillipsites.

Two Mayors, one going out and the other coming in, are playing a grand game for public plunder. Edson wants to circumvent Grace, and Grace wants to knock out Edson. Healers, strikers, gamblers, thieves and villains of every grade, are mixed up in the fight; neither of their Honors seems at all choice about his company—both want votes, and they are not particular how they get them.

From the improvements now going on another old landmark will soon disappear from Broadway, and the home-stand of the millionaire Golets will be a thing of the past. Long years ago when their comfortable home by the Battery became surrounded by the marts of trade, old Peter Golets and his brother fled in to the country, which now lies between Union and Madison Square.

It has been a tremendous week for our city by the sea, Coney Island. Gilmore, the Great, has been giving the million a feast of music, which he alone can give. No strikes or Carl Sand clubs reach him; his hand clings to him and he to them like father and children, and no wonder, for it is esteemed among musicians, a greater honor to be a member of Gilmore's band than to be the leader of an ordinary orchestra.

to return from his southern jaunt about the first of next month. The printing of the new ten dollar silver certificates began at the bureau of engraving and printing today. The design of this note, as has already been stated in these despatches, includes a well-executed portrait of the late President Hendricks. The work is being executed on the new distinctive paper, which was manufactured expressly for the new silver certificates.

The President, most of the Cabinet, and many of the lower grade of officers are away on the accustomed vacation. It is very convenient to take a leave of absence for four or six weeks, and have a good fat salary go with you to pay for railroad fare and settle up promptly hotel bills. Very few people would object to this if they were lucky enough to be the recipients of the Presidential bounty. The fellows that complain are generally those whose salary ceases when the work stops.

Maxwell Stevenson is a native of Londonderry, Ireland. He resided in Philadelphia since his boyhood. After a few sessions in the Jackson Grammar School, he was a farmer's boy in the "neck," and in 1863 started out as a carpenter, and was soon after a carrier on the Philadelphia and Camden road.

Washington News and Gossip. From our Special Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21, '86. The White House is very dull at present. The workmen are engaged on the interior of the House, but they make no noise, and cannot be seen from the front of the house. The executive clerks are taking a good rest, and they deserve it, as they were worked hard during the session. Some people, visitors in the city, no doubt, occasion the doorkeepers some trouble at times by demanding an explanation of their refusal to admit visitors to the building.

THE ANARCHISTS. The guilty Chicago anarchists are to be hanged. They entered into a conspiracy to kill, and they find that the law holds that this is murder if killing is the consequence of the conspiracy. There is something pathetic in the endurances of the discovery by these plotters against law and order that their crime is punishable on the gallows. They evidently did not know the terrible character of their offense. They met together and concocted schemes for the destruction of society, and these schemes involved the murder of men. Perhaps they even imagined their plottings would never come to anything, and it is likely enough that some among the leaders—some who were sentenced to be hanged—were unconscious of the danger that their incendiary words, meant to be mere words, might fall upon tinder mounds and a conflagration burst forth. Many anarchists are lazy money getters, who live and thrive by kindling passions the force of which they do not begin to appreciate.

J. SIMPSON AFRICA. J. Simpson Africa was born at Huntington, September 15, 1832, and is by profession a civil engineer and surveyor. In 1853 the Democrats elected him County Surveyor of Huntington, and in 1858 and 1859 he served as a clerk in the State Senate. In 1859 he was elected to the lower house of the State Legislature, and in 1860 to the general Assembly.
