burdensome laws are repealed, and the peace and quiet of the country is not ruffled and the pages of American history are not disgraced by the actions of a dissatisfied people. What glorious privileges these are. Have you ever placed side by side the system of American free government and the system of foreign monarchy? If you have not you should, and you will, see and feel proud of the difference which exists. The imported anarchist leaves a country burdened with tyrannical laws and comes here, bringing with him that dissatisfaction and contempt for the powers that rule which he held in his own conses here, bringing with him that dis-satisfaction and contempt for the powers that rule which he held in his own country. The result of this has been seen in Chicago.
