Prohibition Triumphant.

Yankee Doodle comes to town, On another mission: Sticks a feather in his crown And votes for Prohibition. Politicians took aginast At this little dandy, Think the youth is rather fast In stopping off their brandy. And they look at him with scorn For his manip action; As he bravely breasts the storm Of each slavial faction, And deposits without fear His determination That schoons must disappear Prom this christian nation.

When a gentleman acknowledges a question is "logically possible" to be answered, and then varies the same by trumpeting his own weak-ness and egotism, and is driven to the dire ne-essity of "begging the question," it is a lovely avidence that he has "jumped out of the frying manual the first." course. It is only occasionally that the people of Balubridge have an opportunity of hearing such a discourse, and it is to be
