

FRANK P. DIEHL,

thaving struggled 20 years between life and eath with ASTISMA or PATRIESTO, treated by gathest physicians and receiving no benefit, I was compelled during the last 5 years of my illuses to sit on my chair day and night gasping for breath. My sufferings were beyond description. In despair I experimented on myself by compounding roots and herbs and inhaling the medicine thus obtained. I fortunately discovered this WONDERFIL CURK FOR ASTISMA ANDULA TARRIH, WASTIMA IN FIVE MINUTES, SO that the patient can be down to rest and steep comfort ality. Please read the following condensed extracts from unsolicited testimonials, all of recent date:

Care of Young Turkeys.

irst stages, but is very hardy when majured Young turkeys cannot be fed like chicks, a hey are as dainty in the choise of the food as young wild birds, and a mistake a single day may destroy them all. In feeding them it must be kept in view that they make very rapid growth of feathers and food well adapted for the production of of feathers should always be fed. The should have meat every day, but at time they will refuse it. They seem to have a preference for food of a white color, and are very fond of milk and curds. Stale bread soaked in milk, and plenty of enrds, s the best for them at first. Some advise feeding hard-boiled eggs, but such food asuallyaules tr in various bowel diseases Onions, chopped very fine, with the top ocluded, are highly reliabed, but little roughs of wheat and chopped meat shoul e placed before them every days in order to induce them to begin on such food as soo is possible. Dampness is fatal to your turkeys. They should never be allowed to in the damp grass, or get wet. The ma cause of loss is lice, which come from th iens, and right here we will say that nearly all kinds of adult fowls have lice, even whe comingly free from the pests. Not only the red mites attack young turkeys, but the large grey body lice soon begin on them. As young turkeys die very suddenly when attacked by lice, it is best not to wait until they begin to droop before using precantions for then it will be too late in a majority of cases, but search them every morning.

Should a single louse be seen, grease the heads, necks and vents with fard (using the smallest possible quantity), and dust the bodies well well with Persian insect powder. Do the same with the hen,
