this week, unless it be that the miners in the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions are more determined than ever to hold out against the workings of a calloused-hearted combination of corporate monopolists who have resorted to the grinding method as a means contract made and agreed upon by both 85 per cent., and his rice 106. employer and employee last September, is Reading system would resort to the low. mean and contemptible method of misrepresentation has won for the miners much sympathy in this fight. While the ADVO-CATE is an enemy to the strike system, we would be inhuman did we not sympathize with the oppressed workingmen in the coal fields who have been misrepresented by dominant monopolistic powers. The AD-FOCATE set forth last week the condition of affairs and the method that should be pursued to gain a cettlement, and we have no reason to change our views at this day. We have always been a strong adherent to arbitrative methods as a means of settling all difficulties that disrupt labor and capital, and we believe that the sooner such method is fixed upon by the labor organizations for the settlement of all misunderstandings between employer and employee the more substantial will be the results. In this connection the Reading employees erred, they made their demands, unreasonable, they could only have expected refusal, for the right to employ or discharge by an employer' should not be infringed upon. For this there was no need of arbitration, the men should have resumed work, but in is no excuse for this, the dominant and crushing force of monopolistic greed is too evident. What the outcome of all this, will be is, as yet. impossible to be fully comprehended, true it is that it will result in a great victory for one of the two opposing forces. Which will it be?

This orchestra consists of nearly a hundred pieces and is regarded as one the finest in the world. They always complain that they find a more inappreciative audience in Washington than in any other city they visit, but it is to be hoped that this time they may meet with a hearty reception. On Monday and Wednesday evenings, Master Josef Hoffman, about whom the musical world is at present raving, is to give two concerts.
