Farm Notes. -How Horses Rest.-"Horses can get ome rest standing." said an old trainer. provided the position be reasonably easy. but no full rest except recumbent. It is known of some horses that they never lie lown in the stall though if kept in pasture hey take their, rest babitually in a recumsent position. It is well to consider whether the habit has not been forced up on the horse by some circumstance connect d with the stall he was made to occupy. n that it had a damp earth floor, or on made of dilapidated plank, uncomfortable to the horse that had been accustomed to select his own bed in the pasture.

"If the horse can have the privilege of selecting his own position for resting on his feet he can sleep standing; but while his muscles may be to a certain degree relaxed, and get rest in that position, what can be said of the bearings at the joints? Without relief through the recumbent position the joint surfaces are forced coninuously to bear a weight of from 1,000 to especially upon the complicated structures within the hoofs, which nature intended should have periods of rest each day."

-The Chicken Yard .- The fall broods

should now be distinguished from the bad, and all that have not the appearance of turning out well, should be weeded out. There is always danger to be feared from that bane to successful chicken rearing, overcrowding. By closely culling out the nferior birds, the good effect to the remaining ones in increased size and stamins, s often soon apparent. A common error is the allowing of too many cockerels to remain in the run. They are uneasy tormentors, besides depriving the promising pullets of their proper food and accomodaion. Kill or sell tnese off as quickly as ossible. Old hens also want looking over; it should be remembered that after two years of age, they will not pay as layers. When it is possible to give them the range of the stubble fields, do so by all means. And see that the fowls have plenty of food, and exercise. Make liberal pro-

-The udder of a cow is a very complicated affair. Outwardly it consists of a other and attached to the abdominal muscles for the support at the mass of the organ. The test is not a simple tube, as has been supposed, but consists of a large number of ducts, which run into four or five or more channels or tubes, each of which discharges separately into the orifice of the test.

-A horse should not be allowed to drink freely immediately after eating. Hon. John M. Russell, ex-Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, tells of seing some horses in France fed on coarse ans then watered all they would drink and immediately killed and dissected. He bserved that a considerable quantity of ceans has been washed out of the stomach and some of them were found in the intes

-If wheat, corn, cetton or tobacco t sows or planted for successive years the land will become exhausted and often deserted, and the region depoulated, as was the case in Virginia and many other States. Experience has shown that land annually demands a change of crops to yelld to the farmer full reward for his inlustry, and it is rotation of crops that must restore again the wasted lands of the older States.

-One of the principal causes of heaves in horses is the feeding of dusty or dirty hay. Ordinary clean hay can always be fed with safety if properly cut up, moister ed and mixed with ground grain, but to feed the musty or dirty sorts is very injuri-Clover, owing to its liability to crumoften gets dirty, eyen after storage, and should never be fed without being pre
