PIONEER AND DARING DEEDS.

CONSIDERED INTO ONE VOLUME.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Seasonable Reminders.
—All meat should be cooked before being fed to fowls. They need it every day, if eggs are expected.
—Water, green food and meat fowls must have to prosper during the winter.
—There is one part of the farm that is not benefited by the drainage; the manure heap.
—Poultryness gets in the cow-stable. A gentle man pays more milk than a harsh man.
—Straw and corn-fodder are best worked into manure by putting them through good animals.
—The best preventive of trouble at lambing time is daily exercise for the ewer during winter.
—Take the ewes with you when you go to breakfast, and put them near the stove while you eat.
—Separate the weaker animals; they need extra feed, whereas with the stronger they get scant feed.
—Profit in farming comes from the maximum crops, the products of winter thought and summer work.
—Harmless lark in the stable is damaged as much by the grasses and dampness there as it is by work by it.
—When green wood is used for fuel part of the heat is absorbed to convert the water in the fuel into vapor.
—If you do not wish cloudy and lifeless ground in the spring keep the cattle off the fields when the soil is soft.
—Drive your horses a little to one side when you stop with a load on the sled. This makes it easier to start the load.
—A fine horse better in a box than in a cold furnace; it is equally true that an animal well wintered is half summered.
—If you place the axle near the stove for fifteen minutes it will cut better and not so apt to break along the edge.
—The flavor of the fuel used for smoking meat is somewhat imparted to the meat; hence the fuel should be selected carefully.
—Straw alone is a poor feed, but mixed with cotton or linseed cake, wheat bran and oats and clover hay, it makes excellent food.
—A good fence cannot be made of rails that are of different lengths. Mark two feet on your axe-handle, and measure each rail cut.
—Sorting fruits and vegetables accomplishes two things; it protects the sound, and it rids the cellar of the sources of unwholesome exhalations.
—Boots and shoes oiled as often as the leather loses its gloss are more comfortable, afford better protection against water, and usually will last twice as long as those not oiled.

A Remedy for the Condemned.
Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, troubled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This building bloem blossoms into the fruition of certainity if the Bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspepsias, whether its ailment, flatulence, heart-burn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and lumbago of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their harmful progenitor, and benefit of stomachics which can disorder thing in no many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, settled by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, morbid fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

Farm and Garden Notes.
—Two thicknesses of newspaper make a good lining for apple barrels.
—Never breed a sow before she is a year old, as it retards her growth.
—Dry cattle tend to contract outside the house and cleanliness within.
—Fast walking horses are better fed farmers than speedy trotters.
—Never attempt to keep geese or ducks where water is not accessible.
—The refuse from poultry trimmed for market is excellent for celery.

All who aspire to gardening honors should at some time get in the way of raising many of their own seeds.
—Manure for flower beds and borders may be conveniently hauled to where it is likely to be wanted in Spring.
—Avoid root grafts in selecting apple trees. If only a single stock has been used for the root graft it is not so bad.
—One of the earliest seeds to sow in the spring is the onion seed. If the soil was not prepared in the fall it must be done early in the spring, and now you may well decide where to locate it.
—An authority of the green states that if we take all the hogs fattened in the United States in a year, and change the time of fattening from cold to warm weather, one-half the grain now fed will make all the pork. This would be a saving of at least $75,000,000 per year.
—More attention should be given to the growing of trees for lumber; on every farm, almost, there is some corner where the land is too rough or hard for profitable cultivation; such places should be encouraged to produce trees that will eventually be of value for timber; root out undesirable trees, and encourage the desirable ones, should be the practice of every farmer.
—Mixing milk is injurious to the yield of butter, says the Ploughman. "This is well known to milkmen and butter makers. If milk which has been set for some time and upon which the cream has partly risen, is stirred, the cream never again rises fully, and there is a considerable loss of butter from it. Why this should be so is not easily explained, but it is well known that milk dairymen stir the milk occasionally to prevent the cream from rising."

Greatly Excited.
Not a few of the citizens of Lehigh have recently become greatly excited over the astounding facts, that several of their physicians as incurable and beyond all hope, the only remedy that does positively cure all throat and lungs diseases, coughs, colds, asthma and bronchitis.

AS WE CLIP HUMOROSITIES.

—Doing admirable things is quite different from doing things for the sake of being admired. While it is true that admirable deeds do not always bring admiration to the door, it is also true that admiration for a doer does not always signify that he has done admirable deeds. The one thing certain is, that nothing is admirable that is done merely from a love of admiration.

—Blings are treated so summarily in Russia that even your is afraid to do his duty.

—When a physician loses his skill it naturally follows that he is out of practice.

For 30 years I have been troubled with catarrh—I have tried a number of remedies without relief. A druggist has recommended Ely's Cream Balm. I have used only one bottle and I can say I feel like a new man. My catarrh was chronic and very bad. I make this voluntary statement that others may know of the same.—J. Mathewson, (Lawyer), Pawtucket, R. I.

I was troubled with catarrh in my head for an amazing extent for three years. After using one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm I was entirely cured.—Wm J. Cline, Vinton, N.Y.

—A Boston exchange knows of an erudite clergyman who spoke of the unfortunate woman of Sodom as "Lot's lady who was transformed into a monument of the collection this morning." Mr. Goodman, was gratifyingly large "Minister"—"Yes, deacon, I noticed quite a number of strangers among the congregation."
—Husband (groaning)—"The rheumatism in my leg is coming on again." Wife (with sympathy)—"Oh, I am so sorry, John. I want to do something to-day, and that is a sure sign of rain."

—An awkward water frequently plays the deuce with the tray.
—A charity bowl—Please, mister, gimme a cent!
—Pipe lines—those written in favor of smoking.
—It is generally "all up" with a man when he begins to go down hill.
—Homes are like hars, of which one is finely carved and bright with gilt, but ill-tuned and jarring the air with its discords, while another is old and plain and worn, but from its chords float strains that are its feat.

—A citizen of Plymouth, Ind., fired six shots at a supposed burglar, and then his wife called out "See here, Sam, if you don't stop shooting at me you'll have the house full of neighbors."
—"I know a victim to tobacco," said a lecturer, who hasn't tasted food for over thirty years. "How do you know he hasn't?" asked an auditor. Because tobacco killed him in 1850," was the reply.

Catarrh cured, health and sweet breath secured, by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nassi Injector free. Sold by Dr. Horn, Lehigh, and Biery, Weissport.

—"Mother," said a little square-built urchin about five years old, "why can't the teacher make me monitor sometimes? I can lick every boy in my class but one."

—In all games of great calibre you find a great bore. In a man of small calibre you find a small bore. Bonheur—A man of small calibre may easily pass for a great gun.

—An inquisitive correspondent wants to know why the new summer bonnet is called "the Opera." We don't know, unless it is because it costs ten or fifteen dollars.

—An old German in Canada froze his nose. While thawing it out he remarked: "I no understand this thing. I haf carryt done forty years, and he never frozen his set before."
