Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching" had a great success during the one period, and the others that ran riot brough camp and fireside were "Mary Blane," "Old Cabin Home," "Fair, Fair, with Golden Hair" and "Dalsy Dean." Who has forgotten "Daisy Dean" and its wistful chorus:

None knew thee but to love thee,

Still I love thee, my darling Daisy Dean. A beautiful song, truly pathetic, obtained reat popularity in both North and South luring the war. This was Florence Perey's "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother." The South produced two war songs that evince genuine poetic talent, and have been ecorded unstinted praise by the critics. They are the "Conquered Banner" and "All Quiet Along the Potomac Tc-night," the first named by Father Ryan and the last by Lamar Fountaine. One of the most pathetic poems that appeared during the war was "Somebody's Darling." It ran like this:

Into the ward of the white-washed halls Where the dead and the dying lay. Wounded by bayonets, shells and balls, Somebody's darling was borne one day, somebody's darling so young and brave, Wearing yet on his sweet pale face The lingering light of his boyhood's grace.

Kissing the snow from that fair young brow, Pale are the lips of delicate mould-Somebody's dading is dying new. Back from his beautiful binevelned brow Brush his wandering waves of gold, Cross his hands on his bosom now.

Kiss him once for somebody's sake, Murmur a prayer soft and low, mebody's hand has rested there; Was it a mother's soft and white, Or have the lips of a sister fair

DYSPEPSIA.

S that misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a diabolical arrangement called a stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every flore and tissue must be mourished, and any trouble with it is soon felt throughout the whole system. Among a dozen dyspepties no two will have the same predominant symptoms. Lyspeptics of active mental power and a billous temperament are subject to Sick Headacher those, seshy and phiegmatic have Constipation, while the thin and nervous are abandoned to gloomy forebodings. Some dyspepticare wonderfully forgethmi; others have great irritability of temper.

Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain,

The underlying, cause is in the LIVER, and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will Start the Liver to working, soon disappear. CMy wife was a confirmed dyspeptic. Some three years ago by the advice of Dr. Steiner, of Augusta, she was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I teel grateful for the relief it has given her, and may all who read this and are afflicted in any way, whether chronic or otherwise, use Simmons Liver Regulator and I feet out the confident health will he restored to all who will be advised."—Was, M.
