WELL, THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL ticket has been nominated, and the candidates are Stephen Grover Cleveland and Allen G. Thurman; the former of New York, the latter of Ohlo. That they represent the cardinal principles of the Democratic party there can be no denying. They are strong, too, with the people, Cleveland, because he has made an honest, faithful and judicious chief magisirate: Thurman the "noble old Roman," is popular with the American populace because his political record is clean and above insinuation.
