SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1888.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO BELIEVE THAT THE authorities of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had any knowledge of the criminal dynamite plot against the Burlington Railroad which several of its members are accused by Pinkerton detectives of being engaged in. There is no more conservative labor organization in the United States than the Brotherhood. In no other organization are the officers more watchful of the conduct of the members or more fully determined to uphold law and order under fall feircumstances. The Brotherhood has always kept down radlealism in its own ranks, and has always opposed it in every other labor organization. It has refused to affliate, co-operate, or hold any relations with any other body that seemed to have any radical tendency, and has, for this reason, stood aloof from both the Knights of Labor and the Federation of Labor. It has often been berated on this account, but it has pursued an unflinching course in this respect. If the half dozen of its members changed with being concerned in the dynamite conspiracy are really guilty, it may be taken for granted that the Brotherhood, as a body, is in no way cognizant of, or responsib for, their criminal conduct, and will rejoice in seeing them brought to punish ment. The representatives of the Brother hood have made haste to express their abhorrence of the alleged conspiracy, and to declare that the Brotherhood will not defend its accused members in their trial, but will leave their case to take its course in the courts. The friends of the accused loudly assert that the Pinkerton detectives "put up a job" on them in order to damage been boycotting the Burlington Railroad ever since the failure of the strike three month ago; but, in doing so, they claim that they have been careful to keep within Special to the CARBON ADVOCATE. the lines of legality, to refrain from any breach of law, and, much more, to prohibi even the alightest net of violence unde any circumstances whatever.
