One of the two will be elected president of these United States on the 6th of November, and thereafter the country will continue on as it has in the past. It is a mistaken idea of many partisans to suppose that the chief magistrate makes the times, fixes the law of supply and demand or regulates wages in the various branches of American industry. He can make himself a potent factor in good legislation, but when it comes to corruption and abuse of power, Congress and the Senate takes the reins of power from his hands and controls governmental legislation. Don't suppose for a moment that these the taxes would not be reduced this year, and our belief in our own prediction is stronger than eyer at this time. The measure was presented at the wrong period -the passions and excitement of a presidential year controlled and held Congressmen and Senators closer to party lines than would be the case at almost any other time. This alone prevented a clear, impartial and intelligent discussion as to the best means of tax reduction. No one will deny that a reduction of the present high taxes is not necessary, but that don't settle it.
