OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Are We To Have Another War?

Some persons are disposed to believe that we shall have another war, as it is the wish which by medical science against disease will never cease until we arrive at that singular epoch when the human family shall cease to be afflicted with bodily ailments. One of the most potent weapons which the advocates of physical fitness is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is of special utility as a family remedy, as it is adapted to the immediate relief and ultimate cure of those disorders of the stomach and liver, bowel, which are of frequent occurrence. In digestion, biliousness and constipation are inseparable companions, and these ailments are completely eradicated by the Bitters. But the remedial scope of this enterative—whole-some and genial—remedy takes in also neuralgia, rheumatism and kindred troubles; its action, as in these, as in the other complaints, being characterized by unequalled thoroughness.

Humanity to Horses.

Without a checkrein horses are constantly nibbling at tall weeds or anything they can reach before the plough, or standing they will put their heads to the ground, getting the blues under their feet or back over the traces. The check should however, be loose enough so as not to interfere with pulling or free action, and so tight that they cannot drop their heads low enough to eat anything. I have seen horses before the plough with heads drawn up tight to make them even. This is down-right cruelty; besides the flies have pretty much their own way with them, there ought to be societies in the country, as well as in the cities, to prevent cruelty to animals. I have not a word to say in favor of the overseer, this is shameful and cruel.

Old horses may still very cheaply, or else sell to poor or heartless men to get rid of them. The remnant of their lives thus driven and whipped out. This is a crying shame. An old or damaged horse if the owner is too poor or stingy to keep him in idleness, should have a vein in the neck opened, when he will part with life and sufferings together without pain. As the cold weather has come bits should now be covered with new, strong muslin and sewed on tightly. If you trust to breathing on them or dipping in hot water it will often neglect them attended to. Some object to covering the bit for fear of carrying disease, but as horses should wear their own bridles there is small danger here.

A New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never had it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, lung or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trifles bottles free at T. D. Thomas' Drug Store.

How to Have Healthy Swine.

Carefully abstain from giving any medicine whatever. Keep large and small separate, and not more than ten in a lot. Feed regularly and liberally a variety of wholesome food, and let each feed be eaten up clean before more is given. Give wallowing places, ashes, charcoal and salt, and plenty of exercise in timber and pastures, shading shade, roots and nuts, acorns etc., but no doubts sound shores. Provide ventilated shutters from wind, rain and snow, but no litter. Hogs with litter get too warm. If you wish disease, put your hogs to the straw pile. Maintain cleanliness in all things. Breed only native animals, and never from a show herd. The offspring of humature or pampered animals is predisposed to disease. Give pure water from deep wells protected from surface water. Well water is not freezing cold in winter nor lukewarm in summer. Water from creeks (unless fed by springs), ponds or pools is disease breeding. Pigs should be forwarded in early spring and kept on only growing foods—milk, bran, slop, oats, green ry, grasses, clover, sweet corn—until late fall; then fatten rapidly on corn meal, but also green rye, orange pumpkins, boiled potatoes and turnips, with bran, steamed clover, hay, etc.

Farm and Garden Notes.

—Feed in small quantities. —Keep stock of all kinds off the meat joints. —Overfeeding is injurious to all breeds of poultry. —Bolts in your granary are holes in your oysters. —Do your chores regularly (especially no milking) and do them well.

—Strive to arrange farm work, so that every season will have its eminence and income.

—Do not waste wood ashes. They are valuable enough to pay for saving and applying to the soil.

—Rats and mice often eat up the farmer's profits. If you have any on your farm get rid of them at once.

—It is claimed every year sees an increase in the number of farmers who pick corn for seed as soon as it is glazed.

—Farmers say that honey is their only product that is free from vermin. It is due credit be given the bees for this. They certainly take great pains to "comb" it.

—Feeding red pepper to laying hens is not very beneficial unless given very moderately, and not oftener than three times a week. It acts as a temporary stimulant, but if given continually causes injurious effects.

—Aged horses should have ground grain at all times or they will not thrive, owing to their inability to masticate the whole grain. Where a horse is subject to hives it is best to moisten all the chopped or ground food.

—There is no necessity for pampering a bull and allowing it to become vicious. It can be made work, if desired, in providing power for fodder-cutters, grain mills, etc. It is done in Europe, and is practicable here.

—A Western dairymen has hit upon a very simple plan for warming water in winter. He puts an iron plate, say eighteen inches square, on the bottom of his water tank, cutting away the wood, of course, where the iron was. Under this plate he uses an oil stove. He says ten cents worth of oil a day would warm the water for sixty gows up to 70° or more.

—Harry Miller, near Ellenville, N. Y., while out bird shooting saw a big bear, but being loaded for bear he gave it a wide birth for the time being. The next day he set a trap, and the day following visited it armed with a Winchester rifle. The trap was undisturbed, but as he was going away he heard a noise in the bushes and saw the bear running off Harry first, and the bear followed. It got up at once, however, and started toward him. A second bear fired at it, but the bullet did not hit the animal. The animal weighed 420 pounds. The two bears which had been fired into opposite ends of the animal were found within eight inches of each other.

—The Sweetest of Sweet Girls who will wait for you is worth her weight in gold.

One never grumbles if he finds himself among the viands while eating a game supper.

The hungry, shipwrecked sailor clinging to the raft in mid-ocean, always longs for chop seas.

The embezzler who stained his hair to escape detection evidently "dyed for liberty."

The left bower—the man who isn't recognized by the lady to whom he lifts his hat.

One difference between a dog and boy is that when a dog finds a scent he doesn't spend it for candy.

—The oyster could speak it would probably refer to the toad just now as its "steamed contemporary."

The prohibitionists point with pride to the running Brooks as in evidence of the virtue to be found in the cold water.

The flying machine cannot successfully wrestle with currents; the same may be said of the small boy, if the currents are green.

A crusty old bachelor says he thinks it is woman, and not her wrongs, that ought to be rectified.

Many women would deny themselves numerous pleasures for the ballot, and a great many men would sacrifice a great deal for the ballot.

—Since May, 1858, the killing of dogs on Cop Cop has been forbidden by law, under a heavy penalty, and the result is that the 60,000 acres of woodland between Sandwich, Falmouth, and Plymouth are thronged with deer, now quite tame. When the law was not in force about 200 years ago this region has been a favorite hunting-ground. Among the relics in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth, is an old rifle, once owned by a famous hunter of Plymouth, and on the stock are 200 notches, each notch representing a deer slain by the Puritan Nimrod.

—Dr. Shiloh's Liver Complaint.

It is not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints, if you think so, call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it that you will be cured, or your money returned.

—The police are sore, Chest or Back pain, etc.

—The "Mad and hasty bumble" has more than one turning point in his career.

—What a cough.

Will you heed the warning, the signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, consumption? Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of any 60 days to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know of no better treatment for this disease than our Ayer's Cough Remedy. It will cure you completely, and we have no hesitation in recommending this medicine.—Robert Hartman, Physician and Head of the Hospital for Consumption, New York.
