IDEAS FOR DRESS. Braid or embroidery or both trims most fashionable gowns.

Both wide and narrow braids are used in trimming dresses, wraps and bonnets. The stylish mode of making a silk gown is to have it of two slundes of the same color. The long pelisse, the Comemara clark and the bonne femme mantle are the leading long wraps. The barred and plaided mobairs in fight and bright colors are in high favor for little girls' frocks. The latest fancy in neck lingeric is the deep falling pliese and the narrow upright ruche of sulphur yellow gauze.

The new mobairs come in all shades of color in "shot" effects and in bars, plaids and checks of great beauty and effectiveness, Jackets are never out of fashion. This season they have deep revers and sleeves full above the cloow, but they are not worn with dressy toilets. Pretty spencers, blouses and Garibaldis in surah silk, veiling, China silk and taffeta are sold in all the shops, to be worn with any kind of a skirt.

The long, straight scarf mantle, worn around the shoulders and falling to the hem of the dress in front, is revived among other wraps in London.

The cheapest pretty and durable silk gowns are made of American woven foulards, which come in plain self colors, in printed figures and in bars and plaids. The variety in braids is seemingly endless. There are wide Moorish braids, from four to eight inches wide, Floren-
