He had saved a little mency in his voyages, and he bought a neat little cettage where he settled down with his good wife and his two boys.

Mrs. Babcock wanted to give her sons a good education, so she and Uncle Silas pinched themselves for years till they got both the boys started in life—one became a merchant and the other a Methodist minister. Then Uncle Silas's wife died, and the old man was left alone in the cettage. Shadrach, the cideat sos, who had been set up in business with his father's money, turned a cold shoulder on the old man. Then the two sons got quarreling as to whose duty it was to help suppert their father, and it was notleed that Uncle Silas Babcock was not in his pew one Sunday. Uncle Silas had been a member of the Methodist church going on lifty years, and ever since he retired from the sea he had been in his pew every Sunday, rain or shine, so some of the people thought he life in the Coorts to keep the ghost way.

That is, those who are by it, speak to friends suffering similarly, who in turn derive benefit and urge others to try this successful medicine. Thus the circle of its popularity is rapidly widening from this cause alone and more and more are becoming enthusiastic in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla as it actually demonstrates its absolute merit. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial. If you need a good blood purifier, or building up medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE JOLLY OLD MARINER.

A jolly old mariner sailing the sea,
Was rearing a solo and thus thundered he.
"Our ship is as bold as an eagle on wing.
And she carrier a cargo that's fit for a king.
A cargo that's welcome to peasant or pope.
Our ship she is laden with IVORY SOAP.

"I've plowed all the oceans to every part,
To visit all nations and climes is my sport;
We carry our goods to the ends of the world,
Our trade is announced on our banner unfurled;
See! blaroned on pennant from top-mast and rope;
We bring to all people the Ivory Soap."

"From Procter & Gamble, my lads, do you mind? We carry a blessing to gladden mankind; For dirt is a foe to the body and soul, And sohp must precede e'en the gospel's control. Then hurrah! hip hurrah! for philanthropy's hope, Hurrah for the advent of Ivory Soap.

"Its bars, like the truth, or a life-saving boat, Ever rise to the top and triumphantly float; As the foam on the wind-fretted billiow its light, As the elephant's took it is glossy and white; The poets all praise it in measure and trope, The ocean is thundering—IVORY SOAP."

A WORD OF WARNING. There are many white soaps, each represented to be " just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright 1886, by Procter & Gamb
