The wife of Samuel Greensweig, residing near Stemlersyille, is yery low and not likely recover. Her blood is drying up. When taken sick she was a woman weighing perhaps 180 to 190 pounds; she is now a mere skeleton in comparison. The afflicted woman suffers in silence, with a patience that betokens christian fortisude and trust in the All-wise-Ruler.

The wife of Samuel Greensweig, residing the convention adjourned and re-convened at about four o clock. Upon the report of the committee on credentials being read, which refused Summit Hill delegates a voice in the convention on the grounds of illegality of election the representatives of that town arose, protested against such action and left the room; they were well by eighteen delegates from other districts in the county, including, Lehighton. Wieisport, Franklin, Towamensing, and Upper Mauch Chunk. The work of the interuption occasioned by the exodus of the Mumtord ruen apparently not being noticed. The committee on resolutions persented their report and it was accepted without changes. The resolutions re-affirms their faith in the National party and committee on resolutions of candidates to the several offices which were made unanimously and without opposition: Upon the several committees retiring the
