A Rad Case Made Good by a Profound

"Private John Allen," of Musimippi who became the will of the house o representatives with the death of Sunset Cox, tells a good story on himself of how he came to be a profound lawyer. A party of members were telling yarns in the cloak room of the house, and when

Allen's turn came he told this one: "I want to tell you of the greatest legal victory of my life," said Allen, as l It was down in Tupelo during the trying period just after the war. I was at that time a practicing lawyer—that is, I praciced whenever I had any cases to practice with. One day old 'Uncle' Pompey one of the old negroes of the settlemen ame into my office and said:

'Mars John, I wants you to c'lar me I'ae gwine to be 'rested for stealin' of two hams out'en de cross road store." "Well, Pompey, I naked, 'did you steal the hams? 'Mara John, I just took 'em.

Well, I consented to try," said Allen. The case was to be heard before an old ing low prices. magistrate named Johnson. He was totally uneducated, and was moreover a perfect dictator, and no negro ever cam before him who was not fined the max. mum penalty and sent to his field to ex plate the crime in the sweat of his brow The magistrate heard the case. Every possible proof was brought to show that Pompey stole the hams. There could be no doubt of it from the testimony. I did not put a single question to any of the witnesses, but when the testimony was all in I arose, and in my most dignified manner addressed the magistrate:

"May it please your honor, it would be seless for me to argue before one wh would adorn the superior if not the su preme court bench of this grand old ommonwealth. And I may say that those who know you best say that you would grace even the supreme court of the United States, the highest tribunal in the land. It will be useless to dwell upon the testimony. "With great dignity and solemnity I then took my seat. The old magistrate was completely nonplused. He looked at me a moment quizzically and scratched his head. Then, turning to Pompey, he raised himself to his full height and said:

"'Pompey I know you stole them hams but by the ingenuity of your lawyer I've got to let you go. Git out, and he, as he planted his No. 9 in the seat of Pompey's pants, 'and if you ever come here again, lawyer or no lawyer, you will git six months."—Atlanta Constitution.

from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physiciaus treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions. I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life." A Pointer on Waitsing.
