Courage of a Grouse. On one occasion, in company with my brother, I had gone to the woods and was there to wait for a farmer, at whose house we had stopped over night, and who was to come on later with fox hounds, for we were to try for reynard that day. We had got out of the road, which ran through the forest, and over a rail fence, and were standing under a large hemlock, when we heard a ruffled grouse in the distance. He came directly toward us, and alighted on the ground about forty feet away. There was small gully or water course between u and the bird. Before he struck th ground he had taken about two-third of a circle to break his lightning like

As soon as he lit he straightened up nd took a survey. He soon saw us but instead of again flying he swelled up in a most pompous manner. Never had I seen a grouse appear larger or more magnificent. My brother looked at me and I suggested that he snap a cap at him. Neither of our muzzle loaders was charged. At the sound of the first cap the grouse slightly shook himself, but seemed to swell his breast out more. My brother continued taking caps from his pocket and snapping them at the grouse, bringing his gun up each time and taking deliberate aim until nine were exploded. The grouse seemed to like the sound and to be fascinated by it and the scene generally. When Patti First Heard Tamagno.

The story of Tamagno's engagement is an interesting one. He was singing at Rio Janeiro at the time Mr. Abbey took SCROFULA Wasting of Flesh Patti there. She was commanding $29 a seat every night, and the great teno was packing an opposition house at $12 s seat. Patti heard him sing at a matince and immediately insisted that Mr. Abbey should engage him for the short season with her. Tuningno did not take kindly to the proposition, but an offer of $2 000 a performance caught him. Mr. Abbey guaranteed him $100,000 for fifty appearances, but the great manager could not work in more than fore-four appearances; but Tamagno took back $100,000 in American money, the same as though he had sung lifty times. - Chi-
