Forced to Leave Home. Over 60 people were forced to leave their homes yesterday to call for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. If your blood is had, your liver and kidneys out of order, if you are constipated and have head ache and an unnightly complexion, don't fail to call on any druggist to-day for a free sample of this grand remedy. The ladies praise it. Everyone likes it. Large sized package 50 cents.

Love is blind and that is probably the reason why so many young couples, when courting, make a pair of speciacles of themselves.

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. TWO SMART LITTLE YOUNGSTERS. They Fight, Sell Their Papers and Divide has illeavered that all diseases are consen by

What the small boy who haunts City Hall park doss not know about the fus and outs of human nature is hardly worth knowing at all. He understands among a great many other valuable things that the elderly and well to do citizen generally likes to see a fight, and afterward, regretting his yielding to brutal longing for scenes of gore, is ready to make amends in some way or other, This fact received a practical demonstra tion a day or two ago.

Two newsboys, dirty, ragged and shrewd, as is usually the case with the urchins in the park, stationed themselves where homeward bound Brooklynites would be sure to see them. These boys were not of a size. One was fairly plump, the other was a weazened bit of humanity, but he understood his business thoroughly. They played their farce neatly and very much in this fashion: The larger boy bears down upon the other, cuffs him, uses disgraceful language and tears his papers. The attacked youth drops the papers and returns the compliments verbal and pugi-listic. There is a clinch and the small histic. There is a clinch and the small boy goes down. By this time several Brooklynites have halted and a little crowd has collected. Then the battle is renewed. The youngsters seem to strike out victously, but few of their blows tell. Again the smaller boy goes down. He comes up pluckily again and once more he is worsted. He squeezes a tear or two from his eyes, picks up his torn papers and begins to wail.

His stock in trade is ruined, and he must go supperless to bod. Two or three bystanders put their hands in their pockets. They have been entertained in rather a disreputable way, and remorse suggests atonement in the way of helping the youngster out of his troubles.

In no time his stock is significant or the stock is significant to the stock in the stock in the stock is significant. In no time his stock is disposed of, and he isn't asked to make change. A park policeman, attracted by the sight of the growd, is approaching, and the little fellow, pocketing his gains, slides away. All the latest local news His antagonist has already disappeared, best style. Sample us There are two scenes in the last act. One is on the steps of the bridge. Two or three men are taking a look at the newspapers they have just bought from the urchin. The inspection is not all that might be wished in its results. The papers are two or three days old. The other scene is in a cheap restaurant not far from the park. Two boys who have but just now been engaged in seeming ly desperate combat are seated sociably at the same table. "We'll go some pie, too, Jimmy," remarks the smaller,

Times. Too Much Money for a Picture. Meissonier's picture of Napoleon in 1814, only 80 inches by 20, has just been sold for £84,000, the highest price ever given for the work of a living artist. The art world naturally exults over this solid proof of appreciation; but we won-der whether it really benefits by these prices even in a pecuniary sense. We suspect not. It is found in the literary world that an overpowering demand for a single book arrests the sale of books in general, the reservoir of cash for buying books being in any one year a fixed quantity. If that economic rule extends to art, M. Meissonier's phenomenal trimph just prevents thirty-four artists from receiving £1,000 apiece. That may be good or bad for art—we are not deciding-but it limits sadly the number of art producers, among whom might be found, if we may in the teeth of the market suggest so audacious a possibility, even M. Meissonier's superior. That the huge price will help M. Meissonier to paint still better is an assumption refuted by all art history. - Spectator.

German Government in Africa. German territory in East Africa ta ced aiready under a most careful syson of administration. Zanzibar is the seadquarters for the imperial commis sioner, Maj. Wissman, and the main staff, while each coast station is under charge of a commanding officer, respon-sible for both the political and military nangement. These officials send an elab crate report monthly to headquarters, while, at the same interval, the commis sioner visits each station for a personal spection. Four steamers, with whale boats, gigs and smaller vessels, keep up a regular service for passengers and alls between the various stations and Zangibar. The military forces comprise 207 officers, 1,200 Soudanese troops and 500 Zulu and Arkari soldiers, besides a body of Somalis for police duty, and are divided into two corps, for duty respect vely in the north and south, each in charge of a sub-commander. Hospitals are established at Pangani and Bagamoyo .- Exchange.

A Good Rayer Strop. Few persons know how excellent a razor strop is the human hand or arm. If a easor is in fairly good condition and not n need of the oil stone it may soon be whetted to a fine edge on the palm of the hand or the inner side of the forearm. The latter is best if it is free of hair, as it frequently is, for it presents a whotting surface quite as long as the ordinary razor strop. The fat portion of the palm, between the little finger and the wrist, however, makes an excellent strop. The process of strop ping a razor on the forearm appears ? bit alarming to the looker on though there is little danger that a skillful man will do himself harm.—New York Sun. I write against the evil of wearing soft hats. I have made this a careful study and have found that the soft hat will eventually produce baldness. The band of the soft hat being so soft and flexible that it very readily falls into every line and curve of the head, it thus excludes every particle of air, thereby producing an intense heat and rotting the roots of the hair. I find that the healthiest hat for a man to wear is the silk hat, both summer and winter, not only on account of the stiffness of the band, which pre vents it from falling so close into a man's side of it allows a free circulation of air. nearly so many baid headed people as there are in this country, even in proportion to the population, but there are In England, for instance, there are not The young men begin to wear them sinle manner.
