THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Provident Harrison's second annual message, says the Philadelphia Times, is an elaborate matter of fact paper, excepting the few paragraphs apostopting for the McKindey tariff have and demanding its continuance; his demand by subsidized steamships and his special pleading for the Force Election bill. Outside of these three features, which occupy only a few pages of the formitable document, the message is a dry minimary of department reports; and as the material features of these reports have been already given to the public, there is little of the message that could interest the general reader.

The one had dealy respectable by learning mothing and forgetting nothing. The people have declared against the increase of already exacting taxes on the necessaries of life in time of peace; against the oppression of the masses for the benefit of limited classes; against the profile since the war, and against the Force Election bill that no business man, North or South, Republican or Democrat, is willing to approve. In the face of a popular revolution on threly unexampled in unsplitude, the President demands the continuance of thate which the people have revolted sgainst; demands additional profilegacy by steamship subsidies to succulators at Bonne and abroad when free phips would at once establish our commerce without a dollar of loss or outlay, and demands that the special reason, as he states it, of enabling irre

Mr. Wanamaker can present the clearest, most practical and business-like report of the Post Office Department under his direction; but he seems not to know that when a political revolution means over 400 000 Republican release. tion aweeps over 400,000 Republican majority in the Northern States into over 200,000 Democratic or anti-administration majority-a revolution unprecedented in our political history-rulers should hearken and obey; or, if he does know it, he tells it to unwilling Presidential cars. The administration has learned nothing, for gotten nothing; and the message is simply an exhibition of the feedleness to which a Presi-dent can gravitate in political adversity.

Guzssino schemes are likely to becoma thing of the past now that the new antilottery law has taken effect. A circular from the post office authorities shows that a merchant cannot advertise them through the mails or in newspapers which go thoongh the mails. An extract from the circular reads thus: "The term 'lottery' as used in this act embraces all kinds of schemes, general and local, for the-distribution of prizes by lettery or chance such as gift exhibitions, enterprises, con certs, raffles, or the drawing of prizes in money or property at fairs. Hence, letters, postal cards and circulars concerning them, and newspapers, pamphlets and other publications containing advertise-ments are unmailable." The daily news-
