

ORIGINAL CHEAP CASH STORE

A New Line of Lace Curtains

has just been opened. The patterns are entirely new and in 3 and 3 1/2 yards in length. The prices range from $1 to $4.80 a pair.

Plain, Striped and Plaid Scrims.
Figured and Colored Scrims.
Persian Drapery Mat Patterns.
Plain Colored Double Plush.
Combination Double Plush.
8-4 Felt in Garnet, Blue, Bronze.
Plain Oil Shading in all colors.
Complete Shades with Fixtures.
In Light Green, Bronze & Tan.
A handsome line of Shade Pulls, Bars and Rings in Gold and Steel.
Shade Fixtures, a complete line from cord to the best spring fixtures.
Curtain Poles with Brass Mountings.
Neat and New Designs in Upholstery Fringes.

J. T. MUSBAUM,
First Street, between South and Main Streets, Lehigh, Pa.

The Carbon Advocate

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1901.

PEOPLE ON THE GO.

Flash Pictures of Familiar Faces Coming and Going.
—Will Glavin, of Philadelphia, was in town yesterday.
—Ed Raudenbush, of Perth Amboy, N. J., Sunday at home.
—Miss Minnie Yale, of Stratford, spent Sunday with Miss Ida Wert on First street.
—Miss Maria Hughes, of Coalbrook, is visiting relatives and friends at Mauch Chunk.
—The jovial hearted Mike Clark, of Allentown, smiled on old acquaintances here last Sunday.
—Mrs. Michael Clark, of Nesquehoning, spent Sunday with P. P. Miss Annie on First street.
—Mrs. A. Lukens Hagaman, of south First street, spent Sunday pleasantly with various friends.
—Charles Raudenbush, of the Lehighton Plain Speaker, was closing days with the boys over Sunday.
—A. R. Koons, one of Copley's bright young men, called among old acquaintances here early this week.
—Jacob Bronz and wife, of Mountain Top, were guests of Samuel Seiler, on north First street this week.
—"Billy" McCormick left on Tuesday evening for the Battle City, Montana, where he has secured lucrative employment.
—Our old friend T. C. Beck, accompanied by his wife, of Bethlehem, in town over Sunday—guests of numerous friends.
—The familiar figure of old friend John Marquart, of Scranton, was seen on First street this week. John looks well and is doing nicely.
—Miss Ella Angle, of Dingmans Ferry, Pike county, who has been visiting Mrs. W. H. Nusbaum for several weeks has returned home.
—Miss Minnie Manser, an estimable young lady, of Wilkesbarre, spent a day this week very pleasantly with Lehighton and Weissport friends.
—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Angle, of Matamoras, Pike county, Pa., returned home after a delightful two week visit to W. H. Nusbaum and wife, on north street.
—Miss Nora Clark will return to her home in Nesquehoning in a few months term as teacher of the boy's secondary school in this town.

BASE BALL GOSSIP.

"Jonnings" plays first base for Louisville.
"Rothwell" will likely play ball with Lehighton.
"Tamaqua" strong club will play ball with Lehighton.
You don't hear very much about Weatherly's club. What's about it?
The Law and Order Society of Freedom has succeeded in stopping Sunday ball playing in that town. Correct.
The people of town who admire the money sport about Lehighton, will be home club by attending all the games played.
"Jeansville" and Drifton hustled for honors Saturday morning and the latter won 5 to 2. In the afternoon the former club won 8 to 5.
Persons trespassing on the B. B. Park without permission from the committee are liable to prosecution. Some people want to remember that!
"Jeansville" plays with the home team on Saturday afternoon. The visitors come strongly re-enforced and fully paid 10 cents admission.
Followers who are to mean to pay 15 cents to see a game of ball continue to jump the fence or stand on a box out side and look on. A town which has the honor of a baseball game is to be envied.
Two for Lehighton—The game of ball last Saturday morning between the home club and Highland, of Philadelphia, was won by the home team with the following score 3 to 3. Rothwell and Simmons filled the points for Lehighton in an able and very effective manner—Rothwell showing great effect in speed, watchfulness and intricate delivery. In the afternoon the same clubs hustled—the game ending in a tie. The game was not exciting with Lehighton at the bat. Two men out and two on bases, when Wilson run from third home. He was declared safe by umpire Claus and the visitors objected and ended the game 7 to 7 in favor of Lehighton. Laikens and Simmons filled the points in the afternoon in the Lehighton. The Highland club put up a very strong front and played great ball, but were no match for the home club. The visitors were a gentlemanly set of fellows and made many friends while here.

FOR YOUR MERCANTILE TAX.

Store keepers and others subject to the payment of a mercantile tax should be reminded at once. The time for the payment of those taxes expires May 30, and those who failed to pay in that period are now conducting their business without license. They should pay up at once. Pay up!

FRONT'S JEWELRY STORE.

Wilson Frantz has opened his jewelry store on Bankway and is ready for business. All kinds of repairing done neatly, cheaply and promptly. A large variety of jewelry is always on hand to select from. Give us a call.

LOCAL CRIB.

From the Register of Every-Day Events
The Christening of a Live Reporter.
—Taxes won't be higher.
—Vote for the gas and water tax.
—J. D. Curtis, Jeweler, Weissport.
—For the best makes of Bicycles go to E. G. Zern, Lehighton.
—Full line of Ingrain and Brussels carpets at Henry Schwartz's.
—The gas and water tax legalize expenditures made by Council.
—Miss Lily Musselman, of Weissport, has accepted a position in Hagerman's store.
—New designs in wall paper, borders and decorations at Luckenbach's Mauch Chunk.
—The subscriptions for a fountain in the Park is swelling. In your name down on the list.
—The annual statement of the Lehighton school district is printed in to-day's issue. Read it!
—Well, what next? Now the Salvation Army has rented the Opera House. They are expected here almost any day.
—Ben. Catton, who is a liberal advertiser in this paper, sold fifty gallons of cream by the pail to visitors to his parlors on Decoration Day.
—For good clock and watch repairing go to Wilson Frantz, the new jeweler on Bankway. All work done neatly, cheaply and promptly.
—The people who want the best and most things in wall paper, borders, decorations, etc., continue to buy at Luckenbach's, Mauch Chunk.
—Misses Lella Zehner and Annie Brokaw, will open a select school for children in the public school building. Already they have sixty scholars.
—The jeweler, Weissport.
—Handsome new things in new wall paper, borders and decorations, are to be had at the very lowest prices at Overholt's, Lehighton.
—Before having your life insured it will pay you to examine the 10 year plan of the Life & Reserve Association of Buffalo N. Y. M. O. Bryan, district agent.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

A COLUMN OF JUMBLES.

Original and Clipped. Little Matters of Interest that are Worth the Reading.
—Summit Hill wants fire plugs.
—Weatherly talks about celebrating the glorious Fourth.
—Kudman, of Weatherly, wants to appoint Christmas again. This time for keeps.
—Jeansville sports men are the boss of four fine game cocks. It is said that they were stolen by the Lehighton boys.
—The Lehigh Valley Editorial Association will meet at the American House, Mauch Chunk, on next Tuesday.
—The Lancaster Record had a double sheet for Decoration Day. It was a delay—check full of bright raying matter.
—A Lehigh woman is charged with stealing a "pig" and taking it to her neighbor's who are doing as well as ever.
—On next Tuesday, big haired Lewis Christman of the Poplar Trachville Hotel, will hold his old fashioned dance. First class music will be present. Don't miss it.
—The old Presbyterian church at Boyer Meadows will be taken in charge by Washington Camp, No. 219, P. O. S. of A., and in a short time we may expect to see it converted into a large hall.
—The Evans Mining Company, of Lehigh, Pa., has ordered the boys employed in their breakers to spend monthly, at least, half their earnings at the company's store.
—Engraving monograms on coins for bouquets and bouquets is a matter of the past. Congress recently passed a law making the defacing of coins punishable by a fine of $3, and it is too expensive to be indulged in.
—The present hot war has brought on the spring fever, brought out summer wear, sun shades by the score, flies, baby carriages by the hundred, brass, snickers, mosquitoes and all other summer fashions. And yet some folks growl.
—Present indications cherish will be plenty, but the country is not fact worthy of note that all fruit with pits or stones, such as peaches, plums, apricots, cherries, etc., promise to yield largely this season. On the other hand, seed bearing fruits, such as apples, pears, etc., will perhaps yield only half a crop.
—Charles Edward, of Andover, came down Wyoming street about six o'clock Monday evening bleeding like a stuck pig. He stopped in Dolan's bottle establishment and made him self comfortable to Patrick Dolan, who claims struck him over the eye with a beer bottle. The bottle cut a deep gash over Edward's left eye, and the blood poured down his face in streams. Dr. Cole dressed his wounds. Dolan was arrested before Squire Gorman. He entered bail for his appearance at court.—Eliot's Standard.
—"Big Joe" Matthews and Wessell Frank, two of the survivors of the Jeannette horror, through their attorney, Messrs. E. A. Lynch and John C. Brown, Monday were awarded $20,000 damages each against C. J. Day and Co., the Spring Mountain Coal Co., the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., and the Green Land Co. Their allegations are that their health and limbs have been permanently injured and impaired by the terrible privations and hardships which they suffered during their frozen days imprisonment in the mine; hence their suit.
—The Weatherly Herald says that that town has nine hotels, five doctors, two bakeries, electric lights, two coal yards, two drug stores, several churches, one cigar factory, two book stores, one livery stable, one jewelry store, three shoe shops, eleven creameries, one saddle shop, two barber shops, one printing mill, two lumber yards, one printing office, two milliner stores, a meat market, one hardware store, a fine ten story clothing building, two large corner parlors, fine railroad facilities, thirty-six retail stores, one photograph gallery, two tin and stove stores, two school buildings, three saloons, fourteen dressmaking establishments, car, machine, blacksmith shop, and foundry.

LITTLE GAP.

—Quite a number of our Little Gap folks celebrated Decoration Day at Slatington.
—Charles Hill, of this place, is on the sick list. The cause of his sickness is due to old age.
—Mrs. Daniel Sorfass, of this place, celebrated her 72nd birthday anniversary on Tuesday last.
—George N. Henry and Benjamin Correll, both of this place, were at Easton on Monday last, on business.
—Wallace Wagner, a clerk for J. C. Scharly, of Weatherly, was visiting his parents and friends of this place, on Sunday.
—James Schwartz, a traveling salesman for the firm of John W. Schwartz, of Allentown, made his regular trip through this section last week.
—A young man aged about 23 years was seen in the woods on this side of the Blue Mountain, with his hands cuffed on his back. Rumor has it that he had slipped away from a convict camp.
—Messrs. Arner Bros., of Weissport, on Tuesday last, placed their steam saw mill in our locality. They have a contract from Nathan George & Co. to saw an immense number of logs into boards, railroad ties, sills, etc.
—The new board of school directors organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the north end of First street Saturday evening in which a number of drunken fellows participated. Have we no law in this town, that such things are permitted?
—The numerous friends of Miss Laura Mercer, of town, at present in Philadelphia, will be much pleased to learn that she has almost entirely recovered from a very serious attack of diphtheria.
—E. J. Kennell, the gentlemanly teller in our First National Bank, has purchased the Monticello on the corner of Third and Main streets and, as it is now a residence with all modern conveniences.
—Julius Bogdanus and wife, formerly of this city, celebrated in a very happy manner their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, at their new home in Frankford, Philadelphia, Wednesday last.

On a couple of tramps

—A couple of tramps were carrying on quite a business in Barga's woods during part of last week, in the manufacture of hats, which they sold at a nominal figure.
—The new board of school directors was organized Monday evening by the election of the following officers: president, Wm. McCormick; secretary, M. O. Bryan; treasurer, R. L. Koons.
—In connection with their parade on the morning of the 4th of July, a number of fire-works, which they had prepared for the purpose, were exploded at the