The Carbon Advocate

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1901.

From the Teachers' Institute Souvenir of Northampton county, issued in 1888, we republish the following relative to our now principal from the pen of Prof. W. P. Messinger:

Many men have won greater fame than Joseph H. Werner, Superintendent of Northampton County. But few have worked more faithfully, or have had the success of their work more at heart.

He was born in Bushkill Township, this county, June 22, 1843. The early part of his life was spent on his father's farm, where he formed habits of industry, temperance and economy, which have materially contributed to his later success.

He attended the common schools, and subsequently taught his first term in his native township. His success, especially in discipline, and his enthusiasm, caused him to conclude definitely to devote his life to education. Not having the financial means to better prepare himself for the work, he heroically resolved to defray his school expenses by alternately teaching a term and by what he earned during vacations.

In the spring of 1870, Mr. Werner entered the Keystone State Normal School and after alternately teaching and attending he graduated with the class of 1875. While attending the normal he taught in all one year in the model school. Previous to entering the normal he attended the Freedland Seminary for a term of twelve weeks.

In 1873, Mr. Werner was elected principal of the school at Chesham, Pa., at which place he taught for a period of eight years, and until elected to the superintendency of the schools of this county. In this capacity Mr. Werner is serving his third consecutive term, having received a higher number of votes at his last election than at either previous election. His administration has been remarkable for the many improvements in the rural districts.

He came from among them and knew their needs, and so shaped and bent his energy as to aid them practically; he is not given to much theorizing, but he is a practical, earnest-working man, with common sense and application enough to outweigh a volume of untiring theory.

Of Mr. Werner it can be verily said that he is the true friend of the teachers. Their hearty co-operation and cordiality is evidence of this fact. His obliging manner, readiness to assist, and the lack of dignified reserve which often characterizes supervisors, has won the hearts of all pupils, teachers and directors, and has removed the barrier that often prevents young and inexperienced teachers from asking advice and direction. His kindly way of correcting the faults of his teachers, and his sound advice and hearty commendation of earnest work done, whether by pupils, teachers or directors, has been the means of spurring many to the higher aims in life, and who can say that it has not improved buildings, furniture and apparatus through the directors.

Above all, Mr. Werner is an earnest Christian, and in that word, beyond a doubt, we have the keyword of his success, and the quiet but powerful and lasting influence he is exerting throughout this county.

A Carbon County Man Going Up. Prof. A. S. Miller, formerly principal of the East Mauch Chunk schools and later on engaged in teaching at Weatherly and Lansford, and now of Wichita, Kansas, was recently promoted to the position of Associate Principal of the Wichita University. Mr. Miller has been a close-shopper since he is in the "Glosshopper State," and he has prepared himself by hard and persistent study for the position to which he was elected. His friends throughout Carbon county will undoubtedly be pleased that a student of this county should be placed in a position of honor and executive ability. The University is under the jurisdiction of the Reformed church, and offers a number of courses of study which, when completed, entitle the student to a degree. These several courses of study are under the direction of special teachers. Mr. Miller being also principal of the Normal College. Wm. H. Rauch, formerly principal of the Weatherly schools, is also a teacher in this institution and has charge of the department of law. True merit is usually recognized, and for him who has health and energy and is willing to apply himself judiciously, there is usually a sure reward.

A Pretty Wedding.

By request of many friends of Mr. Mrs. N. M. Balliet we republish the following with a corrected list of the presents:

In the whole history of Normal Square her people never witnessed such a grand social event as the marriage, on Thursday last week, of Miss Emma L., the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Judge and Mrs. C. H. Seidte, to Prof. N. M. Balliet, of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., at the home of the bride's parents. At one o'clock, after all the guests, to the number of several hundred had assembled, the sweet notes of the wedding march ushered the bride and groom with the best man, Mr. Ira Seidte, and the maids of honor, Misses Fannie Brunner and Amanda E. Balliet, to the spacious parlor where, under an arch of evergreen the happy young couple were united in God's holy bond of wedlock by Rev. Dr. Willard, President of the Seminary of Ursinus College, Collegeville, following which Rev. E. A. Bauer, of Lehigh, led in prayer, at the close of which Rev. Dr. Seidte pronounced the benediction and the guests congratulated Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Balliet.

The wedding march was played by Miss Emma Balliet, of Mansfield, Ohio. After an intermission of a few minutes the doors were thrown open and the guests were invited to partake of a sumptuous repast which had been spread in such style as only the good people of Normal Square and Mahoning Valley can spread a feast. It included all the delicacies of the season and was "fit for the king." A bevy of ladies waited on the table—they were assisted by the ushers, Messrs. E. O. Notstein and S. E. Stoffel. The bride was handsomely dressed in cream satin and lace; the maids of honor wore white, while the groom, best man, groomsmen and ushers wore conventional black. In all it was the prettiest wedding this section has had for some time and will long be remembered by the people from far and near who were present. The young couple were the recipients of many very useful and valuable presents, of which the following is a list:
