And of course Margarita said yes.

So it came about that as the others were engaged I accompanied Margarita that afternoon on her first round of Carletmas shopping. I had my stirct in junctions from Uncle Jim not to urge any purchase upon the child, but to allow har to have her own choice in everything, provided prices did not exceed a certain sum.

When Margarita's nurse brought her down to the carriage she did look sweet and wise enough to almost win me over to Uncle Jim's opinion.

Thinking that books would please the little one as much as anything, we drove to a book store and made our way from counter to counter. At first nothing seemed to interest Margarita so much as the gay crowds of people. Finally, she looked up from a picture book, in reply to my question, "What do you want to buy for Maurices" she said, "Want to buy for Maurices" she said, "Want to buy tandy lelephant."

At the confectioner's thore was a grand array of sugar animals, and Margarita selsed upon a white elephant, and was perfectly satisfied.

"Will the little lady have anything else" asked the saleswoman politely. "Do you want to buy anything hore for lines or Uncle Jim or nurse?" I asked. But the yellow carls shook decidelly as she answered:

"Will the little lady have anything been fighted on his hearthstone for lines or Uncle Jim or nurse?" I asked. But the yellow carls shook decidelly as she answered:

"Wiffin now."

"Want to buy mamma a tandy titten!" As Tony, the coachman, said that there was a confectioner's near by, we drove there instead of to the place where we bought the elephant.

A saleswoman informed me that I would find the animals at the lower end of the store, whereupon Margarita said:

"Don't want to buy animals! Want to buy a tandy titten!"
Of course everybody within hearing laughed, and I hurried Margarita along toward the counter where iditions were liept.

The purchase wade, other stores were only a color of the color of the stores were of the color of the stores were of the color o

On Christmas eve I went to the drawer where I had put the gifts that Margarita had bought, but not a package was there. I felt almost certain that Margarita had bought, but not a package was there. I felt almost certain that Margarita had bought, but not a package was there. I felt almost certain that Margarita had bought, but not a package was there. I felt almost certain that Margarita had bought, but not a package was there. I felt almost certain that Margarita had bought was I searched everywhere, but could find no trace of them.

As to the year, preponderance of opin-lon and of such evidence as we have seems to favor that of 4 or 5 B. C. As to the month, December is the height of the rainy season in Judea, and, there-fore, the fact, as stated by the New Tesfore, the fact, as stated by the New Tes-tament, that shepherds were watching their flocks on its plains while stars were shining in the heavens on the night of the Baviour's birth, makes it extremely unlikely that it could have occurred in that month. Many learned treaties have been written and plausible argu-ments advanced to prove that it must have taken place in October, but the constitution will ever remain in abscance.

Little Margarita Had Her Own Views
About Making Presents.

We were talking over Christmas gifts at luncheon, when Margarita said:
"Want to buy Kis'mas p'esents too!"
At once Uncle Jim exclaimed:
"Bo Margarita shall buy Christmas presents too!"
Upon which Margarita rewarded him with a smile enchanting enough to have made a far pooter man than Uncle Jim do exactly what Uncle Jim did. He pulled a big roll of bank bills from his pocket and put them in the little one's liny hand.

1. It's the best. This presumption is made more probable from the fact that for many centuries the feativities of Christmas were prolonged until "Twelfth night," Jan. 6, and even till Candlemas day, Feb. 2, while they usually began as early as the they say. We will show them that Margarita has as much wisdom as some older prolonged in selecting gifts. We know, don't we, pet?"
