WASTE LAND ON LONG ISLAND

It is purhaps needless to remind the reader that there are some $47,000 acres of waste lands in hisffolk county, Long baland. They are now covered with numbed pinne, scrub cale and underbrash. If tillable them barron acres are advantageously situated for the experiment of colonization. The question as to their possible fertility has been maryored both ways, and it is rapidly appearing, if not already demonstrated, that these whe defined their possibility has been merror. Years ago Governor John A. Dix called the attention of the New York Basts Agricultural society to these hands.

Bince Gevernor Dix, wrote many suctions of the first possibility of thems hands.

Bines Governor Dix wrote many suc-comful experiments in cultivation of these lands have confirmed his judg-ment. None of these can have more inment. None of these can have more interest for the sociologist than that of the Bohemian colony, situated milway, between Bonkonkoma and Seyville, in what is now a fertile garden spot that bursts unexpectedly on the view—an case in a dense and dreary wilderness of dwarfed cake and prolife underformat. This community was formed a score of years ago under chroumstances the most unpromising. Near the ptcturesque life for round lake called Benkionkoms, so deep that local legond pronomons is vinile round lake called Reakonkeins, so deep that local legond pronounces is unfathomable and whose outlet has never been discovered, lies Lakeland, a hither to wild tract of scrub and furse, on which it was proposed to establish a colony. Among those who were indused to purchase land there in the days when romantically worded advectisements described it se an Eden, were three Bolemian families who had arrived in this country but a short time before. before.

The heads of these families were John Keriochvil, Joshua Wavra and Joseph Houla. They were honest, credulous folk, unfamiliar with the wiles of the "booner," and they purchased their land unseen on his representations. But when in the waning autumn they and their wives and little ones behold Lairoland, its only harvest frost timted, sun dried, crinkling leaves, thoir hopes sickened and they would have returned to New York if they could. But they were without means to support themselves in without means to support themselves in the city. Hence, indifferent where it might be found, they sought mere prom-ising territory toward the south, and after wandering a distance of three miles they knelt in the woods to implore di-vine direction. By common impulse they were moved to choose the spot where they time knelt as the center of

The men plotded back to Lakeland and thence laboriously brought belt personal effects, the more important of which were a cauvas tent and a cooking stove. When shelter was thins secured and an attempt made to kindle a first it was serrowfully discovered that there was not a match in the colony; and all bobenis laughs to this day when the story is todd of John Kertechvil swinding the fire while running the risk of blowing the precious story to pieces.

The men found work on the Great South hay near by, or on the farme of the southside gentry; and before long seat family dawls in the principles of the land and prepare it for a report of the southside gentry; and before long seat family dawls in the principle to the anged and women unitedly labored to close the land and prepare it for a report of the southside gentry; and before long seat family dawls in the principle to charge one customer $47,00 cush for a 7 draw Hungarian Ash New Davis another $55,00? Simply because the latter party was better informed as to price.
