NOTICE TO DEMOCRATS.

There will be a meeting of the Carbon County Democratic Committee at the Court House, Mauch Chunk, Pa., on Saturday July 16th, 1902, at 1 o'clock P. M. All the members of the County Committee, and Democrats generally are requested to be present, as business of importance is to be transacted. FRANK P. SHARKEY, Chairman Carbon Co. Dem. Committee.

THE DEPLORABLE SCENE AT HOMESTEAD COULD NOT HAVE OCCURRED IN NEW YORK.

A Democratic Legislature and Governor have made them impossible by forbidding men to carry on private war with mercenary troops hired from the Pinkertons or other purveyors of slaughter. It is high time for every State to follow New York's example in this. This is a civilized, modern republic, not a medieval agglomeration of warring feudal barons. When war is to be made it is the nation that must make it. When disorder occurs it is the business of the State to repress it by the use of its own legally constituted agencies. We have no need of private standing armies. We should not tolerate the maintenance of bands of armed braves to be hired to men who want to take law into their own hands. Pinkertonism must go.—New York World.

THE DEMOCRATIC MEETING CALLED BY COUNTY CHAIRMAN FRANK SHARKEY TO ASSEMBLE IN THE COURT HOUSE ON SATURDAY AT ONE O'CLOCK SHOULD BE LARGELY ATTENDED BY ALL DEMOCRATS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY, AND AT THIS MEETING SHOULD BE THE DETERMINED EFFORT AT EACH AND EVERY ONE TO BRING ABOUT A REORGANIZATION AND PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF ALL PAST DIFFICULTIES.

The effort of the Mauch Chunk Democrat to create the impression that the tools of George W. Esser, is no more ridiculous than it is extremely foolish. Any other candidate nominated at last fall's election would have been elected in the same way against the combination, and consequently there are no Esser Democrats but each and every one of the 2500 who voted the regular Democratic ticket are Jeffersonian Democrats, who will stand true to their principles and messages against a combination of political demagogues and tricksters. The Democracy will get firmly together when Cassidy, Klotz and that gang step aside and let the people make the candidates as they should.

These Homestead rioters are not the class of men that usually engage in such disturbances in the large cities. The town of Homestead has a population of 3000, and its workers are engaged in iron mills, glass works and mines. They are, taken as a whole, well paid, and intelligent, reading men. In a busy village of this kind the rough, rowdy element of the large cities is insignificant in number. These men who play with their rifles during day or work in their gardens, and at the middle of night, send their arms to repel the attack of Hessians who seek to invade their town, present a new phase of the "labor riot" that must be considered in order that the entire question of industrial order and justice in the industrial problem and demands a new solution, aside from the old formulas based on the rights of the mighty to demand submission from the weak. Against the theory that a man has a right to do what he pleases with his own, gloriously claimed by the Carnegies, must be placed the right to be employed in order that those dependent on the employed may be provided with the necessities of life, a right which is being recognized by public opinion if not by law. The law of ownership, and the right to do as one pleases with his own, is interpreted by capital as giving the power to absolute rule by its rates of wages, hours of work and the conditions of employment without conference with, employes, recognition of their organizations, or admission of their right to representation in the matter. Such a right can never be admitted by labor, or successfully maintained in a "strutnant" democracy.

While it is necessary to sternly denounce all infractions of social order, and the duty of every man to assist in preserving public tranquillity is indispensible, a permanent peace cannot be based on an unjust and tyrannical system, and disturbances will become more frequent and more general. The fact remains that workmen will fight to maintain their organization as quickly as capital will invoke military power to protect the "rights of property" and was he to the State if in every conflict the rights of capital are preserved while the wrongs of labor are unredressed.

THE HOMESTEAD STRIKE.

The Latest Reports of the Condition of Affairs Up to the Time of Writing.

Pittsburgh, July 15.—The attitude of H. C. Frick, acting for Carnegie, Phillips & Co., in the matter of the trouble at Homestead, has antagonized all the labor organizations of western Pennsylvania, and a big sympathetic strike of all the iron and steel workers in the State is now among the possibilities.

Some 20,000 more would affect from 15,000 to 20,000 workmen, and it would also paralyze the iron and steel trade of the State and inflict incalculable loss upon the big corporations that control these industries. The object of such a strike would be of course to compel other millions of steel and iron manufacturers to take up the cause of the men as against the Carnegies and secure their influence for arbitration as a means of settling the Homestead trouble.

A THREAT TO PEACE.

The first steps in this direction were taken at a mass meeting here of the men employed in the Pittsburgh mills. There were about 3700 men at the meeting, many of them workers in Carnegie's Pittsburgh mills. Resolutions were unanimously adopted declaring that unless Mr. Frick receded from his position and consented to a conference with representatives of the Amalgamated Association on the Homestead difficulty before noon Thursday the men at the Lawrenceville and Beaver Falls mills would go on strike.

SECRETARY LOVEJOY IS DEFIANT.

Mr. Lovejoy, secretary of the Carnegie company, said: "This action of the men in these mills will have no weight in this question, nor will their request be granted. The policy of the company has been fixed and will not be altered. We shall hold no conference with the Homestead mill men, whatever the result. This we have stated at numerous times, and our position has not and will not change. If the men in every department of every mill we have got out because we will grant no conference with the Homestead men, it will not alter the case."

SEVERAL THOUSAND SOLDIERS AT HOMESTEAD.

Five thousand six hundred soldiers are in camp on the heights commanding Homestead, and two batteries, B and C, command, with their guns from either bank of the Monongahela river, both the town the plant belonging to the Carnegie company.

In accordance with the request of the town authorities no pickets were at first placed within the town limits, but a general order has been issued at the request of Sheriff McClary, directing one battalion to begin patrol duty. The sheriff is well known to most towns, and this step was generally believed to indicate that some definite action would be taken, either on the part of the authorities in arresting those prominent in the riots or the Carnegie company in trying to bring these Pinkerton guards into the town.

THE STRIKEERS ARE SILENT.

The silliness on the part of the strikers has steadily increased. When the deportation of Amalgamated workmen returned from their visit to General Snowden, at which a formal military surrender was refused, there was great indignation and indignation shown among the general body of strikers.

They say from what had passed between Hugh O'Donnell and the military authorities that the latter were going to make with iron rod and rifles the peace to a state of complete submission to the county authorities. This settled one end for all the hopes of the locked out men that the troops would be protection for them against the Pinkertons or mercenary workers. It is generally believed that an effort will be made to seize the dynamite and arms which the strikers have concealed in various parts of town.

THE COLOR QUESTION.

The statement of Secretary Lovejoy of the Carnegie Company that he looked for a large number of the locked out men returning to work at the company's scale is not the feeling that pervades the atmosphere of Homestead.

Times of an attempt on the part of the Carnegie Company to secure non-strike workmen in Richmond and other places in Virginia have caused many meetings of a vindictive character and these assume open threats when it is mentioned that the majority of the locked-out men are negroes.

The color question is likely to be injected into the Homestead difficulty in a very forcible manner if the attempt is made. Non-union workmen of Caucasian extraction would be made to feel their position very keenly, but negroes would fare far worse.

THE PINKERTON'S ARMS.

The question of returning the guns and ammunition taken from the hands of the captured Pinkerton men at Homestead last Wednesday is at present giving the citizens of that borough some little consideration since it is a matter of history that the towns were pillaged by a crowd the moment the detectives were taken ashore.

One of the leaders and a member of the Advisory Committee said to reporters of course the Pinkerton agency will make a demand for their guns, revolvers and ammunition and we will do our best for them, but you will understand the way we are in a peculiar position.

"The terms of a surrender were that the guns should all be boxed up and sent back to Pinkerton headquarters with the ammunition, and God knows when that promise was given we intended that it should be kept, but the men was too much for us."

"These guns I suppose are distributed in every town in the county, and one long headed fellow from McKeesport got away with seven of those Winchester's."

"He had a skill to carry himself and guns to Port Victory where he disposed of them at $7.50 a piece, and when we went after him the next day he had not one of the captured guns."

LEADERS BY COMMON CONSENT.

The central figure among the locked-out men at Homestead ever since the trouble at the Carnegie mills has been Hugh O'Donnell. He is the recognized leader among the iron workers, and exerts a most remarkable influence over them.

He is cool headed and brave and had not lost heart in his efforts. It is probable that not one of the ironworkers at Homestead would have escaped alive from the charges when they were besieged on the first day of the rioting.

O'Donnell is a man of medium height and slender build, and in no way presents a striking appearance. His features are clear-cut and regular and he has a high, intelligent looking forehead. His heavy black mustache and strongly marked dark eyebrows give him an expression of fierceness and determination.

He is a native-born American and lives with his family in a house which he built out of his own savings.

The men look to him for advice in everything, and obey him implicitly. So one is to Homestead commands the confidence of the mill hands completely.

O'Donnell is a good talker and argues intelligently and clearly, and it was because of this that he first became a leader in the meeting of the powerful organization, the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, which he represents in the present clash between the Carnegies and their employes.

He occupies this position by common consent, for he is not an officer of the Association, although he has long been a member.
