The laws of health are taught in the schools; but not in a way to be of much practical benefit and are never illustrated by living examples, which in many cases might easily be done. If some schools with has just contracted a cold was brought before the school so that all could hear the dry loud cough and know its significance; see the thin white conting on the tongue and later, as the cold developed, see the profuse watery expectoration and this watery discharge from the nose, not one of them would ever forget what the first symptoms of a cold were. The schools should then be given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely, that all might see this even a severe cold could be cured in one of two days, or at least greatly militated, when properly treated as soon's at the first symptoms appear.
