EMIGRATION FACTS.

The treasury department has issued a report on immigration into the United States which contains some very interesting statistics. No account of immigrants was kept prior to 1820, but it is estimated that between the close of the revolutionary war and that year they numbered about 25,000. Since 1820 the numbers have amounted to 16,500,000. In round numbers the various foreign countries contributed the following to this enormous total:

Germany, 5,700,000; Ireland, 3,000,000; England, 2,500,000; Norway and Sweden, 1,000,000; Austria-Hungary, 500,000; Italy, 500,000; Russia and Poland, 500,000; France, 500,000; Scotland, 315,000; China, 200,000; Switzerland, 180,000; Denmark, 160,000; all other countries, 270,000.

Most of the immigrants enumerated in the last item came from British North America. In the forty years from 1820 to 1860 more than one half of the entire immigration was from England and Ireland and the greater portion from Ireland. Since 1860, however, the larger portion of the immigration from the United Kingdom has come from England, and the flow of population from Germany, Norway and Sweden, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Russia, and Poland has greatly increased. Since 1820, with the exception of China and France, there has been almost a constant increase from all countries. Since 1881 there has been a decrease of the immigration from Germany and Switzerland.

The largest number of immigrants from all countries in any one year was 788,000 in 1882. For the year ending June 30, 1922, the number was 520,000, an increase of 107,792 over 1880 and 92,700 over 1921. In the last three years there were 2,501,012 immigrants, as against 2,512,101 for the preceding ten years—1870-80. Since the end of Aug. 6, 1882, excluding Chinese laborers, the total Chinese immigration has only amounted to 777,7, a fact which clearly shows that the Great West is unnecessary.
