The splendid New York packet ship Hottinguer, Capt. Bursley, has fallen a prey to the fury of the elements, and, from the tenor of the last accounts respecting her, a melancholy loss of life attends the disaster. The Hottinguer sailed from Liverpool for New York on the 10th of January. She had 290 cabin and steerage passengers, together with the Captain and crew, of 30 men and boys, and had a very full freight of various descriptions of goods. She had only passed as far as Blackwater Bank, which is off the coast of Wexford, York and Gettysburg. when she struck on one of those dangerous ledges of rock which lie concealed in that quarter. This occurred on the morning of the 12th of January On the occurrence of this mishap, a part of the crew and all the passengers were sent ashere. Capt. Bursley and 13 of his men remained on board, and, sad to relate, Capt. Bursley and twelve of the noble band, who determined to be the last of the ship, met a watery grave.

DREADFUL OCCURRENCE.—We learn that a most melancholy accident occurred at the foot of Plane No. 5, on the Portage Railroad. A man engaged in Adams' Coal Bank, went into a back building attached to the dwelling of Mr. Adams, to get some powder, eleven kegs of which being in the building at the time. His light went out, and in attempting to re-light it by blowing he blew a spark into the powder, which ignited several kegs instanty, causing a dreadful explosion, tearing the house literally to pieces. Mr. Adams, his wife and little child were in bed at the time. Mrs. Adams was killed instantly by the falling of a stick of timber, her husband and child escaping with little or no injury. The man who went into the house to get the powder was very the house to get the powder was very badly hurt, but was living at last accounts. -Blair County Whig.
