Boldin & Price, of Philadelphia, invite attention to their advertisement. Dr. Bartlett will be in the Town Hall for the last time this evening.

Look Out for Him!

Some scoundrel, name unknown, is travelling through this county, stopping occasionally with farmers for a night's lodging or a meal, and then insists on paying for the same.

Mr. B. J. SILLS, of this Borough, has raised one of the finest steers that we have ever seen, and one that is well worth a visit from all who take pleasure in examining superior cattle.

Mr. Cornyn's Speech.

At the request of some friends of Mr. CORNYN, we give place to-day to the speech of that gentleman on the election of Judges by the people.

CONGRESS.—In consequence of the death of Mr. Calhoun, but little business has been done in either House during the past week.

The "Millin," the largest engine on the Central road, weighing upwards of thirty tons, was precipitated over a high bank on Saturday afternoon last, and now lies bottom upwards.

Extraordinary as it may appear, the Grand Jury has adjourned without recommending a new Jail in place of the rickety concern now dignified with that name!

In Connecticut, the locofocos, aided by the free soilers, have succeeded in electing a majority of the Legislature, and probably the Governor.

In St. Louis the whigs have elected their candidate for Mayor by 500 majority over the Benton and anti-Benton candidates.

We have some returns from Ohio of the election for Delegates to amend the Constitution, but nothing definite.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—Another letting on the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad is to take place on the 15th of April.

Death of Hon. John C. Calhoun. This distinguished individual, who for forty years has mingled so conspicuously in national affairs, died at Washington on Saturday last.

After six years distinguished service in Congress, he was offered a seat in the Cabinet as Secretary of War, by President Monroe, which he accepted, and continued in that post until 1825.

In 1832, on the election of Gen. Hayne to the office of Governor of South Carolina, Mr. Calhoun was elected to a seat in the U. S. Senate.

In 1844, on the death of Judge Upshur, he was called to the Department of State by John Tyler, which place he filled until the accession of Mr. Polk to the Presidency.

This extraordinary trial was brought to a close on Saturday evening last. The jury retired, at five minutes past 8 o'clock, and came into court at eleven.

Chief Justice—Mr. Foreman, have you agreed to a verdict? Foreman—We have.

The prisoner sank back into his chair with his hands upon the railing, and his face on his hands, and so remained ten minutes.

Dr. Webster was brought into Court on Monday morning at 9 o'clock to receive the solemn sentence of the law. He looked gloomy in the extreme, but collected and calm.

At 10 minutes past 10 o'clock the Court came in, including the Hon. Richard Fletcher, who had not attended the trial. After some minutes of silence, Mr. Attorney General Clifford, narrated the facts of the indictment, trial and verdict, and moved the Court that the final sentence be now pronounced.

Chief Justice Shaw then addressed him, and closed with the sentence that he be "removed from this place, and be detained in close custody in the prison of this county, and thence taken at such time as the executive government of this Commonwealth may by their warrant appoint, to the place of execution, and there be hung by the neck until you are dead."

A large number of persons who had perused the testimony as published, received the verdict with surprise, nine out of ten deeming it insufficient to convict. It is possible however that some facts and circumstances were developed during the trial, and that some under current prevailed, of which those at a distance from the tragedy can know nothing, and hence the awful result.

Dr. John Dorsey, of Huntingdon county, is said to have committed suicide yesterday morning by taking a large quantity of laudanum. The rash act was committed, it is alleged, in consequence of the marriage of a young lady to whom he was deeply attached.

Trial for Arson—Conviction of Prisoners. Much interest has been manifested in the proceedings of Court since Monday last, several cases of importance to our citizens as well as the accused, having been tried.

The principal one was the Commonwealth vs. Samuel Marks and George Rarick, indicted for arson, being charged in one indictment with setting fire to the property of Thomas E. Shull, and in the other with burning the stable of T. & F. McClure.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—On motion of A. P. JACOB, JOSEPH W. PARKER, ESQ., was on Monday last admitted to practice law in the several courts of Millin county.

Wonders never cease.—The attractions of the Extensive Establishment of C. L. JONES is now beyond all conception. His display of New Spring Goods surpasses anything we ever beheld either here or elsewhere.

THE EXCITEMENT attending the trial of Dr. Webster having in some measure subsided, the next subject that will probably engross public attention will be, who has brought up the handsomest stock of new goods this spring?
