The Pennsylvania Railroad --- Its Management, &c.

Although this road is being constructed by a company, and, as such, might in some measure be deemed a private affair, yet the magnitude of the undertaking-the vast powers conferred upon it by the Legislature-and the effect, either for good or evil, according to its management, it must ultimately have on the valley of the Juniata-render it a proper subject of comment and an object of jealous vigilance: for if this is not done, abuses will creep in, and, instead of a public benefit, we shall have a vast heartless and soulless corporation, swallowing with anaconda greediness everything within its reach.

Whatever opinion may be entertained by others, it seems to us that there is something radically wrong in its management-that there is either too much placed on the shoulders of one man, or else the Board of Directors and principal Engineers do not pay that personal attention to its interests which they ought to do. There is besides a great deal too much petty scheming-little acts unbecoming to any one-and a grasping spirit which, there is reason to believe, is intended to minister

What, for instance, has been the course chine Shop? In making choice of a proper site for such a building, one would naturally suppose that a few dollars and cents -either as a bonus or in the purchase of land-would not influence the parties to whom the stockholders have delegated the power. Yet what has been the course pursued? Why almost every little town along the road was told (in a confidential manner of course) that a great spirit of liberality might induce the company to locate the machine shop, &c., there-that it would be the making of the place, enhance property, and rapidly increase pop-Even to this day, this underhanded policy seems to be continued, for we notice in a Mifflintown paper that it is "confidently expected" the company will build their shop there; Huntingdon too still has some hopes; while the holders of lots at Altona, six miles north of Hollidaysburg, announce that " it is well known that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have selected this place (Altona) for the erection of their main machine and other shops, and are now building the same." In so important a matter, convenience for making repairs, the point from whence assistance could be most readily sent in case of accident, combined with other advantages for accelerating business, ought to be the governing motive in making a selection, and when made, there ought to be no secrecy of its location.

Another most objectionable feature is the company embarking in the grog-shop business! Little as it may seem, and startling, perhaps, to some, the same Engineers and Board who last winter determined to discontinue Sunday travelling are now spending the earnings of the road in erecting costly tavern stands, at which they will of course compel passengers to eat and drink, no matter how much out of time or place, or do without. Of all others, this is about the smallest business in which a company can engage, and will ultimately result in loss, as almost every attempt of the kind by other companies has.

Another error committed by those having the direction of affairs was the running of two trains on Sunday; but as this is now in a measure obviated by a change of hours, we will pass it over.

Some time ago it will be remembered that the Philadelphia papers made a great flourish about the directors having reduced the fare to a uniform rate of three cents a mile, yet in defiance of the resolution thus paraded, all passengers from this place to Harrisburg are charged $1.90, when by their own measurement it is less than 61 miles. As this point furnishes more travel than any station on the road, these seven cents extra from each passenger will amount to a considerable sum in the course of a year .-Who put on this extra charge is a matter some of our citizens may at a future day inquire into.

While richly cushioned seats and splendid cars are provided for the silk and broadcloth gentry, a miserable looking machine, more resembling the old keel boats formerly used on the Juniata than anything else, is dignified with the title of Way Car, in which our farmers and others dressed in homespun are politely stowed away.

There are other matters that might be referred to, but as I do not wish to do more than call public attention to subjects that have been complained of here and elsewhere, I will close with the hope that those most interested in the welfare of the road will take these matters into consideration before going too far, and apply the remedy. The interests of a corporation ought always to go hand in hand with the people whom it was designed to accommodate and benefit; if it does not do this, it is no longer a ben-FRANKLIN. efit, but an evil.

MIFFLIN COUNTY, June, 1850.

POPULATION OF THE MIAMI COUNTRY. The Secretary of State in Ohio, in his estimate of the population of the State, sets down fifteen counties in the Miami country as having increased forty-three per cent. in the last ten years. The first settlement of the Miami country was made but a little more than sixty years since. The above counties comprehend, in round numbers, 6,500 square miles, and contain about a half a million of people! This is a density of 77 to a square mile; much more than that of the State of New York, which is but 56 to a square mile. This District will probably contain, in twentyfive years, a million of inhabitants.

An editor down East, who served four days on a Jury, says he is so full of law, that it is hard for him to keep from cheating somebody.

From the Harrisburg Telegraph HINTS TO THE PEOPLE.

No State in the Union has suffered more than Pennsylvania from the errors, follies, and corruptions of politics, and too strict party attachments. Her State debt is overwhelming, and her taxes oppressive; yet, with all this burthen upon the people, her treasures are daily squandered with an improvident hand. yet .- Juniata Sentinel. All the income, or nearly so, of her public improvements, is scattered along the lines to keep them passable, much less in good repair. The system of paying off active partizans with fat obs-supplying lumber, and other materials, for hauling, &c., -has swallowed up our tolls for many years, while our State debt and our taxes have gradually increased.

It the people knew why this was so, and how to apply a remedy, we are confident they would not fold their hands until the end was accomplished. We propose briefly to offer some hints for their consideration, trusting that they will see and feel their force.

For many years all those officers who expend the public funds, and settle the accounts, have been in the hands of one party. Our Canal Commissioners, our Superintendents and Supervisors, and the Auditor General have been of one family; and it is not necessary to charge open corruption, to prove that this fact alone has cost Pennsylvania many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Party prejudice, party attachments, and party partialities, too often mis-lead the judgement. There has been no check more to private ends than to the benefit of or watch upon their actions—there was "no one to make them ashamed or afraid," even though they might be too honest to steal, outpursued in relation to the location of a Ma- right, the treasures of the people-yet, " when ones self is in the scale, it is hardly rightly ad-

In every State where party power has changed hands occasionally, we find the condition of the treasury always better than in those States where one party has been permitted to rule supreme, and have grown insolent and corrupt, ecause of their strength. For twelve years the mysteries behind the curtains of the Auditor General's office have never been exposed to the public eye-(and may that not be one reason why just at the time when a Whig Governor would expose the secrets of that "prison house" the appointment was taken out of his hands and given to the people, believing that they were still safe in their party strength?) The people are now called upon to choose from among their own number some person to fill that office. Do they desire to know its secret history ? If so, they must not select one of the old party managers, whose interests are to keep them still in ignorance. Again, would it not be more certain to guard the money of the people it the auditing of these accounts of political favorites was to be done by one whose pride would be to detect and expose any and all abuses of power! Would not that very thing make the disbursing agents more careful-perhaps more honest? Nothing can be more certain. It would save for the State thousands and thousands of dollars. Freemen! and Work-doers!—Taxpayers! and State debt payers!—Would it not be well for you to think over this subject and act at the next election as common sense shall dictate? You all remember how the lamented Power, while Canal Commissioner, scared from the Treasury of the State the vultures of party, who sought to impoverish it by their lavish and imprudent appropriations. Has the lesson been thrown away? will you permit another chance to pass and refuse to set one to watch two? While one member of the Canal Board is directly-politically-interested in watching the other two-(it matters but little to the people for what motive)-the temptation and th ity to do wrong is much lessened. Fear, if not honesty, make the majority more cautious, more prudent, and less careless and extravagant, and the result is that the money of the taxpayer is more sparingly and more properly applied. The opportunity is again offered to divide the political character of the Canal Board; and as it may be that both parties need watching, each will be as a watch set over the other, and the people will reap the harvest in the replenished Treasury. This is worthy of every man's conscientious consideration; and then it demands that action at the election which republican integrity will endorse as well done. Let every Farmer, Mechanic, Laborer, and those who " sit at home at ease," examine these hints, and see if they cannot profit thereby.

Destructive Fire at Columbia.

Correspondence of the Daily News. COLUMBIA, June 17, 1850. Dear Sir:—Our town was visited last night by a most terrific conflagration. It originated about 10 o'clock in a large frame house, on the west side of the Columbia Railroad, occupied by a number of Irish and German families, and owing to the combustible nature of the houses and a cooper shop adjoining, the flames spread with fearful rapidity, and soon another frame dwelling on the south was completely enveloped in a sheet of fire. The Green Tree Hotel, kept by Mr. E. A. Howard, and a large warehouse, owned by Mr. N. Evans, and occupied by F. S. Blentz, Esq., on the south, were also burned to the ground, whilst on the north, a large building opposite the Washington Hotel, in which various branches of business were carried on, was completely destroyed. Among other things the of-fice of the Columbia Spy, which was in the last mentioned building, was burned to the ground. After the fire had raged for some time, the lumber piles took fire, and all the lumber between Locust and Walnut streets, with the exception of one or two piles, was burned to the ground. The bridge was discovered to be on fire at one time, but owing to the energy of Mr. Wm. McConky, the Collector of the Tide-water Canal Company, there was no material injury done to it. A chimney in one of the houses fell down during the raging of the flames, and struck a man by the name of Augustus Myers, crushing his skull and face in a most shocking manner He died in about an hour afterwards. The loss in all is estimated at about $50,000 F. W. J.

WARM SPRINGS. PERRY COUNTY, PA.

THE undersigned begs leave to inform the public, that he has recently purchased the Warm Springs, in Perry county, Pa., and has improved and refurnished the utildings for the entertainment of visiters, in a style alculated to ensure comfort and convenience to all who may feel disposed to patronize the establishment

These springs are situated on the banks of and empty ito Sherman's creek, a stream associated with the thrillng scenes between the early settlers of that part of Pennsylvania and the aborigines, whose hunting grounds ay on its margin. They are II miles from Carlisle, (through which the Cumberland Valley Railroad passes from Chambersburg to Harrisburg.) from which place visiters can at all times procure excellent conveyances. Those also from the east, wishing to reach the springs by the Central Railroad, can do so by taking passage to the Duncannon Iron Works, (13 miles distant from the springs) where coaches are constantly in readir nvey them thither; and those coming from the west es at the Railroad Hotel at Newport, which is but a few ces at the Railroad hoter at Newport, which is miles distant from the springs.

The qualities of the water at these springs are most extraordinary indeed for the speedy and permanent cure of SCROFULA, TETTER, Eruptions of the Skin, and fact every species of Cutaneous Diseases. He has undreds of certificates, showing the wonderful cures effected by using this water internally, and by bathing in t, obtained as well from strangers as from those residing the immediate neighborhood of the springs, who have not only experienced the infallible efficacy of the water themselves, but witnessed the same upon others. Prof. JAMES C. BOOTH has analyzed the waters, and found nem to contain 9.2 grains of solid matter in the gallon, magnesia. Alkaline salts, chiefly chlorides, with a portion of sulphate, rings, of different descriptions, among which is one of phur and one of cold water.

It may not be improper to state why a knowledge of the straordinary medical qualities of these springs has not een more extensively known than is indicated by the ertificates of those only who have resided in their im-nediate neighborhood. Years ago the property fell into the hands of a number of heirs, who were ind undertake the responsibility of making it a place of pub-lic entertainment—probably because the patronage of the public would not have justified the undertaking, as at that time (before the spirit of improvement had readered distant and difficult points of speedy and cheap access its location was out of the way, and the roads to it roug. and almost impassable. At the death of Mr. Kennedy it fell into the hands of his heirs, neither of whom seem ed disposed to take hold of it, but leased it to tenant more for the cultivation of the land than a regard to the use of the water. It was finally rented to Mr. Hipple, (now proprietor of a large hotel in Tremont, Pa.) made arrangements to accommodate the public, and dur-ing his term many invalids availed themselves of this opportunity to visit and test its medical qualities Mr. Hipple however retired in a short time, and the property again fell into the hands of the heirs, and remained so until proceedings were instituted in the Orphans' Court for its sale. It was ordered to be sold, and the subscriber became the purchaser- It will thus be seen that with the exception of the short time it was held by Mr. Hipple, no efforts were made to bring it into notice.

The country round the springs and neighborhood is di-versified by cultivation and beautifully wild and pictu-resque scenery, abounding in game, while the stream passing through the property affords fine fishing. Every attention will be paid to the comfort and convenience of guests, and the charges so moderate, that all may avail themselves of the benefits of the Water.
