Poetry.

SONG. BY MRS. A. F. LAW. 'Tis all in vain—I cannot now forget thee! Link'd as thou art with memories of the past!

THE ABODE OF MUSIC. Where does the soul of Music dwell? Say, is its spirit found alone In harp strings, or in silver bell?

When birds pour forth their songs at ev'n, No human voice is half so sweet— For ah! the birds dwell nearer heav'n, And their music do repeat.

The Union County Democratic Address on the Money Power.

The Committee appointed for the purpose by the Democratic Meeting held in the Grand Jury room at New Berlin, on the 12th August, met by appointment at Millburg, on Saturday, the 17th August, and after a free interchange of opinion, unanimously reported the following Address to the Democracy of Union County.

FELLOW CITIZENS.—It has become our duty to address you, briefly but plainly, on the subject of your political rights and the present posture of your political affairs. We are Democrats, deeply attached to the principles and usages of the democratic party; but we have witnessed an attempt in this Commonwealth to crush these principles by the power of money, and pervert by low, corrupt intrigue, the time-honored organization of the democratic party into an engine which shall destroy the sacred rights of the people.

by them. The same game was lately tried in this county. To prove this we need only refer to the recent delegate elections, and the proceedings of the self-styled Democratic Convention held in the Court House in New Berlin, on the 12th August.

Conscious that both themselves and the candidate for whom they were secretly working stood no chance of a fair election, they set to work and carried their point by trickery and deception—in some cases hurrying the election to a close long before the proper time—in others getting men to serve as delegates under false pretences—and in others pledging themselves to a course the very opposite of that which they afterwards pursued.

They profess to be democrats, yet always oppose the party, and defeat, or try to defeat its candidates, whenever it suits their purposes. To prove this assertion, and justify our present course, we need not go further back than the New Berlin convention, where this faction passed but two resolutions—one in relation to the next Presidency, and the other to bolster up their own misdoings—but carefully abstained from saying a single word in favor of the democratic nominees for Canal Commissioner and Auditor and Surveyor General!

We ask nothing unreasonable. We do not complain of any majority which may at any time be returned against us, provided that majority is fairly and honestly obtained. But we demand the freedom and purity of the elective franchise in our party proceedings; and we demand that our County Conventions shall fairly represent the democracy of the county, and not to be fraudulently packed to suit corrupt faction.

Miscellaneous. So We Go.—The American Mechanic, published at Poughkeepsie, justly remarks: A man grows at paying a shilling for a loaf of bread, thinking he ought to get it for eleven pence, and the same evening takes his family to witness the feats of a magician, for the purpose of being humbugged, knowing they will be humbugged, and willingly pays a dollar for the privilege!

Water-Lilies in the West.—The editor of the Peoria Register speaks with enthusiasm of the magnificent water-lilies which abound in Illinois. He says they grow in water of various depths, sometimes as deep as ten feet, presenting a smooth leafless stalk, till it arrives at the surface, where there is a large circular leaf, often two feet in diameter, not unlike, and full as large as an old-fashioned pewter platter in the time of our great grandmothers.

selected, and no instructions given. Making it evident to our minds, that the design is to play "fast and loose," to suit the interests of this faction, and if needs be, sacrifice Col. Bigler, although he is the decided choice of nine-tenths of the democracy of Union county.

Do you want illustrations of the necessity and propriety of this course; or have you doubts of it? Look at the policy and deeds of this same faction, whose despotic will tolerates no freedom of opinion and action, who always require the most blind, unreasoning submission to their wishes from their friends and supporters, yet never hesitate to betray or sacrifice every man, whether friend or foe, who may happen to stand in the way of their selfish schemes—showing by their own perfidy and ingratitude, that they do not merit the fidelity and friendship of others.
