Adjournment of Congress.

The first session of the 31st Congress terminated on Monday at noon. It has been a long and laborious session, longer in fact than any previous session, having occupied ten entire months. Beyond the great work of adjusting the exciting questions growing out of our late territorial acquisitions, and the passage of the Civil and Diplomatic appropriation bill, no measure of commanding importance has been definitely acted on. There are, however, various important legislative enactments attached to the last mentioned bill, which were incorporated into it during its last stages, and of the purport of many of which we are unadvised. The Land Bounty bill-granting land bounties to soldiers of former wars is also an important measure, one of the most important, in fact of the session, from the amount of the public lands which it disposes of. Many important measures failed to receive that action from the hands of Congress which the people had a right to expect. Among them was the great subject of the depressed condition of the Manufactures of the Bill is now in operation, and its first effects have would find some means of gratificationdelivered up to their owners. The first case in James Hamlet, who was arrested by the Deputy Marshal, and taken before the U.S. Commissioner. Thomas J. Clark deposed that he knew him, knew that his name was James Hamlet, and that he was owned by Mrs. Mary Brown, of Baltimore, from whose service he escaped in the fall of 1848. The witness produced a certificate copy of the will of the late John G. Brown, who had bequeathed the man to his present owner. This testimony was corroborated by a son of the claimant, and the commissioner signed the warrant for the delivery of the negro to his owner. The proceeding was summary, and the slave was not entitled to the benefit of the writ of habeas corpus.

KILLED .- A son of Mr. John Allen, who resides near the Tuscarora Academy, Juniata county, was killed on Wednesday of last week, by falling from an apple tree.

During the heavy thunder showers last week, the barns of Mr. George Snyder, in Middlecreek, and Mr. Nogle, in Washington township, Union county, were struck by lightning, and, with all their contents of hay, grain, &c., burned to the ground. A boy of about 14 years of age was burned to death in the latter.

A remorseless, savage, beetle-browed husband was fined in Philadelphia, a day or two since, for putting cow-itch in his wife's stockings, before she went to a dancing party. She became quite wild while dancing, and could scarcely keep from tearing her stockings off before the company. Her husband wished to break her of the practice of running to all the dancing soirces.

FROM TEXAS .- The ship Portland has arrived at New Orleans from Galveston, bringing dates to the 19th inst. By her we learn that intelligence of the passage of Mr. Pearce's Texas Boundary Bill had reached there. It is well received by the people generally. The papers assert that popular feeling is in favor of it, and that the proposition of the United States Congress will in all probability be accepted by the Texas Legislature. It is daily gaining strength. Texas thunder seems to be de-

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 1 .- The mail coach going East was robbed last night about 8 o'clock while ascending Laurel Hill. A number of trunks were taken off and rifled of their contrums were taken on and rifled of their contents. A package containing $7000, addressed to Cashier Tucker, of the bank at Cumberland, was taken; also several other packages containing together some $4000, were likewise stolen. The trunk belonging to Mr. Lengseng, of Wheeling, was stolen. Several other passengers lost ing, was stolen. Several other passengers lost heavily, but I have not been able to learn to what extent. The mail was not robbed as was supposed at first. The trunks have all been found, but thoroughly rifled of their contents. No clue has yet been had to the robbers.

From the New York Tribune Do they Mean to Deceive?

Every few days we meet in some opposition journal a paragraph of this nature : " The --- Manufactory has just divided ten per cent. profits for the last six months. And yet the Whigs say Manufacturers need more Protection !" "There are more Iron Works now in operation in the country than there ever were before the present Tariff was adopted, and new ones are continually going up. Yet the Whigs say the duties on Iron must be raised or our iron makers will be ruined!"

Now it is quite possible that some manufactories, enjoying rare facilities or the command of a wide and eager market for peculiar styles of goods, may be making good dividends, in spite of general depression and loss. It may even be true that in certain localities new Iron, Cotton, or Woollen manufactories are from time to time established, and that a gradual, tardy progress in certain branches of Manufacture is made in defiance of the unfavorable country-that of iron especially-requiring a state of trade. We firmly believe, so namodification of the Tariff; and the River and tural and beneficent is the location of the Harbor bill, the passage of which was due to manufacturer and fabricator by the side of the great interests and wants of the West hith- the farmer and planter that, if no Tariff erto not sufficiently regarded and respected by had ever existed, or all Tariffs were now the General Government. This last bill, the to be abolished, the ways and means would National Intelligencer thinks, would have com- in time be discovered or created of naturmanded majorities in both Houses of Congress, alizing or perfecting in our country all the could it have been reached in time to pass upon arts of civilized life. Just so we have faith that, if Steam and Railroads were to be henceforth utterly abolished, the wants FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW .- The Fugitive Slave | or tastes they have created or developed been to produce considerable alarm among the mankind would not consent to be sent back colored population of this State. The slaves in to such means of travel and intercommuconfinement at Harrisburg, whose arrest created nication as existed a century ago. But so much disturbance a few weeks ago, have been that it follows that it would be wise to abolish steamships and railroads, trusting New York was that of a young negro named to human energy and genius for efficient substitutes, is not clear to our minds.

buy of Europe, iron and iron products, cotton, linen, woollen and silken fabrics, to the amount of not less than one hundred millions of dollars. And all these goods are forced in upon us, while the free trade organs and orators are doing their best to create and diffuse the impression that manufactures in this country are yielding in the average large profits to those concerned in them. Now ask those who are busy in endeavoring to diffuse this impression-"Gentlemen, what profits are you realizing from your estates, your ships, your importations, &c., &c.," and they will tell you —the majority of them—"not over five per cent." "Well, gentlemen, then why don't you embark in making these fabrics at home, instead of importing or buying those of Europe? Here is an immense demand, in a country rapidly increasing in population and capacity of consumption. while nobody apprehends that the tariff is ufactures are so profitable as you assert, "The object of the meeting is to proclaim why don't you embark in them? The Pure Democracy, and to make war upon the laws, &c., are as favorable to you as to any laws, &c., are as favorable to you as to any body; you can buy two-thirds of the manufacturing establishments in the country for a good deal less than cost, or you can get up new ones with improved machinery for much less money than these have cost their JOHN C. SIGLER, Assignee. owners. The country is full of ore, coal, water power, &c., which you can have dirt cheap, if you want them, aside from the fact that many of you own these already. Now if manufacturing is so thrifty as you assert-if the instances of failure may all be accounted for by bad management, high salaries, &c., why don't you embark in home manufactures and prosecute them with due wisdom and economy?"

Yes, why don't they ? Those who profess to be free traders country; they have an equal proportion OFFERS his professional services to the of the ready capital and the business talent. If there were money to be made by TALL CANDIDATES .- Judges Johnson manufacturing as easily as they pretend, they are the very lads that would be into it, heels over head. It has cured persons in Lewistown met at Cleveland a short time since, and it one-tenth-no, nor one-twentieth-of the and vicinity, which can be testified to. It does was found that they measured nineteen capital invested in manufactures throughout the country!

Why don't they ? Simply because they know that the impression they are seeking to make on the country, as to the present condition and thrift of American manufactures is a false impression, countenanced by one case in a hundred, but disproved by ninety-nine. If this is not the reason, what is?
