Tranaplanting Tracs.

In taking up trees for transplanting, regard should always be had to their size, and a due proportion should be preserved between the size of the tree and the amount of root attached. A deficiency of root may be partially but not wholly compensated by a diminution or entire removal of the top; but there should always be root enough to supply nourishment to the body, (which, if large, requires the more to sustain it,) and top enough to digest it. A deficiency of top, however, is less fatal, especially in the early part of the season, than a deficiency of root; for if there be enough of the latter, the tree will readily make enough of the former as fast as it shall be needed; but if there be a deficiency of root, although the tree may live and even grow for a time on account of its innate, vital energies, yet it will probably die before the close of the season.

It is for this reason that many trees that " start well" are often found to die in the latter part of the summer, notwithstanding all other circumstances seem to favor their preservation. It is a mistake to suppose that if a tree once begins to grow all risk is at an end. The first season will not always decide; for if that shall be peculiarly favorable, a small root may sustain a tree through it; but the consequence of a small root may be a corresponding small top, and of both, a dead strip running the whole length of the tree occupying, perhaps, one-third, or one-half of its whole circumference. Some trees have a much greater tenacity of life than others, and hence may grow with a much smaller root, or even with none at all. But with these exceptions there should always be a direct proportion between the size of a tree and its roots, and an inverse proportion between the root and the tenacity of life ;--i. e., the less the tenacity of life the greater should be the root .- Rural New Yorker.

The Tariff of 1846.

The New York Times, in an article on this subject, truly remarks-The whole tendency of the free-trade system, as applied to American interests, is to drive labor from the workshop to the soil. Those, whom the farmer has been feeding, in our hands at the business; but several turn become farmers and feed themselves. Not only is a cheap and directly accessible market thus destroyed, but the foreign market is subject to a competition which leaves no profit after the liquidation of freight and charges; and, in consequence, the cultivator witnesses a gradual decline of prices, destined to be accelerated by every addition to the population. The emigrant, instead of a customer, becomes as was ever seen in this or any other country a competitor of the agriculturalist. The work left open for him is field only work ; and to that he must apply himself so long as it yields any profit at all; and at prices varying from a few cents to dollars thus from a buyer he passes into a seller of breadstuffs. The system, we say, not only tends to weigh down the tiller of the soil with taxes, but overwhelms him with competition, and furnishes no better refuge from these ills than the markets of England. At this moment, before the crop of 1851 is offered abroad, the range of prices is too low at Liverpool to justify the smallest operations. The merchant refuses to make any purchases for shipment; and those outsiders who now and then eke out a cargo with grain, do so with invariable We do not, as has been justly reloss. marked, export enough breadstuffs to pay for the manufactures of silks which the vanity of our womankind requires. This for the present, and what omen of a happier condition of things have we in the future ?

This Medicine is a certain cure for Dyspepsia in its very worst forms. Thousands of cases have been com-pletely cured by it within the last year, which have been entirely despaired of by the regular family physicians. We do not recommend it to cure everything-we recommend it to cure Dyspepsia, and the diseases originating from it, and that it will cure in almost every case. and it is recommended for nothing else. In many in-stances, even the worst of cases have been completely cured in two and three months, but it depends somewhat npon the constitution of the patient. We would say to all who are afflicted with Dyspepsia, give this medicine a fair trial, and if it fails to do good, your money will be

ALSO. My Vegetable Worm Powders.

This is the most wonderful Worm Destroyer ever known, and at the same time, so pleasant to take, that almost every child will be fond of it, and many instances have been known of children crying for more after once taking it.

This medicine is in the form of a powder, the only medicine ever used in that form, and it operates on a principle entirely different from any other medicine ever administered by any other physician. It is the only medicine which has no Worm-seed Oil or Turpentine combined with it, which is believed by all other physicians, to be the only two things which will destroy worms, and these two things which will destroy worms, and these two things combined, together with castor oil, are the active principles of all other worm medicines, which every person who has ever tasted or smelled, knows to be the most nauseous of all nauseous medicines, and on account of which, there is generally something added to destroy this nauseous taste, and in order to do this, it nust be something stronger than the medicine isself, and therefore, it must necessarily destroy some of its medicinal properties. These powders are simple and so harmless, that a child may eat a whole box at once, and it will not be hurt, while at the same time, the principle upon which it acts being different from any-thing else ever used, it will destroy all kinds of Worms with a certainty never equaled. It will not only destroy the seat worms, or Ascarides, and long, round worms, or Teres, but is the most effectual medicine for the destruc-tion of the Tape Worm ever known. Ten doses have brought as many as FIVE Tape Worms from one person If your children have any symptoms of worms, try these powders, and in nine cases out of ten, you will never use any other. These are also warranted. These medicines are all separate, and one for each dis-ease, and each for only one disease. They are not re-commended, as many other medicines are, to cure some fifteen or twenty diseases, and all of different natures but they are each to cure but one disease, and that they will do in ninety -nine cases out of every hundred, and where they have a fair trial and fail in all cases, the money will be returned.

CONSUMPTION.

 $I^{N}$  offering to the community this justly celebrated remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not our wish to trifle with the lives or health of the afflicted, but frankly to lay before them the opinions of distinguished men, and some of the evidences of its success, from which they can judge for themselves. We sincerely pledge outselves to make no wild assertions or false ents of its efficacy, nor will we hold out any hope to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant. Many proofs are here given, and we solicit an inquiry from the public into all we publish, feeling assured they will find them perfectly reliable, and the medicine worthy their best confidence and patronage. From the distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Ma-teria Medica, Bouchoin College. Dear Sir: I delayed answering the receipt of your preparation, until I had an opportunity of witnessing its effects in my own family, or in the families of my friends. This I have now done with a high degree of satisfac.

tion, in cases both of adults and children. I have found it, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and coughs, and pulmonary diseases. PARKER CLEAVELAND, M. D.

t to others. Yours, respectfully, S. D. EMERSON. The following was one of the worst of cases, which the physicians and friends thought to be incurable consumption :--

CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 22, 1846.

J. C. Ayer-Sir: I was taken with a terrible cough, brought on by a cold, in the beginning of last February, and was confined to my bed more than two months Coughing incessantly night and day, I became ghastly and pale, my eyes were sunken and glassy, and my breath very short. Indeed, I was rapidly failing, and in such distress for breath, that but little hope of my recov-ery could be entertained. While in this situation a friend of mine (the Rev. John Keller, of the Methodist church) brought me a bottle of your CHERNY PECTORAL, which I tried more to gratify him than from any expectation of obtaining relief. Its good effect induced me to continue its use, and I soon found my health much im-proved. Now, in three months, I am well and strong, and can attribute my cure only to your great medicine.

With the deepest gratitude, yours, &c. JAMES GODFREY. Prepared and sold by JAMES C. AYER,

All who have used this medicine of yours speak well of it." DYSPEPTICS AND SKEPTICS, READ.

LANCASTER, April 30, 1850.

LANCASTER, April 30, 1550. Respected Sir: I have been for a series of years afflict-ed with Dyspepsia, Inactivity of the Liver, and Nervous Debility. After consulting many eminent physicians, and using their prescriptions, and after using the most popular remedies of the day, supposed to be applicable to my case, I always failed to have permanent relief. A friend, with much persuasion, induced me to try a bottle of your celebrated Bitters. I have used one bottle, and this day commenced the second. I can with cheerful ness state that it has happily improved me. My appe-tite and spirits have astonishingly improved, and I begin to feel as though I had grown (suddenly) ten years younger, and really, I am almost prepared to say that I now consider myself calculated for any business, while, ten days ago, I would have as soon undertaken to square a circle as to have attempted it.

Yours respectfully, A. A. KAUFMAN. To Dr. C. M. Jackson, 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

The Editor of "Scott's Weekly Paper," one of the largest literary and family newspapers published in Phil

As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."
