Terrible catastrophe at New York.

Nearly fifty children killed, and forty or fifty wounded.

One of the most lamentable occurrences that we have ever been called on to record, took place at Ward School, No. 26, in Greenwich Avenue, opposite Charles street, yesterday afternoon, when nearly fifty children lost their lives, and many more were severely injured, that in all probability they will not recover. We will give the facts of the case at once, and as briefly as possible. The school house is a magnificent four story edifice, with a winding staircase from the first floor to the upper landing. This stairway is not spiral, but is formed of short flights of stairs winding round a square wall. The first or ground floor is used as a play ground for the scholars, and is paved with flag stones. The second story of the building is occupied by the primary department of the institution; in the third story is the female department of the upper school, and in the fourth story the male department. The entrance to each of the school rooms is from the landings of the stairs. The outer side of the stairs was guarded by an ordinary wooden banister, of no great height, and not firmly secured at the bottom, or where the banisters were connected with the stairs. This description of the stairway will enable the reader better to understand what follows. At about two o'clock yesterday afternoon, one of the teachers in the female department, a Miss Harrison, was taken with a fainting fit, and in order to her recovery she was taken out into the passage way, where a cry was raised of "Water! Water!" by one of her companions. The cry was not understood, or else the scholars thought the water was wanted to extinguish fire, and the next moment the cry of "Fire!" was raised and spread like wildfire through the building. In a moment subordination was at an end. The children from the primary department rushed to the stairs, as did also the scholars on the floor above them. The stairway was soon filled, and the press against the banisters so great that they gave way, precipitating the children over the stairs down to the ground floor. As the rush increased, so did the number that were hurled over the stairs into the space below. Two of the female teachers made an effort to stop the children; but so great was the panic that their efforts were in vain, and they were themselves hurried along with the current, and despite their efforts were carried over the stairs into the space below. In the upper room, the boys' department, Mr. McNally took his stand with his back against the door, and forbade any one to go out. Although the panic pervaded his room, as well as the rest of the building, yet he stood firm, and thus succeeded in saving the lives of many, perhaps of hundreds, for had the larger boys rushed upon the stairs as did the younger children, Heaven only knows how much more sad would have been the disaster than it now is. We learn that some of the boys jumped out of the windows, and that one of them had his neck broken by the fall. There were altogether in the building but few short of 1,800 scholars. (1,765 we understood to be the number.) While Mr. McNally remained firm at his post, the destruction of life was going on below. Hundreds on hundreds went over the stairs, until there was a pile of human beings—a mass of children—eight feet square and about twelve feet in height. The alarm was now given on the outside, and the police were sent on hand and took possession of the premises, as well as they could, and commenced the work of handling out the children from their perilous position. Those who were on top, were of course, but slightly injured, but as soon as these had been removed, the most heart-rending spectacle presented itself. Some among the policemen were fathers, whose own children were there. They worked manfully, and deserve all praise; body after body was taken out; many of them lifeless at first, came to when they once more breathed the fresh air, but many, alas, were beyond aid, and death was but too plainly marked upon their pallid features. Some were injured by the fall, and lay writhing in agony; some moaned, while others shrieked with pain, and others again, when released, started off for home, apparently unconscious of the awful scene through which they had passed. One policeman, Mr. Seabing, on going to the school house, on the instant, greeted by the sight of his little girl's face, her head was all that was visible, her body being covered with that of her companions. Mr. S., urged by paternal feelings, of course, directed his efforts at once to the release of his daughter. While he was thus engaged, a man came up and laid hold of him, saying, "My child is there," and endeavored to take the place on which Mr. S. stood. Finding he could not move him, he struck at him, thus endeavoring to displace Mr. S., and get in a position to work more effectually in search for his lost child. Mr. S. succeeded in rescuing his child, who proved to be but slightly injured. He said he forgave the man who struck at him; he knew too well his feelings to blame him for any act of rashness perpetrated at that time. The bodies of the dead and wounded were mostly, unless claimed on the spot, taken to the Ninth ward station house, which is near the school. In a few minutes news of the accident spread through the neighborhood, and mothers came rushing to the scene by scores, all in anguish, but all, at first, buoyed up by hope. Occasionally a mother would recognize the lifeless form of a child as it was lifted from the mass, and then the piercing cry of agony that would rend the air, oh, God! may it never be ours again to hear. And now the neighborhood was thoroughly aroused, and crowds flocked to the scene of the disaster. Many of the dead, lying and wounded, were taken to the station house, where the entire lodge room of the policemen was turned into a hospital, and their beds all used as couches for the dead bodies of injured children. This was, indeed, a sad sight; parents, whose children were missing, came here to confirm their hopes or fears. Here might be seen a lifeless body, with an agonized mother hanging over it, wringing her hands in the excess of her grief. There was a father looking the picture of sorrow, as he beheld the form of a loved one that he had so lately parted with in health, and then further on was a family standing round the bed of a little one, whose painful writhings gave evidence of the patient's suffering. One after another the bodies of the dead were removed; and at length the last of the dead was carried away also. It was a sad evening in the Ninth Ward. Nearly one hundred families either mourned the loss of children, or watched anxiously over the forms of the wounded. The catastrophe was almost the only topic of conversation. Small knots of men stood on the corners of the streets, and recounted the occurrences of the afternoon. A pall seemed to have settled on everything, and all Greenwich village was in mourning.

The New York Tribune makes the killed 47 in number and the wounded 29. Many of the latter will hardly survive, or if they do will be cripples for life.

CALIFORNIA'S DESTINY.—Hague, the astrologer in Philadelphia, who thinks he can see as far into a millstone as anybody else, says in his Horoscope, "I have cast the Horoscope for the ratification of the Constitution of California, and for the inauguration of the first Governor of that State, and I can assure President Fillmore, that before he quits the chair he now fills as the Chief Magistrate of this Republic, that the government of California will totter to its very foundation, the people of that State will become greatly excited, and violently oppose the constituted authorities—indeed, peace and harmony need not be looked for in that quarter until past 1857, if then. During 1852 and 1853, events will happen that will cause the rulers at Washington to believe my present astrological predictions. SATURN, who signifies slavery, and the slave population is strong for mischief even the coming winter. It must not be thought strange, if our President has to send an army of soldiers to San Francisco, &c., by next October, to keep peace while the Presidential election is going on in these United States."

TELEGRAPHIC DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The steamship Atlantic, from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 12th inst., arrived at half past one this morning. Kossuth continued to engross the attention of the people of England. He visited Birmingham on the 10th, and Manchester on the 11th, and was everywhere greeted with the most extraordinary manifestations of enthusiasm. The procession is said numbered 150,000 persons. Lieut. Kim, of the Royal Navy, proposes a further search of Sir John Franklin. He proposes to go through Russia and Siberia to the locality where it is thought better traces of the expedition must be found on the Polar Sea.—The enterprise has the support of the Admiralty and of the Royal Geographical Society. Its friends also anticipate the aid of Russia. Lady Franklin devotes £500 to the project. Official notice has been given that the Crystal Palace will be handed over to the contractors on the first of December.

France.—The affairs of the French Republic continue to engross public attention throughout Europe. There is no news of special importance from Paris.

In the Assembly, on the 11th, M. Daru read the report of the committee to whom had been referred the Electoral Law proposed by the President. It recommended the absolute rejection of the measure. The debate will commence on Thursday. Paris was never more tranquil.

Owing to the many and very pressing engagements of Kossuth, which had absorbed all his time, and greatly worn him, he would not sail for the United States until the 20th inst., when he would take passage in the steamer Humboldt, from Southampton.

The New Zealand and Sidney steamer, of the 18th of August, brought 412,000 in gold, and £28,000 value in diamonds, from the newly discovered mines. It is reported that in Frederick Valley, the miners are reaping rich harvests, finding lumps of gold of £12 and £14 value. Two men had procured £250 worth of gold in two days. The gold is found in large quartz veins.

Breakings.—The Circular of Messrs. Makin, states that flour has been taken less freely, but former prices are fully sustained. Western Canal, 1s. to 1s. 6d.; Philadelphia and Baltimore, 1s. 6d. to 1s. 6d.; Ohio, 1s. 6d. to 21s., and New Orleans, 1s. 6d. Cern is dull, no cheaper. Wheat in very small request, but prices are well sustained.

WILKESBARRE, Nov. 20.—The steamboat Enterprise, Capt. Converse, arrived here yesterday, down the Susquehanna river, from Bainbridge, New York, taking every one by surprise. Her arrival created a great sensation in our usually quiet borough, and she has been visited by crowds of curious spectators.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—This afternoon the wall of a brewery, adjoining the blacksmith shop, attached to the manufactory of R. Hoe & Co., fell, crushing in the roof of the shop, and killing two men, named Mackay and Brown, who were employed in the shop, and injuring a number of others. It is feared that others are buried in the ruins.

CLEANINGS.

Mr. Haupt, Superintendent of Transportation on the Pennsylvania Rail Road, has resigned.

The West Branch Telegraph is in successful operation to Bellefonte.

John Lovel, the Philadelphia pick pocket, who was tried at Harrisburg last week for stealing a gentleman's pocket book at the late State Fair, was convicted and sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years. Slappy Williams and Jack Gibson, are in prison awaiting their trial, which has been postponed until the January session. These scoundrels do not seem to fare so well in the country as they have heretofore in the city courts.

MR. WEBSTER.—In regard to the rumored resignation of the Hon. D. Webster, the Washington Correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says:—Mr. Webster has undoubtedly intended for some months to retire from office, and his resignation at this time may be permanent. When any other State besides Massachusetts shall nominate Mr. Webster, and a nomination is expected both in Vermont and New York, Mr. Webster will certainly resign.

A NEW PARTY.—It is proposed to set up a new party with Constructive Mileage for its platform. The Saco (Me.) Union puts up the following, as the Presidential ticket of the new party:

- For President, 2496 00 SAM HOUSTON, of Texas.
- For Vice President, 500 00 HANNIBAL HAMLIN, of Maine.
- Should the above ticket be elected, Hon. 2-064 Foulds, of Miss., would no doubt be Secretary of State, and it would be impossible to find for the Treasury Department fitter man than Hon. 4-098 Gwin, of California.

It is a fact not generally known, that of the $951,000 forming the half yearly interest last payable on the debt of Pennsylvania, not less than $630,000 was due to foreign holders, only $320,000 coming to domestic creditors. According to this, about thirty millions of our State securities must be held in Europe, and ten millions in America.

It is understood, says the New York Commercial, that the President has decided to remove Brigham Young, from the Governorship of Utah territory. We apprehend no other course was left to the Executive. His successor, however, will need to be well supported, if his authority is to be respected, as the Mormons appear disposed to be very refractory.

Two white, and two colored men, received twenty-one lashes each, at the whipping-post at New Castle, on Saturday last, as a portion of the punishment to which they had been sentenced for larcenies. One of the white men has sixty odd lashes to receive, which he gets by instalments as rapidly as his back heals, so as to avoid a repetition of the punishment.

CATTLE IN MARKET.—The Hartford Republican, the leading Free Soil paper in Connecticut, makes an earnest appeal to its friends in that State, to follow the example set by their brethren in Massachusetts, in coalescing with the Democratic party for State and Federal purposes. A large portion of the Democracy of Connecticut are described as prepared to accept any overtures that may be made to them.
