Destructive Conflagrations.

The Fire at Washington.

We mentioned in part of our edition last week that the Congressional Library in the Capitol at Washington had been partly destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning, December 24th. It is not known how the fire originated, as neither fire nor lights are permitted to be used in it. The room is warmed by flues, and it is supposed it caught from these. Of the loss sustained, the National Intelligencer speaks

We have stated above that about thirtyfive thousand volumes of books were destroyed; this is the estimate from the supposed number saved, which is twenty thousand, the original contents of the Library being about fifty-five thousand volumes in all .- The contents of the principal hall were consumed, the north room and Law Library not having been visited by the fire, owing to the thickness of the intervening walls. Besides the books, a number of superior paintings, hanging around the Library walls and between the alcoves, were included in the destruction. Of these we can call to mind Stuart's paintings of the first five Presidents; an original portrait of Columbus; a second portrait of Columbus; an original portrait of Peyton Randolph; a portrait of Bolivar; a portrait of Baron Steuben by fires. Pyne, an English artist of merit; one of Baron De Kalb; one of Cortez; and one of Judge Hanson, of Maryland, presented to the Library by his family. Between eleven and twelve hundred bronze voted medals of the Vattemare exchange, some of them more than ten centuries old, and exceedingly perfect, are amongst the valuastatue of Jefferson; an Apollo in bronze, by Mills; a very superior bronze likeness of Washington; a bust of Gen. Taylor by an Italian artist; and a bust of Lafayette by David.

We have only heard of three books saved from the Principal Library, namely, the Librarian's Register, an account book, and an odd volume of Lord Kingsbury's magnificent work on the Antiquities of Mexico. We must say that we consider the system adopted by the Government for the protection of the public buildings and property as essentially defective, as the various conflagrations that have taken place-first of the War Office building, next this very Library part of the Capitol in 1826, then of the Treasury building, next of the General Post Office edifice, and now the Congressional Library again -must prove.

The Washington Southern Press, speaking of the fire, says:

The extent of the loss inflicted by this disastrous fire it is impossible to even estimate. Since the act of Omar, no single fire has wrought such destruction of articles impossible to be replaced.-The cost of the books is estimated at about a quarter of a million of dollars; the damquarter of a million must also be considerable; but the great loss is in the destruction of the collection of rare and valuable works, MMS, and others-works which no expenditure of money, no toil, nor energy, can possibly again restore. Such a loss may well be regarded in the light of a general calamity; and the labors of the student, the researches of the writer, and the verification of facts by the politician, will all be retarded and prevented henceforth by this sweeping destruction of the authorities which could alone be found in that collection.

The loss is not a local but a general one; and over this funeral pyre of so much learning every educated man and the country will mourn. There are some things and settle their bills, or remit the amount which cannot be replaced, nor substitutes by mail. Our postmasters are generally found, and emphatically such were the obliging and attentive, and any money are now offered for sale Wholesale and Recollections which had accumulated in that Library since its foundation.

FIRE IN NEW YORK.

From the New York Courier, December 27. Extensive Fire-This morning about a quarter to six o'clock, the Chair manufactory of Mr. Buhler, No. 15 Bowery, was discovered to be on fire, and the alarm being given, quickly brought the fire department to the premises, but owing to the hydrants being firmly frozen, it was some time before water could be brought into requisition, and the delay thus occasioned resulted quisition, and the delay thus occasioned resulted in serious loss of property. The buildings on the Bowery, Nos, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15, and 15½, were destroyed. On Division street, the small brick buildings occupied as shops and dwellings, Nos. 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 were also consumed but most of their and 34, were also consumed, but most of their contents were saved by the Police and Firemen. The buildings destroyed on the Bowery were occupied as furniture, feather, and fancy stores. We could not obtain an accurate ac-count of the losses owing to the compression about the ruins, this forenoon. The Mechanics' Institute was damaged to the extent of about $800. This building is situated on the corner of Division street and the Bowery.—The entire loss will probably reach $150,000 or $200,000, which is partially insured.

FIRE AT BUFFALO, NEW YORK.

Buffalo, Dec. 27 .- Spalding's Exchange block, mostly occupied by lawyers; Erie Hall block, the bank of Attica, and the Bank of Lake Erie, with fifteen spacious stores on Main street, Erie, with fifteen spacious stores on Main street, opposite the Mansion House, were destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock this morning. Also, three elegant dwellings on Swan street. The Bank of Lake Erie got out nothing; their books, papers, and coin in the vault are safe. The Bank of Attica lost almost everything valuable. The contents of the law library were entirely destanced. Ladge Stevens lost his entire library. troyed. Judge Stevens lost his entire library and all of his papers. Judges Maston and Walker lost every paper. The total loss is roughly estimated at $200,000, on which there is about $100,000 insurance. Four men were injured by the falling of one of the burnt walls, one of whom belonging to the fire department, was severely burnt.

FIRES AT PHILADELPHA.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 .- One of the most PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—One of the most distructive fires that has ever visited our city, occurred early this morning. About I o'clock flames were seen issuing from Hart's building, at the corner of Chesnut and Sixth streets, which was speedily destroyed, together with several Book and Music stores, and Harper's Restaurant in the basement; the flames next communicated to the Shakespeare Building, on the opposite side of Sixth street, adjoining the Chestnut Street Theatre, which was totally consumed. Brown's Hotel on Chestnut street ad-joining Hart's building shared the same fate. About 3 o'clock the wall of Hart's Building fell into the street instantly killing two colored into the street, instantly killing two colored men and severely wounding several firemen and policemen; many others are supposed to have been killed, as at the time the wall fell the street was crowded with spectators.—The entire block on the West side of Sixth street, from Chestnut to Carpenter streets, is a heap of ruins. On the East side of Sixth street North side of Chestnut street, Hart's building, Brown's Hotel, Johnston's Law Book Store and several other valuable stores are completely destroyed.—Many other buildings on both sides of Sixth street are damaged, and the loss cannot be less than $200,000. The fire was not subdued until 9 o'clock this morning. The heaviest losses are, Dr. Schenck, whose establishment was completely destroyed; T. & J. W. Johnston, Law Booksellers, H. Blackiston, and Getz & Buck, Booksellers. Many music, periodical and other stores on Sixth street also suffered severely.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28th .- Workmen have been busy all day in removing the rubbish from the scene of the late fire at the corner of Sixth and Chestnut streets. The body of Mr. Haley has not yet been found. Wm. Baker, of the Mayor's Police, Jesse Pyle, and Jas. Cook, of the Morris Hose Co., are missing. It is feared that others are under the ruins.

It has since been ascertained that the two d men, Baker, one of the night police, and W. W. Haley, a lawyer, were the only persons killed. The latter was formerly a member of the State Legislature.]

DESTRUCTION OF BARNUM'S MUSEUM. The year closes disastrously with respect to ires. The elegant structure, known as Barnum's Museum, at the southeast corner of Chest-nut and Seventh streets, Philadelphia, was on Tuesday evening entirely destroyed by fire. It broke out about five o'clock in the afternoon, in the upper part of the Museum, which was devoted to theatrical exhibitions.

The flames spread rapidly through the upper portion of the establishment, and scarcely had the alarm been sounded by the State-House bell. exceedingly perfect, are amongst the valua-bles destroyed. Of the statuary burnt lator in the roof. The firemen were very early and rendered worthless, we recollect a at the scene of the conflagration, but owing to the fire originating in the lecture room, which was on the third floor, their efforts to save it were at once known to be unavailing. In a very short space of time, the fourth and fifth stories were on fire throughout, and soon after the upper portion was enveloped in a sheet of flame pouring, as it did, from all the windows and ertures in the roof, the scene was one of terrific grandeur Downwards the fire spread quite fast, and in half an hour it reached the Museum, on the second floor, which contained a large collection of curiosities, probably one of the best in the country, stuffed animals, birds and paintings—a large portion of the re mains of what was once known as Peale's Mu seum. These were mostly of a combustible character. The stores on the first floor, were occupied by G. H. Henderson & Co., booksellers; Lee & Walker and Edward L. Walker, music dealers and publishers. The principal contents of these stores were saved. The efforts of the firemen were principally directed to the surrounding properties, which, of course were in imminent danger of destruction.

were in imminent danger of destruction.

The dwelling adjoining, east, owned and occupied by J. Francis Fisher, was on fire at one time; his loss in furniture, by water, (which was thrown on his house copiously, to prevent the spread of the fire,) is estimated at $3000. There was a small insurance on the house, but none on the furniture. The Columbia House, and the above rates, by no7 about $50,000-insured for $30,000. The Martinetti Family lose all their properties and paraphernalia, which falls heavily upon them, and nearly every person connected with the establishment loses more or less.

eorge Guthrie vs. A. B. Norris and Henry Longsdorf, No. 73, November term, 1850. T. F. M'COY, Proth'y. Lewistown, Dec. 19, 1851.

Register's Notice.

ALL persons having Deeds or other Instruments of Writing in the Register and Recorder's Office, as well as in Orphans' Court business, are requested to call and get them without delay, as my term of office expires on the first December. Many fees small in amount individually, are due in all these offices, and of course I cannot afford to spend much time in their collection, yet as they form, in the aggregate, a sum of considerable importance to me, I trust a further notice will not be necessary. Executors and administrators of estates, as well as some four or five hundred owners of Deeds, which have been recorded but not lifted, are particularly invited to give me a calt.

J. L. McILVAINE. Lewistown, November 28, 1851.
