From California.

The steamship Daniel Webster, Capt. Baid. win, arrived at New York on Monday morning from San Juan, bringing California papers to the 14th ult. She also brings $200,000 on freight and $200,000 in the hands of pas-

A duel took place at San Francisco on the 15th of February, near the Presidio. The parties engaged were Justice A. Gorham and Dr. J. W. Hunter. They fought at ten paces, with pistols. At the first fire, Dr. Hunter's ball passed through the flesh near the hip of Judge Gorham, not injuring him seriously, however.

By the upsetting of a boat, four lives were lost in the bay at San Louis Obisco, and among the number drowned, was Judge Henry A. Tefft, of San Louis District.

Hon. H. A. Crabb, a member of the Assembly from the county of San Joaquin, introduced into that body, a bill "respecting fugitives from labor and slaves brought to this State prior to her admission into the Union," which, after debate and amendment, finally passed that body. It is, in brief, the application of the Fugitive Slave Law of the last Congress to the officers of the State Government.

A daring robbery was committed on the night of February 12th, in the office of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The robber entered by the door on Liedersdorff street. He entered the apartments where ten or twelve gentlemen were sleeping, carried their clothes into a passage and rifled their pockets of money, getting little however. One of the sleepers was aroused by his entrance and gave the alarm, but the robber escaped.

A man named J. L. Biscoe, from Sidney, has been committing various forgeries at Stockton. He was not arrested.

A number of robberies have been committed at Jackson, California, and the citizens were about organizing a Vigilance Committee.

The accounts from the mining regions continued favorable.

The small pox had broken out among the miners at Ling's Bar.

A man named St. John was arrested at Sacramento on the 12th, for attempting to abduct a young girl of fourteen from her father's house There being no law to meet his case, he was discharged. He is said to have a wife living in the Atlantic States.

The Grand Jury at Sacramento, after a careful examination of the case of the People vs. Green, for shooting Baker on the morning of the 11th instant, refused to find a bill, and allowed the defendant to go free.

By the steamer El Dorado, we have San such news as the papers contain, not already reported by the Daniel Webster.

The steamer Warren was lost on the night of the 31st of January, inside the bar at Astoria, on a sand drift known as Glatsop Split, where she was beached as the only means of saving the lives of the passengers. A boat was despatched to the shore for succor, but before assistance could reach the doomed vessel. she had broken up and gone to pieces, carrying down forty-two officers, passengers and crew, among whom was Captain Thompson. The ten who manned the boat to procure assistance from shore were the only persons saved.

Immediately following the news of the wreck of the Warren, we have an account of the loss of the steam propeller Sea Gull, Captain Tichenor. This vessel was also engaged in the Oregon and North California trade, and was lost on the bar at Humboldt Bay. She, like the Warren, was beached in order to save the passengers and crew, and fortunately with more success. All were landed in safety. The cargo and machinery were saved, although the vessel is a complete wreck.

The Quartermaster's schooner, Captain Lincoln, with a detachment of U.S. troops, and supplies for the post at Port Oxford, was cast away on the 2d ult., near the mouth of the Cowes river. No lives lost.

Although the winter is nearly over, very little rain has fallen, and the weather continues very delightful. In this respect there is but little difference between this season and last, The mines are continuing to give a steady yield, and new discoveries are being made daily -although there are loud complaints of the want of rain. Owing to the defective machinery employed in extracting gold from quartz, neraly all the companies organized expectations. Agriculture has received a large share of attention during the last fortnight. Immense crops of barley, onions, potatoes, and all kinds of vegetables, will be raised this year in all parts of the State. Indeed, it is expected that we shall be able to produce as much as will be required for home consumption.

Another attempt is being made to have a convention called to revise the constitution, and it is thought that the object of the supporters of this movement is to make California slave State. The movement has been gener ally condemned.

The country is quiet. Considerable apprehension is felt, in all the mining and farming districts, that the winter rains are over. Water was never more required in the mines than now. Appearances indicate that we shall yet have many days of wet weather before the long dry summer fairly sets in.

In Oregon all is quiet. The squabble between the Legislative body and the Judiciary, about the location of the seat of government, continues. Our dates are to the 7th instant.

DIABOLICAL ACT .- On Monday night of last week a dwelling in Petersburg, Perry county, occupied by the heirs of Jacob Keiser and partly by Mesers. Kinter & Sponsler, merwas blown up. A large quantity of powder had been placed under the building by some wicked wretch and a slow match placed to it. The explosion was heard two miles distance, and although the house and store goods were completely ruined, the widow o' the deceased and three young females asleep in the house escaped uninjured. The house was made a perfect wreck, and by the timely arrival of the citizens the fire was put out. The powder used for the purpose had been stolen from the warehouse some days previous Geo. Kinter, one of the firm, offered $200 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who were instrumental in blowing up the building-and soon after the reward was offered, said Kinter was arrested as the perpetrator of the act, and is now under bail for his uppearnnce to answer at the next court .- Perry Freeman.

SUSPECTED MURDER AT READING .- The Reading Democrat, of Saturday, says :-On Wednesday, the 3d instant, the dead body of a German pedier, who suddenly disappeared from the neighborhood of Bern township, some time last Fall, was found in the Schuylkill river, at Felix's Dam. The body was consider Fall, a dog which was known to have belonged to the deceased, was observed for weeks wandering about in the woods near where the body was discovered, howling pitieously, although repeated attempts were made to shoot him, and drive him away, still haunting the spot with a pertinacity which excited the curiosity of the neighbors and gave rise to suspicion that foul play had befallen his master. After the body was found, Dr. John Spartz made an examination, and discovered unmistakeable marks of a rifle ball. All the circumstances of this sad case lead to the belief that plunder was the cause of the murder. The villain who committed the bloody deed could have no other object than the possession of the valuable watches, rings, and other jewelry that the pedler was known to carry with him. He was probably shot near the spot where the dog already alluded to remained, and his body, after having been stripped of all his valuables, dragged to the dam, a mile distant, and thrown into the water, to obliteraate all traces of the horrible SHOCKING TRAGEDY .- An atrocious murder was committed at Stewarts Town, York county, Pennsylvania, on the 10th instant. The victim was a little girl, named Eliza Ann Busler, daughter of Jacob Buster, a poor laborer. The particulars are briefly these:-The family residing at home, consists of the parents and four children. The father, in company with the eldest boy, aged about 10 years, left home early in the morning for the scene of their daily labor. The mother left home about 7 or 8 o'clock. A. M., to procure some necessaries at the store of Mr. Joel Metzel. The children left at home during this time, were Catharine B., a girl aged about 12 years, the little girl (the victim) and a child aged I year. Mrs. B. had just reached her husband on her way home, about 1 o'clock, P. M., when the news was brought that their little girl was murdered by having her throat cut. Such proved to be the The statement of Catharine B, aged 12, was, that she in company with the others, were outside the door, when an old man small in size, with grey beard, wearing a yellowish or brown suit, somewhat ragged, a white slouch hat, torn, came to them, seized her sister by the arm and led her into the house; C. heard her sister scream twice, when she made her escape with the babe; she afterwards saw the man come out and go off. She then returned to the house, and found her sister dead, and the butcher knife, with which the deed had been committed, laying near her, covered with blood. She then took the child and ran off to Mr. James Johnston, about a half mile distant, and gave the alarm. A knife found was covered nearly to the back with blood, and is supposed to be the instrument used.—The throat was cut back until the knife was stopped by the Francisco dates of February 14th. We subjoin bone, both main arteries being completely severed. The person killed was a little girl, scarcely 10 years of age; and suspicions are strong that she was murdered by her sister, Catharine B. Busler, aged only 12 years, because the deceased threatened to tell her mother that Catharine had stolen some trifling article from the closet.

ANOTHER FIGHT .- By the arrival of the steamship Fanny, Capt. Talbot, from the Brazos, we have papers from Brownsville to the 28th ult. It appears from the folfor that purpose have failed to realize their lowing, which we take from the American Flag of the 28th, that another fight had taken place between Carvajal and the Government troops, and that the efforts of the revolutionists have been again defeated.

On Friday, the 20th, Carvajal crossed the river a few miles below the Rio Gran- of de City, and marched slowly up towards Camargo. On Saturday, they were met by the forces under the Mexican leaders; at that time the forces under Carvajal amounted to an indefinite number, ranging between 200 and 500-reports differ so widely-sixteen of whom were Indians; also a 12-pound gun and a good supply of ammunition. The Mexican forces charged on Carvajal with uncommon impetuosity, with 250 cavalry. On receiving the first charge, a large body of Carvajal's troops broke and fled in great disorder. The men who first commenced the stampede are said to have composed the command of Capt. Nunez, and were mostly if not all Mexicans; but in their progress they took with them many Americans. These fled the field and never returned. Those few, not over eighty men, who stood the onset, repulsed the charging party by the discharge of their gun, double loaded with cannister, making great slaughter in their ranks. The charge was repeated three different times with the like result. After this the Mexican forces retired, and crossed the San Juan river; also, about this time the remaining forces of Carvajal left in small parties, it now being between 11 and 12 o'clock at night, and quite dark. In a few hours from that time the battle field was deserted by both contending parties .-When it became known to the Mexicans that Carvajal had left, they returned and took possession of the ground, their opponents having left their only gun, ammunition wagon, &c. The Mexican general also reports one hundred and twenty stand of arms taken at the same time.

Five engines were sent for, and they poured an immense stream upon the mob, who, becoming exasperated, returned the attack with a shower of stones, and afterwards demolished all the windows in the factory. Several parties were seriously injured. The magistrates subsequently investigated the case, and find the manager five pounds for his illegal conduct on the occasion.
