THE WEATHER .- Taken altogether, the past winter has been an extraordinary one, and will probably long live in the memory of the rising generation, as well as the "oldest inhabitant." Up to the first of more. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday a mixture of hail, rain and snow descended, the latter however predominating; on Wednesday the sun shone brightly but yesterday morning proved as delusive as ever, for it was again snowing!

This unfavorable weather has prevented supervisors and others from making and putting in order the roads under their care. and all are of course at present in bad condition. The same remark will apply to our streets-but it can't be helped; and "what can't be cured, must be endured."

This morning the sun shines pleasantly, but whether it will continue so more than an hour beyond this present writing, this deponent saveth not.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- The locomotive of the train going west on Wednesday morning, broke an axle this side of Huntingdon, tearing up the track about 100 feet, and finally upset, together with the baggage car, smashing the latter into pieces. None of the passengers or hands were seriously injured. This accident detained the train from the west until a late hour on Wednesday night.

A canal bridge in Granville township, with Joshua Merrison's team standing on it, gave way a few days since, precipitating horses and wagon into the canal. It appears they were loading wheat into a boat below at the time. Two or three horses were somewhat injured, the wagon partly broken, and several bushels of wheat lost by bags bursting.

Jacob Hoffman, Esq.

The North American, in speaking of JACOB HOFFMAN, Esq., of Berks county, the nominee of the Whig State Convention for Canal Commissioner, remarks that in his nomination the convention was particularly fortunate. Mr. Hoffman is a native of Pennsylvania, one of the good old German stock which has done so much to promote the interests and sustain the character of the Commonwealth; and he possesses, in a very high degree, the qualities necessary to the successful administration of the office for which he has been elected. His mind, naturally acute, has been cultivated by diligent training; and he has directed his attention, particularly, to the study of our public works, with which, in all their relations and dependencies, he is thoroughly familiar. He has, moreover, unbounded energy, untiring industry, and a vigor of purpose which no obstacle can overcome. Should he be elected, as we earnestly hope and fully believe that he will be, no consideration of false delicacy towards his colleagues will restrain him from instituting and pursuing those enquiries which may be necessary for a proper exposition of the gross mismanagement which is now known to prevail. In him the public may look for a vigilant and jealous guardianship of their interests-a strict supervision April thirty-two snows had fallen, and of all that properly comes within the since then we have had half a dozen sphere of his official action, and a faithful and intelligent discharge of every duty. When the campaign fairly opens, we have no doubt Mr. Hoffman will present himself personally before the people, and discuss with them freely, face to face, the for some hours, and hopes began to be en- topics involved in the candidature upon tertained that the spell was at last broken; which he has entered; and we are quite sure that, wherever he may present him-

HARRISBURG, April 3, 1852. In the House, yesterday, Mr. Bonham from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill providing for a loan of five millions of dollars, the bonds to be issued with cupons attached, and to bear an interest of five per

This loan is designed to raise and appropriate funds for the purpose of paying bonds of the State, now overdue, those to come due in 1853, and the bonds issued for payment of domestic creditors. According to the provisions of the bill, proposals are to be issued for the taking of the loan in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, London, &c , and the new loan is to be expressly exempted from the payment of any State tax. The measure is an important one, and may have the effect to re-establish the credit of the State on a firm basis. I doubt, however, such an effect to any considerable extent, whilst new loans for new purposes are being made, and the real debt of the State is being increased. The North Branch Canal bill. passed several days since, will add an increase of eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the debt. The demand for the Portage railroad is $200 000, which will of course be granted, and the probable amount for rebuilding the Columbia railroad is not likely to be less than $2-10,000 more, thus making a positive increase of the public debt of twelve hundred and fifty thousand, or a million and a quarter of dollars during the present year. To this is to be added a large amount of floating debt, the amount of which is not reported, and is therefore not known. This is likely to be paid out of the proceeds of the new five million loan, and may add to the established debt of the Commonwealth, half a million more, making an increase of acknowledged debt of one and three quarter million of dollars. I say acknowledged debt, because the last half million, if the amount suggested be correct, although as really due as any other debt of the State, being a floating debt, does not appear as it ought to, in the liabilities of the State. A subject of very interesting inquiry at this time is as to what length of time it will require to get the State clear of debt, and the people freed from the enormous taxes, according to this rate of proceedings.

The Union Canal is open its entire length, and boats are now leaving daily from Middletown for Reading.

We hear many people complaining of weakness, general debility, &c., which is without doubt the result of too close confinement and application. A daily ride of a few miles, on horseback, will be the standing prescription of a judicious physician in such a case, and many have no horse at their command, or are ignorant of horsemanship. To such we recommend the use of Dr. Hoofland's Ger-MAN BITTERS, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia; they will always cure, and to those who can ride we would say use it.
