The locofoco State Central Committee have published an address in which they argue that Mr. Buchanan is the only man who can carry Pennsylvania as the federal candidate for President! Can the waters of the Juniata be made to run to (instead of from) the Alleghenies?

Congressional Mousing.

The Committee on Elections in the House of Representatives at Washington, in the case of Hendrick B. Wright, contesting the seat of Henry M. Fuller, as Representative in Congress from the Luzerne district, have reported a resolution declaring Mr. Fuller's seat vacant, on the ground that the election was illegal, and asking a new election. The matter was passed by informally, but would be called up for final disposition. The district in which Mr. Fuller was elected is strongly locofoco, and of course all that his unprincipled opponents desire is to refer the matter back, in the hope that a light vote at a special election might send the "jeweller" to Congress. Well, should a partisan majority second these disgraceful movements, Monsieur Wright may perhaps again discover that "there's many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip," and in that case, his political burial will be as deep as a locofoco senator once assigned to James K. Polk in the event of a certain statement proving true.

"The Democratic party stands before the country as the only party with principles clearly defined, comprehensive and liberal enough to embrace the whole republic."

Thus exclaims our friend of the Hollidaysburg Standard, in an article "dissolving" the whig party, and immediately below gives the following statement, which we think is proof conclusive that the "democracy" is "comprehensive and liberal enough to embrace the whole republic," spoils and all, whenever they can get a chance:

"How they do it.—The present Canal Commissioners, we are told, are economical, and appoint economical men (and a great many of them at that) to office. We shall not dispute the assertion, but we should like to know what kind of economy governed them in giving the contract for the repair castings to Ex-Governor Porter. In short, we should like to know what they gain by it. We think we have a slight inkling of the manner in which things are working. A week or two ago a boat load of 'chairs' for the repairs on the Portage Road, arrived at the wharflock from Harrisburg. One of the officers invited the Captain of the boat to look in and weigh, which he politely refused, at the same time pulling from his breeches pocket a pass for his load toll free! Hereafter it has been an established custom for those who furnish repair castings, to deliver them free of charge at the depot. It appears, however, that a discrimination has been made of the veteran Ex-Governor, and he is allowed to carry his repair materials toll free; no more, if the truth was known, in all probability the Kickapoo talk of his re-organized excellency induced the economical Commissioners to pay the freight on them. If not, we trust he will make it off them, in addition to full price for his castings. Old Davy is an able financier—his political services, too, are worth something, and he knows it. A day of reckoning might be set apart for the board, but the march of each individual member out of office will take him so far into obscurity that he will never be heard of again."

"Old Davy," who is so handsomely noticed in the Standard, it may not be amiss to say, is a senatorial delegate to the Democratic convention to nominate a locofoco candidate for President!

Professor Levatt will give a second entertainment this evening at the Town Hall, on his novel invention, the Rock Harmonicon, consisting of 40 blocks of solid stone, taken from the quarry in its primitive state, and laid on a frame, by which excellent music is obtained. The performance is interspersed with comic songs, Shakespearean readings, &c., all which are well calculated to while away an evening. The third and last exhibition will be given on Saturday evening.

Hon. THOMAS BELL will probably be appointed Judge of the Supreme Court, in place of Judge Coulter, deceased.

Letter Writers.

A number of scribblers have recently been writing to Gen. Scott for his opinions on all sorts of subjects. He has repeatedly declined answering their interrogatories, referring his inquisitors to the record and teachings of his life. Some months ago he wrote a letter of this purport. Upon this letter and the general propriety of requiring pledges of every nature from political candidates, the Kennebec (Maine) Journal justly and properly remarks:

"We think the General has hit the nail very nearly on the head. The whole history of politics shows that expression of opinions extorted from candidates in this way amount to little, and generally but little weight is given them by intelligent voters. They serve only to place weapons in the hands of hypocritical, carping opponents, whenever a sentence can be elicited that will bear misrepresentation or twofoldification. A reply, if it be ever so favorable to the views of the interrogators, rarely makes a supporter of an enemy. The true criterion whereby to judge of a man's future course, (as General Scott has very properly intimated) is in his past history—his well known character, and the principles by which his whole life has been governed. In these respects, the friends of General Scott fear not the most rigid scrutiny—they invite it. He has been a public servant all his days, and no man can put his finger upon aught that is dishonorable or dishonest in his words or his deeds. No stain of speculation or fraud blackens his fair name—no colossal fortune has been accumulated by him at the expense of the country, although he has grown old in the most responsible stations of the public service. While holding high military rank, and in a position where war would always serve to increase his honor and renown, he has still shown himself pre-eminently a peace-maker, and in several critical emergencies, war has been averted and bloodshed prevented by the disinterested exertion of his best energies and talents to that end. His diplomatic and administrative qualities, as shown in these delicate and important trusts, as well as in connection with his military operations, are undeniably great. Gen. Scott, then, is honest and capable. That he is patriotic, and a devoted friend of the Union and the Constitution as well as of human freedom, is also undeniable. No man can be found who doubts it. With this view of his character and principles, we are willing to take him, without electioneering pledges of any sort—feeling perfectly confident that he will administer the government upon the principles of the honored framers of the Constitution and the founders of the Republic. We honor him for the self respect he has shown in refusing to cater for popularity by replying at length to everybody who wants to know his special opinion upon passing questions of the day; and we respect him for it the more that he claims nothing at the hands of the whigs, but simply consents to serve them as a candidate, if elected by the free, unbiased and independent suffrages of the delegates of the Whig party, in an open and fair convention."

The North Carolina Whig State Convention brought its session to a close on Tuesday. John Kerr of Caswell county, was nominated for Governor.—A series of resolutions was adopted, the first of which contains a strong declaration in favor of President Fillmore, for re-election; the second favors the selection of Graham, for the Vice Presidency. The third approves the determination to support the nominee of the Whig National Convention, if unequivocally in favor of the Compromise. The fourth opposes the doctrine of intervention. The fifth disapproves of the public lands being given for the benefit of the new States. The sixth declares the unwavering attachment of the Whig party of the State to the Constitution and the Union, and declares that all efforts to enfeeble them will be resisted. Other resolutions upon matters of State policy, were also adopted.

New Cider Mill.
The Harrisburg Telegraph speaks very highly of a new cider mill recently invented by W. O. Hickok, of Harrisburg. "It is a convenient and portable cider mill and press, of the most perfect and compact order, which can be driven by hand or horse power, and made to perform rapid execution. We saw one in operation yesterday, at his machine shop, and never saw the work of grinding and pressing so well done before. The apples were too expensive to be used largely, costing $2.50 a bushel, but enough was done to show the operation of the mill perfectly, and to the satisfaction of all present. The cider is pressed from the punice without the use of straw, and is consequently much freer from sediment than that made in the usual way."

These mills, and smaller ones, cost only $35.
Governor Kossuth reached Boston on Tuesday morning, and was escorted to the State-House by a military detachment, composed of thirty-four companies. An immense throng lined all the footways. The State-House was almost hidden from view by innumerable flags and streamers, displayed in honor of the city's guest.

HUNTINGTON COUNTY.—The Whigs of Huntington county held a meeting on Tuesday evening, 13th inst., and adopted a series of resolutions in favor of Scott, Hoffman, and the National Administration. They also adopted the following resolutions:
On motion, Resolved, That we request the County Committee to call the County Convention on Tuesday, the 15th day of June next, and not in August as heretofore.
On motion, Resolved, That this meeting now proceed to elect Congressional Delegates to meet those of the other counties in the district.
On motion, Resolved, That S. L. Glasgow, Esq., Col. J. A. Doyle and Col. John C. Watson, and they are hereby appointed, Congressional Delegates to meet those of the other counties in the district, to place in nomination a candidate for Congress.
On motion, Resolved, That this meeting recommend to the Whigs of the counties composing this Congressional District to appoint Delegates to meet at — on Friday, the 9th day of July next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress.

BURNING OF A STEAMBOAT.—The steamboat Pocahontas, from Annapolis bound to New Orleans, with 2,369 bales of cotton, took fire on the 16th inst., and was burnt to the water's edge in less than half an hour. The boat and cargo are a total loss. Ten persons, including the late Sheriff of Arkansas, a lady and three of her children, the cabin boy and two firemen, either perished in the flames or were drowned in attempting to escape from the burning boat.

The great yield of Mr. Dorris' Gold Mine in South Carolina is attracting considerable attention in that State. The Edgefield Advertiser gives the result of the operations for the month of March, as follows:—Total produce, 26,167 pennyweights, making an average for each working day of about 1000 dwts. This daily yield is worth nearly one thousand dollars, which is proved by the fact that 4623 dwts. already carried to the mint by a responsible agent, have been sold for something over $4300. Pretty fair for eight hands, in South Carolina diggings.

John W. Andrews, of Norristown, has recently taken out a patent for a new plan of burning brick with anthracite coal. By this mode they can be made at a less cost, and are equal in quality to those made in the ordinary way.

CALIFORNIA FORTUNES.—It is calculated that out of every hundred persons who have gone to California, fifty have been ruined, forty no better than they would have been had they remained at home, five a little better, four something better still, and one has made a fortune.

The steamboat Prairie State, whilst rounding out from the landing at Pekin, on the Illinois river, on Saturday morning, collapsed the flues of her boiler, killing, scalding and wounding a number of persons, mostly the hands of the boat, or deck passengers.

George Koppenheffer, Esq., (Whig) Register of Wills, &c., of Dauphin county, died a few weeks ago after a severe illness, and Governor Bigler has appointed Valentine Hummel, Jr., (Loco) his successor, who will hold the office by virtue of this appointment, until after the next General Election.

MURDERER.—A portly gentleman, rather good-looking, and well and neatly dressed, in broadcloth, has been found murdered near Tanamaque, Pa. Nothing was found upon his person except two silk handkerchiefs, marked "L. T." supposed to be the initials of his name.

Artificial Ultramarine is made in St. Louis by a German, named Scheller, who learned the art in Bavaria. He says the materials for its manufacture are abundant in the United States, and that it can be made here as cheap as in Europe. This pigment is one of the most costly which is used in the arts.

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts has decided the great Quaker suit, in which about $300,000 worth of property was involved. The decision is in favor of the Society of Friends, of New England, and against the few who seceded from them in 1845, under the name of Wilbur meeting.

At the last dates from Rio de Janeiro, March 16, the yellow fever had been extensively fatal among the shipping at Rio, and was also prevailing on shore. Many of the merchants were leaving the city to avoid it. A Swedish ship had lost all her officers and crew by the epidemic. No U. S. vessels were at Rio at that date.

In the British Register of Deaths for the month of March a remarkable case is mentioned: "A lunatic hair-dresser died at Peckham Asylum of peritonitis, produced by his having swallowed the handle of a table-spoon. On a post mortem examination 'thirty-two handles of table-spoons, about a dozen of nails, two or three stones, and a button were found in the stomach of the deceased.'"

GREEN CORN.—The New Orleans Picayune of the 21st inst., acknowledges the receipt of half a dozen ears of green corn, raised in the garden of a friend in that city. The editor adds: "While they are shivering with their snows and cold winds in the 'Athens of America,' here in New Orleans we are luxuriating in the midst of the rarest vegetables of summer."

EXCAVATING CORN.—The French rogues can remove one side of a silver coin with a very thin file, and saw, cut out the silver in the middle, fill up with better metal, solder on the surface again, and leave the piece looking as before! Most of these pieces altered bear the effigy either of Louis XVIII., Charles X. or Louis Philippe. The fraud is first detected at the Bank of France. The deterioration of the coins thus altered is about seven-tenths.

HEAVY SENTENCE OF A WOMAN.—In the Municipal Court, Chief Justice Wells sentenced Margaret Russell, who was lately convicted of receiving and secreting $2000 of stolen money, to five years in the House of Correction. Opportunity was given the prisoner to make restitution, before sentence, but through her counsel, she refused.—The money was stolen from a Vermont, named Thompson, last fall, by one Sullivan, who is now serving a term of five years in the State Prison.—Boston Transcript.

BURNING OF A STEAMBOAT.—The steamboat Pocahontas, from Annapolis bound to New Orleans, with 2,369 bales of cotton, took fire on the 16th inst., and was burnt to the water's edge in less than half an hour. The boat and cargo are a total loss. Ten persons, including the late Sheriff of Arkansas, a lady and three of her children, the cabin boy and two firemen, either perished in the flames or were drowned in attempting to escape from the burning boat.

Pretty fair for eight hands, in South Carolina diggings.

STRANGE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.—Hans Wilson, of Steubenville, Ohio, who died on the 21st, ult., in the 82d year of his age, bequeathed, in his will to his only daughter, $1000; to the widow of his only son, the wife of Rev. Dr. Cox, of Piqua, $300; the balance of his fortune, estimated at $200,000, he divided in small sums to different churches in his town, and in large sums to foreign and domestic missionary societies.

A BIG FISH.—A catfish was caught in the Schuylkill, a few days since with a set-net by Richard Swaincock, of Norristown, which measured 20 1/2 inches in length, 4 1/2 inches between the eyes, and weighed 4 1/2 pounds. This is not quite so large as the catfish used for towing flat-boats on the Ohio river, but is a very sizeable article for the Schuylkill. [Catfish 20 inches in length and over are frequently caught in the Lewistown dam.]

The two prisoners, Haycock and Winans, who lately escaped from the New Jersey State Prison, have both been retaken. The former became exhausted in travelling from Trenton to New Brunswick, and his feet being swollen so that he could not walk. Winans left him. Haycock remained hidden till nearly starved, when he crawled on his hands and knees to a farm-house, and wished to be sent back to prison. He was a most pitiable object, and after being relieved, he was sent to Trenton.

The Rev. Ephraim Judson, a clergyman, settled in Norwich, (Conn.) in 1771, was an exceedingly quaint and original preacher. Remarking, in one of his sermons, upon the excuses made by the guests invited to the wedding feast, he observed that one who had bought five yoke of oxen simply retreated to be excused, while the one who married a wife absolutely declared that he could not come. "Hence learn," said the preacher, "that one woman can pull harder than five yoke of oxen."

MINNESOTA.—A correspondent of the Albany Register, writing from Minnesota, says: "It is a singular fact that the ordinary field birds and songsters so common in old settlements, and also the honey bee, unknown here before, have migrated hither with civilized man. The Indians say that the rattlesnakes follow in his wake also. He that it may, while they are numerous further down the Mississippi, they have not made their debut into this locality. In the neighborhood of Sank Rapids, however, some have been killed, where, it is said, they were never seen till recently."

The Minnesota Pioneer gives an account of a man named John Stean, who was recently found dead on his feet near St. Paul's. He was an Englishman, between 60 and 70 years of age; he served throughout the Mexican War, and had last built himself a cabin in the woods, and shut himself up to winter. His neighbors not having seen him for some time, two of them went to his cabin, which they found locked, and the foot of his bed, dead and frozen stiff. He had a severe pair of pantaloons, and in a belt about his waist $270 in gold. He had evidently been dead some weeks.

CATHOLIC NATIONAL COUNCIL.—On the 9th day of May next, the National Catholic Council will assemble at the Cathedral in Baltimore, and will be composed of thirty-two bishops, (six of them archbishops.) Archbishop Kendrick will preside. Each bishop will be attended by a clergyman as theologian, making the council to consist of fifty-two members. Several hundred ecclesiastics will be in attendance, as well as a large concourse of persons, to witness these interesting ceremonies, many of which will be public. This is the last general council of the Roman Church for ten years, though there will be provincial councils in all the archbishoprics every two years.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Chevalier Hulsmann has obtained leave of absence from his government for an indefinite period, and will shortly leave for Europe. This has been granted him in consequence of his representations that he could hold no intercourse of any kind with Mr. Webster. He will, therefore, absent himself till Mr. Webster retires from the State Department. The relations between the two governments are not, however, interrupted.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

The House has had under consideration the Senate Judicial Omnibus bill, and progressed through several sections. This bill is one of the most important of the session, as, if carried, it will tend to decrease, to some extent, private legislation, and render many difficult questions in law plain and unequivocal. Considerable time was spent in the discussion of a section which provides that no defaulter shall hold office of any kind under the Commonwealth.

A bill has been reported in the House by the Committee on Ways and Means, taxing concealed property. The third section provides that assessors of the Commonwealth shall, after the first of June next, apply a signet—such as is used in post offices—to the face of every bond, note or other security for the payment of money, making an impression with indelible ink on every such security "assessed for 1852," or whatever year the assessment may be made.

In the Senate, on the 28th, the Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, returning with his objections, the bill to incorporate the Mechanics' Saving Institution of Harrisburg.

The Committee of Conference on the apportionment bill for the election of Representatives in Congress, reported that the joint committee had agreed upon a report, which was submitted and read, whereupon a tumultuous and excited discussion arose, which lasted a considerable time.

The question was finally taken on agreeing to the report, and it was adopted—yeas 19, nays 12.

A motion was then immediately made to reconsider the vote, which being agreed to, considerable discussion followed, and the further consideration of the subject was then postponed for the present—yeas 18, nays 14.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the General Appropriation Bill, which was continued under discussion until the adjournment.

HOUSE.—The House, agreeably to the order, resumed the consideration of the Judicial Omnibus Bill, which was discussed without a vote until the close of the session.

A bill to incorporate the Sand Mountain and Laurel Run turnpike road company, in Mifflin and Centre counties, passed the House finally.

As the session approaches its close, it is almost useless to make a note of the proceedings, as half that is done one day is undone the next.

Legislation in New Jersey.

Our readers will probably remember that considerable crowing was done by our locofoco friends over the last New Jersey election, which was heralded forth as a great "democratic victory." The following proceedings towards the close of the session, which throughout was a most disgraceful one, will give some idea of the dignified body who made laws for the Jersey Blues:

"Mr. Speaker! Mr. Speaker!—rap, rap, rap! I offer the following resolution, which I trust will be adopted without a dissenting voice:

Resolved, That the 'bricks' in members' hats be appropriated to the erection of an additional wing to the Lunatic Asylum!

Adopted with immense applause.

The following resolution was then offered: Resolved, That the Clerk inform the Senate that this House is now ready to go into joint meeting for the appointment of coroners to hold an inquest on the dead body of the Maine Law, which was adopted.

The following was then offered by the same gentleman: Resolved, That Messrs. Sandford and Boyle be invited to dance the Fisher's Hornpipe!

The chair decided this resolution out of order. An appeal was taken from this decision.

The Chair—All in favor of sustaining the chair will say 'aye'—the ayes have it! (roars of laughter.)

Mr. Speaker—I offer the following: Resolved, To be serious—that the Speaker sing a song.

Mr. Speaker—I offer the following as a substitute: Resolved, That Messrs. Cline, Shay and Mayhew be appointed to make arrangements for a "shin dig," to be had in the rotunda, and that the front seats be reserved for the ladies.—Mr. Cline to perform on the jawsharp, Mr. Shay on the tamborine, Mr. Mayhew on the bull-fiddle, and Mr. Young on the bone cassinetts.

The substitute was unanimously adopted.

We shall be much mistaken if the people of that State have not had enough of such legislation for ten years at least.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—A stable and two horses were burned this morning at the corner of 12th and Lombard streets. The Shuller Hose Company, while returning from the fire, were attacked on Lombard street near 8th, by a gang of rowdies belonging to another company. Policemen Watson and Jones, in attempting to stop the riot, were attacked and struck with brick and other missiles. They then drew their revolvers and fired upon the assailants, and James Gillespie was struck in the back by a ball, and it is supposed is mortally wounded. The officers have surrendered themselves to await an investigation.

HOOPER'S GERMAN BITTERS.—These celebrated Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, 129 Arch street, Philadelphia, are performing astonishing cures throughout the whole country. We can bear witness to their curative powers in the case of a friend of ours who had the Liver Complaint, and who had tried almost every other medicine, but without effect. After taking a few bottles of these Bitters he was entirely cured. To those who are similarly afflicted we recommend them to take the preparation, knowing that they will cure the disease spoken of, and many others to which "flesh is heir to." There is a spurious article made in Philadelphia. The only place to get the genuine article is 129 Arch street, Philadelphia, of Dr. Jackson, or his agents throughout the country.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER! Important to Dyspepsia.—Dr. J. S. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN, The True Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, prepared from the KENNEL, or the FOURTH STOMACH OF THE OX, under the direction of BALDWIN LIEBIG, the greatest Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., Philadelphia. This is truly a wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Consumption and Debility, curing Nature's own method by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric Juice. Pamphlets, containing Scientific evidences of its value, furnished by agents gratis. See notice among the medical advertisements.
