The Democratic Platform.

The manifesto of principles put forth by the recent Democratic Convention, says the Baltimore American, reiterates those negative dogmas so often announced by that party. #### From California.

From the San Francisco Alta Californian, May 16. NEWS OF THE FORTNIGHT.

Since the sailing of the last steamer but ittle of importance has transpired. Our State Legislature, after a long and tedious session of exactly four months, adjourned on Tuesday, the 16th inst. The early part of the session was marked with unavoidable delay; and even after the seat of government was temporarily removed to a habitable spot, until the Saturday previous to the adjournment. Then followed three memorable days in the history of California Legislation, during which short period some seventy bills, of all descriptions, were hurried through in great confusion. Whatever may be said of the quantity, the quality of some of them was most detestable. Fat offices for friends rose in a trice all over the State at a wave of

The Governor was given the appointment of various unnecessary flour inspectors to be posted on the coast. For the interior he was allowed to name some twenty-five or thirty friends to take the census forsooth—one to be course receive confirmation anew at the hands located in each county. And in short, a big strike was made to throw democratic officers into every section of the State at no mean sularies, in view of the Presidential campaign. In relation to mining operations, the Sacramento Union says that the advices from all parts of the mining districts are highly favorable. The miners are very generally receiv-ing fair remuneration for their labor; and while there are fewer instances of extraordi-nary individual fortune, the average yield per man is evidently increasing by the applica-tion of science and well constructed machinery. Instead of the occupation being, as formerly, a kind of roving, hap-hazard excursion, it is now regarded as a regular, h gitimate pursuit, upon which men enter with the same view of permanency and system as upon any other avocation in life. In placeror surface mines, which two years ago, with the imperfect machinery then in use, would not have yielded an income equal to the expense of living, miners are now making from four ten dollars per day. Earth that will yield two cents per bushel, or, in mining phraseology, a cent a bucket, can be very profitably

General Pierce in Congress.

We find in the Washington Republic the following record of the Congressional doings of the Democratic candidate for the Presi-"In his second Congressional term he distinguished himself by his hostility to harbor and river improvements. In June, 1836, he voted against the bill "making additional appropriations for the Delaware Breakwater. and for certain harbors, and removing obstructions in and at the mouths of certain rivers, and for other purposes, for the year 1836," A few days subsequently, General Jackson signed the bill.

At the same session Mr. Pierce voted against the bill "making appropriations for mentioned," which was also afterwards approved by General Jackson. At the same session he voted against " the bill to continue This election took place in the the Cumberland Road, in the States of Ohio, the first substantial response from New Eng-land to the nomination of Pierce and King-us from arriving at Mr. Pierce's opinions on this question of improvements-of roads, rivers and harbors-by the Federal Government. Mr. Clay and Mr. Webster voted for this bill. Mr. Pierce, in entire consistency with his whole course on this and cognate subjects, voted against it! We would like to know if our friends, Messrs. Henn and Clarke, of Iowa, propose to go into the next canvass before their people as the advocates of a candidate who is not only pledged against the improvement of harbors and rivers, but against granting Federal aid by the appropriation of alternate sections to railroads, even on the condition of their carrying the United States mails twenty years for nothing. We do not propose, just at present, to fol-low Mr. Pierce through his Senatorial career.
