TER GAZETTE.

A friend requests us to give place to the following lines, written by D. R., while on a visit to the scenes of his childhood:

TO LEWISTOWN. Home of my birth! I love thee still, Tho long I've wandered from thee, Thy Creek, thy Mountain, and the Rill That winds along above thee.

I love to wander round and see The levely haunts, where, when a boy, I sported o'er with merry glee, Midst pleasure that knew no alloy.

I love to think of friends who shared Those pleasing childish sports with me, When trouble—sorrow—naught had dared To cross our path to spoil our glee.

But time has changed that lively scene, And silvered o'er our heads with gray But still I can't forget the green Called Eden, where we used to play. Far, far, I've roamed since first I left

The Juniata's lovely stream, Where every turn, and nook, and cleft I've known-but now 'tis like a dream.

'Tis strange—how memory clings to home, To scenes and things of childhood's hour: To friends who o'er the world may roam, Or those within their natal bower

And still among the friends and things I've lost and found since far away; There's nothing missing like the spring, That through the gun barrel forced its way.

And now, 'Old Town,' a long farewell, I ne'er may visit you again, But on thee memory still shall dwell, So long as you and friends remain,

Letter from Oregon.

Extract of a Letter from James K. Kelly, Esq., to a friend in Lewistown, dated

OREGON CITY, June 5th, 1852. You ask me to give you my opinions of the advantages, if any, which Oregon possesses over Pennsylvania to one in your circumstances of life. It is, with me, always a matter of delicacy to use inducements to persuade any one to emigrate here, simply for the reason that all men do not see things in the same light, and it is possible that if I should induce any one to come hither to live, such person might not be as well satisfied with the country as I am. Still I am quite willing to express my own opinions, and give means, bestow as much labor by ploughing and harrowing the ground in which he sows his wheat, and yet on an average I think, (from all I can learn from men of undoubted veracity) there is no doubt but that an acre of land here will yield more bushels of wheat than one in the Kishacoquillas Valley, and better grain too. This is saying a great deal, I know, but I beg you will allow me to say it before November. Again a farmer in Oregon, if he be indolent, as is too often the case, can one hundred or one hundred and fifty miles let his land from which he has reaped a crop of wheat, remain without ploughing, and he will the next year have a fair, average crop, that is self sown, or as they call it here, a volunteer crop. This, I admit, is not the proper manner to farm, but it is too often done, nevertheless. Here also a farmer is freed from all care of providing food for his cattle more than six inches deep, and then it does together with some other public works: not remain on the ground but a day or two at a time, and the farmer turns his cattle upon

ALLOTMENT ON THE Po his fields or the plains, where they graze Section throughout the year.

Since the discovery of the gold mines in California, in 1848, market produce of all kinds in Oregon has commanded extravagant prices, and even now, when there is stability n our markets, they are such that a farmer who attends to his business, cannot fail to become rich in a few years. Nor is there any likelihood that there will ever be a want o market, for all our farmers can raise and at higher prices than in any of the Atlantic There are still vast tracts of land in Oregon, both prairie and wood land, and of excellent quality, that are yet unclaimed. It is true, much of this land is remote from the settlements, and of course will be occu pied only as the settlements are extended. But I mention this to let you know that you need have no apprehensions of being unable to obtain a farm in case it is your desire to come here.

I cannot say whether you could profitably follow your trade of cabinet making or not, but I am inclined to believe that you could follow some other pursuit that would be more lucrative. Nearly all our household furniture is brought from the States via Cape Horn, and can be brought cheaper than it can be manufactured here, owing to the high price of labor, and yet, perhaps, it would be profitable business to mend furniture when it becomes broken. Of this, however, you could judge best when you come here. You may be well assured that your trade will not be useless, even in house building and finishing, and I think I might safely say that you would make from $5 to $8 per day, either at your trade of cabinet making, or at carpenternow about $3 and board, and for laborers by the month on farms, from $60 to $80 per month and board.

The country is very healthy, far more so than in Lewistown or any place along the Juniata. It is true, we have some cases of fever and ague along the low lands of the Columbia and Willamette rivers, but they are mild in form and readily yield to medical treatment. We have a great many Indians here, but you need be under no fear from They are peaceable and no more to be dreaded than so many sheep, and in a few years they will all be gone, as they are fast

Upon the whole, I am of opinion that you could decidedly better your condition in life by coming to Oregon and making it a permanent home. By industry I think you cannot fail to do well. Many persons who have gone from here back to the States, have again returned here, unable to content themselves with a life in the older States. You may and undoubtedly will be somewhat homesick

But I have as little doubt that if you live here three years, you and your wife would far prefer it to Pennsylvania. Recollect I am only giving you my own opinion, not my advice about coming. Of this you must be your own judge. As to giving advice about the routes to Oregon, I scarcely know what to say. I may say, however, that you should confine yourself to one of two routes, either by way of Panama, or across the plains. The former is the most speedy and the least fatigue attending it, but it is the most unhealthy. I am not prepared to say what would likely be the cost of coming that way, but I think if you would call on Mrs. Hopper, of Lewistown, she could likely give you that information, as no doubt her husband has written to her about the expenses of that route. The journey across the plains, of course, is attended with no little labor or fatigue, and usually occupies from April to August, September or October. On an average it may be said to take four or four and a half months. With good mules it may be performed in three. This route has the advantage over others in this, that it costs but very little. The oxen or mules and wagons used in crossing are worth more here (unless worn out) than you pay for them in the States, and there is very little other expense besides these and provisions on the way. This route undoubtedly healthy, and the danger from Indians is nothing, if parties do not become careless and separate from each other. And I have no doubt but that troops will be stationed along the route by the government in order to protect the emigrants. I am inclined to believe, upon the whole, that for a family like you have, this would be the best route. If you conclude to come, and after you have determined upon the route, if you will write to me, I will endeavor to collect information relating to minor matters in traveling that pleasure in communicating it to you. Since writing the above, I went into a retail merchant's store, next door to my office, and requested him to give me the average prices of farm products as they have ranged for the last year. I will give them below. I will observe that this man is a dealer like your merchants in Lewistown, buying the produce of farms and paying either in cash or goods; and I would further state that This I shall endeavor to do candiday.

certainly true that a man can live in this country with much less labor than in Penncountry with much less labor than in Penninstance the life of a they now are. Wheat ought to be higher, sylvania. Take for instance the life of a farmer in Oregon compared with that of one in Mifflin county. Here the soil is equally as good as that of Kishacoquillas Valley for the raising of all kinds of grain except Indian corn. An Oregon farmer does not, by any is only one dollar per bushel. Many of our farmers refuse to sow wheat, simply because they cannot get more than $1 to $1,50 per bushel. The prices are as follows: Wheat $1 a S1,25 per bushel; oats 50 to 75 cents per bushel; potatoes 50 to 81 per bushel; cows $40 to $50; Indian ponies or horses $40 to $60; American horses $100 to $150; American bushel; cows ican mares (breeding) $100 to $200; oxen $90 to $125 per yoke; live hogs from 8 to 11 is true. The grain here always ripens during the dry season, and is never injured by rust or mildew. The farmer here can harvest his grain at his leisure, as no rains fall until September, and most generally not taken care to give you the lowest estimate

Enough was known, your trade of cabinet making, or at carpenter in the property of the general result, to render it however, of the general result, to render it certain that the Earl of Derby's Administration was not able to command a working majority in the Commons. The indications were that the Government would have but a very short tenure of power. The Peel party, headed by Sir James Graham, would most undoubtedly join the ranks of the liberal party, and an attempt to impose a tax on food would be most successfully resisted in the new Parliament. The Queen, Prince Albert and the Court had embarked for a shortcruise. It is thought that they may stop at Cork.

The WARES manufactured at this establishment are far superior to any other in the six counties, and have a reputation that will ever se-

Private Sale. The subscriber offers for sale two lots of ground situate on the corner of the Diamond, in Reedsville, Mifflin county, with a large DWELLING and STORE STAND Stabling for 8 horses, Kitchen, Wood House, Smoke House, and other out buildings thereon erected. There is also a well of water on the premises, Apple, Peach and Plum Trees in full bearing—in fact everything calculated to render it a pleasant home. The store stand is undoubtedly one of the best in the country, being situate on the great avenue (the Centre and Kishacoquillas Turnpike,) on which hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain are annually taken to market; the new turnpike from Milheim, in Centre county, intersects the Centre and Kishacoquillas road between the store and tavern, and this, now nearly finished, will largely increase the busi ness—so that few places offer more inducements to an enterprising business man than this.

The location in other respects is highly favorable—being six miles from Lewistown, but a short distance from Brown's well known Mills, convenient to Schools and Churches, and an unsurpassed valley beyond, whose thrifty population daily pass the door. It was last occupied by Wm. J. Glass, deceased.

A further description is not deemed necessary, as persons desirous of purchasing will of course call and examine for themselves. For further information apply to Wm. Brothers, Esq., or Wm. McKinney, Esq., Reedsville, or to the subscriber in Armagh township.
