HORSE THIEF CAUGHT.—The horses advertised as stolen in our last paper were recovered on Thursday evening, at the foot of Jack's mountain, a few miles from Allentown, and one of the thieves taken—the other succeeded in making his escape. The thief was taken to Juniata county, where he is now incarcerated in jail.

THE ticket for the election this year, is composed of two pieces. The Judge of the Supreme Court must be voted for singly, while all the other candidates can be voted for on one piece of paper, or all singly.

THE Last Shift.

Hopkins' case must be considered rather desperate when the canallers, on the eve of the election, put on an EXTRA STATE FLAT, loaded with doubtful voters, who, under pretence of putting up a bridge broken down nearly a year ago, are leisurely sailing on the canal at A DOLLAR A DAY.

We hope the whigs and democrats along the line of the canal between this and Minehart's well keep an eye on this movement.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM!

The Board of Canal Commissioners passed westward on Wednesday evening, with a host of their aids, having no doubt, as usual, some very important business to transact on the Portage contracts just before the election.

The Democrat has a story that because some one (whether by design or not we cannot tell) spelled soap soap on a banner at Reedsville, that a whig lady had the beautiful pole used there bored down! We hope some one at Reedsville, conversant with the facts, will advise us of the real state of the case, as we think the version given is rather improbable.

THE LANCASTER BAND, which was retained by the democracy to give eclat to their meeting, serenaded a number of our citizens on Saturday evening, (ourselves among the number,) for which we are sure all are duly grateful. During their stay, they favored our town with excellent music on various occasions, and so far as has come to our knowledge left a favorable impression as musicians and as men.

The State Election.

On Tuesday next the People of Pennsylvania are called upon to make choice of a Judge for the Supreme Court, a Canal Commissioner, Members of Congress, members of the Legislature, and a number of county officers—which, taken altogether, are certainly of sufficient importance to induce every voter to visit the ballot box, and there give expression to his opinions by voting for those whom he may think most likely to carry out his views. The candidates before the people for the important office of Judge of the Supreme Court ought to be well weighed, and if found wanting in any particular, their rejection should follow. The locofoco candidate for that office is an acknowledged office-hunter, and has so often met with pointed rebuke at the hands of his own party, that there is evidently something wrong. Nominated in caucus at Harrisburg for U. S. Senator, party drill was insufficient to elect him; subsequently, Mr. Polk, then President, nominated him to a high judicial station, and the U. S. Senate, composed of a large majority of his party friends, also rejected him! The question then may well be asked, by every voter, whether one who has been several times tried and found wanting, ought to be elevated to the highest judicial office in this State?

For Canal Commissioner, our opponents have nominated Wm. Hopkins, who has given ample proof of his devotion to party by an acknowledgement some years ago that he had not nerve to go against it. Such a man cannot but be of the "right stripe" for the present rulers of the canal and its revenues, and all those in favor of its present profligate management will of course vote for him.

Our county has so little of interest in common with the locofocos of Lycoming (which is a sort of "State" on the Susquehanna Division of the Canal, as Mifflin is on the Juniata,) that we can hardly conceive why a Mifflin county citizen should vote for one from that region, unless he desired to fasten canal chains around the necks of taxpayers with additional rivets. We have a Gamble in the Canal Board now—his brother is up for Congress, and if there are any more of the name, we should not wonder to hear that they are also in the market for offices of some sort.

Of the county ticket nominated by the locofocos we have heretofore spoken. They would of course like to be elected, and it remains with the people to say whether their wishes coincide with them. An occasional change is of essential service to any party, as it serves to purify it from the leeches who are constantly seeking office, more for their own advantage than the public good, and if in this instance there should be such a change, it might do much towards renovating some of the future selections already shadowed forth.

The "Great" Gas Meeting.

If our locofoco friends intended their meeting last Saturday as an ordinary county gathering, it was one that might pass, having been about as large as the whig meeting held in front of the Lewistown Hotel in August, but if designed, as their hand-bills stated, for a "mass meeting," it was throughout a most magnificent fizzle; at least three-fourths of them being either candidates for office, office-holders, their friends and adherents, and dependants of the canal. The people were not there to the number of one hundred, including whigs.

The first speaker who took the stand was Joseph W. Parker, Esq., who had a great deal to say respecting "Galpinism," which he elucidated about as clear as mud. Had he thought of it, he might have taken up the State Treasurer's report on defaulters and given a chapter on Mifflin county galpinism that would have proved much more interesting than his rignarole on government of ficers. Mr. P. is a young man of considerable ability, who could out a figure some day in the political cauldron, but like too many others, he evidently mistakes windy declamation for argument, and the common electioneering hobbies of such newspapers as the Pennsylvanian, for sound reasoning.

Mr. Gamble next took occasion to address his new friends, for whose votes he will no doubt feel duly thankful until the election, when, for aught he cares, they may go to grass. He is rather a pleasant speaker, and is apparently up to "snitz" in the office seeking line.

A procession was then formed, and the party marched down to the intersection of Wayne and Water streets, where, with the assistance of a whig derrick, their pole was put up, with a banner, on one side of which is "Pierce King and the Union," and on the other "The Constitution & the Compromise," which, considering that Mr. King voted against the Compromise, is rather of the filibuster order. On their return the meeting began to dwindle away, but Mr. Campbell, from Huntingdon, fell to work and gave the air a sound boxing with his fists for the space of about forty or fifty minutes, which raised curiosity enough to keep most of them together.

Woodward Nailed.

The recent account of Judge Woodward to discredit the official record of the proceedings of the Reform Convention, is likely to sink him deeper in the political mire than may be agreeable to the officeholder. If he delivered no such speech as that from which we lately gave some extracts, how comes it that Mr. Cummin, a member of that convention from Juniata county, and an Irishman, rose and DENOUNCED THE SPEECH as containing "most exclusive and aristocratic arguments," as casting "reproach upon foreigners," and "as a gross insult upon the Irish and the other foreign population of this State." Cummin's speech is found in the 5th Volume of the Debates, pages 448, 449 and 450. We make the following quotations from it:

"Mr. Cummin, of Juniata county, rose, and said it was a very hard case that a member of this Convention, should introduce a proposition like that brought forward by the gentleman from Luzerne, (Mr. Woodward)—that he should support it by a strong argument against all foreigners, and that he should then withdraw it, and thus cut off all opportunity of replying to his elaborate address. Such had been the course of the gentleman from Luzerne county. He had offered his amendment—he had made a speech in its favor—and he denied to other members the privilege of showing that he was entirely mistaken in his aristocratic argument."

"Sir, (said Mr. C.) the gentleman from Luzerne is the last man from whom I should have expected an action of this kind. I would have left the way open, for a short time at least, that we might examine the subject in relation to the foreigners of this country, from the time of the revolution down to this day, and that we might demonstrate even to his satisfaction, that his speech contains one of the most exclusive and aristocratic arguments ever submitted to a republican assembly."

"The whole tenor of the gentleman's argument went to cast reproach upon foreigners, and to show that they were not worthy to be trusted."

"The gentleman reasons rather out of the book in one point, when he says that the time is now come, when the United States can do without foreigners—that there is no necessity for them—that the people of the United States are now able to fight their own battles, and that they can live safe and free without their presence. He is mistaken if he supposes that he can find a justification, in such reasoning as this, for the argument which he has offered. There is no ground on which it can be justified. I hope, therefore, that he will withdraw his amendment, and that he will make an apology for what I regard as a gross insult upon the Irish and the other foreign population of this State."

Now when it is borne in mind that Mr. Cummin uttered these denunciations immediately after Woodward's remarks and were then fresh in his memory, and that he then, upon the floor of the Convention, and in the presence of Judge Woodward, said Woodward's sentiments were disgraceful and insulting, the proof that Woodward did make the speech reported in the debates is beyond contradiction, and he but exposes his dishonesty and insults the intelligence of the people, when he undertakes to deny the fact.

American Stocks in Europe.

EFFECTS OF THE TARIFF OF 1846.—The Bankers' Magazine has the following table of estimated amount of American stocks now owned in Europe, or advanced on by foreign banks, and issued for the various purposes of State, City, Banking, and Railway Companies, as compared with the amount of State Stocks so held on the 1st of July, 1848:

Table with columns: State, July 1, 1848, July 1, 1852. Rows include Federal, New-York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Louisiana.

It will be seen and appreciated at once, says the Daily News, that this increase of one hundred and twenty-one millions of dollars represents but the amount of money extracted from this country for the payment of foreign merchandise, which is, doubtless, principally railroad iron. Upon this whole amount of indebtedness, amounting to two hundred and sixty-one millions, the interest is annually to be paid to Great Britain. Add this interest to the amount annually paid in coin for merchandise imported into the country, and you have the benefits before you of the Locofoco Tariff of 1846. Therefore, it is fortunate for the community that there have been stocks for exportation. What may we expect when Europe requires the money for these stocks and loans?

The Democrat has found a great hero near Brown's Mills, named Lloyd, who it states ascended a tree in the face of twenty of those who, according to that paper, had put up an effigy intended to represent Pierce, and cut it down. The whole thing strikes us as a very good "Roorbak" on the eve of an election—but where was this hero during the Mexican war?

SINGULAR DISCOVERY.—It is stated in one of our English papers, that the work of draining the Lake of Haarlem, has led to the discovery of an immense mass of human remains, deeply imbedded in the mud, and placed precisely on the spot where, according to a topographic chart, laid down in 1511, and which has always been considered as perfectly accurate, the unfortunate village of Nierenkerk was situated, and which in 1529 was swallowed up by one of these interruptions of the North Sea, which formed the immense Lake of Haarlem.

WHIGS TO THE WORK!

"Now's the Day and Now's the Hour!" WHIGS OF PENNSYLVANIA, REMEMBER—That an election for Canal Commissioner, Supreme Judge, members of Congress, and the State Legislature, takes place ON TUESDAY NEXT.

REMEMBER—that the result of this election will have an important influence upon the ELECTION FOR PRESIDENT, which follows three weeks after.

REMEMBER—that the chief cause of our frequent defeats in Pennsylvania is the want of proper organization and proper efforts to BRING OUR VOTERS TO THE POLLS!

REMEMBER—that when our voters do turn out in their full strength, we are sure of a WHIG VICTORY!

REMEMBER—that when the Whig vote was out in 1840, Gen. HARRISON carried the State. That in 1848, the Locofocos cast the largest vote they had ever polled up to that day, and yet Gov. JOHNSTON carried the State; and a few weeks after Gen. TAYLOR carried it for President by more than 13,000 MAJORITY, when the vote of both parties was largely increased!

REMEMBER—that the vote polled in 1848, for President, by both parties, was the largest ever polled in the State, before or since; that Gen. TAYLOR'S majority was OVER 13,000; and that this proves that "A FULL VOTE IS A SURE WHIG VICTORY!"

WHIGS, arouse then, to the work before you, and spare no effort to get out THE FULL WHIG VOTE IN EVERY DISTRICT. Rain or shine,

Go to the Polls! and urge your neighbors to go with you. If this is done throughout the State—if the full Whig vote is polled—the result will be as brilliant a WHIG VICTORY as ever crowned the efforts of any party in the State. WHIGS, DO YOUR DUTY, and all will be well.

"Now's the Day and Now's the Hour!"

Corruption and Fraud upon the Public Works.

The Westchester Register of August 17, mentions the following in illustration of the opposition of the Canal Board to the "lowest bidder system" of purchasing the necessary articles upon the road:

"To show the extent this system has been carried, we will state a single fact among several of like import in our possession."

"A contract was made about two years ago, by the superintendent of the Columbia Railroad, for the delivery of 90,000 crosses ties at Columbia. These ties are now being placed under the north track. Instead of being White Oak, about one half of them, were informed by those who have examined them, are berked Black and Spanish Oak."

"These cost 45 cents each, at Columbia, and it is estimated that when upon the line of the road where used, the cost will not be less than seventy cents each; while far better ties—all White Oak—were offered to the superintendent at 40 cents each, to be delivered along the line of the road. Better ties, under the "lowest bidder system," are now being delivered to the Valley Railroad at thirty-one cents each."

"The average duration of White Oak ties is about fifteen years; that of Black Oak, about four. Here, then, the State will have to pay sixty-three thousand dollars in four years, instead of 28 or 29. This, however, will not be wondered at, when we add that the ties are said to have grown on lands belonging to the Canal Commissioners."

SCOTT MEETING.

A Meeting of the friends of Gen. Scott will be held in front of the Lewistown Hotel on Saturday Evening, the 9th inst. at early candlelight, when Hon. A. G. CURTIN, Gen. WM. H. IRWIN, GEO. W. THE ONLY TRUE PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.

JUST PUBLISHED, T. B. WELCHE'S MAGNIFICENT PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.

Engraved (by permission) from Stuart's ONLY original portrait, in the Athenaeum, Boston.

THIS superb picture, engraved under the superintendence of THOMAS SULLY, Esq., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterized as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, GEORGE WASHINGTON PARK CURTIS, who says, "It is a faithful representation of the celebrated original," and to CHIEF JUSTICE TANEY of the Supreme Court of the United States, who says, "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike every eye who sees it; and it is no less happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him, in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is so strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says SENATOR CASS, "It is a life-like representation of the great original. It is not only improved on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says SENATOR CASS, "It is a life-like representation of the great original. It is not only improved on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face."

For the great merits of this picture we would refer every lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seen at the office of the publisher, and to the letters of the following Artists, Statesmen, Jurists and Scholars accompanying it.

ARTISTS.—Marchant and Elliott of New York; Neale, Rothmel, and Lambdin, of Philadelphia; Chester Harding, of Boston; Charles Fraser, of Charleston, S. C.; and the adopted son of Washington, Hon. Geo.
