Another Base Fabrication Against Gen. Scott Dispelled.

To the Editors of the New-York Express.

In your paper of the 23d inst., I noticed from some strictures of your own, that the profligate and corrupt organ of the Pennsylvania, reiterates the falsehood, that Gen. Scott was responsible for the licensing of the gambling houses in the city of Mexico, after it had been conquered by the army under him. Nothing is more destitute of truth than the assertion. The first civil and military Governor of the city of Mexico was Major General Quitman, an ultra democrat, and his successor was Brevet Brigadier General Persifer F. Smith, likewise of the same school of politics, and opposed in this respect to Gen. Scott. Major General Quitman, as the first Anglo Saxon Governor of Mexico, established all its municipal regulations after it was brought under the subjection of the American flag, and he fixed the amount of licenses for drinking, gaming, and other public houses of a similar character, without consultation with, or interference from, Major Gen. Scott. The writer of this, under the direction of the civil and military Governor, issued most of those licenses with his own hand, and has now a record of the same. When, therefore, the Pennsylvania, or any other equally depraved newspaper, attempts to hold Gen. Scott responsible for the licensing of drinking and gaming houses in the city of Mexico, perpetrating as malicious an aspersion against him, as the depravity of the human heart can ever conceive of, Gen. Smith, on succeeding Major Gen. Quitman, increased the amount of one class of licenses from the honest conviction that the best interests of our own army, required that both if possible, should be suppressed. And in doing this, he but exercised a discretion that was vested in him by virtue of the trust which had been confided to him, and with which the General-in-Chief had no right to interfere, unless that discretion was abused either to the detriment of the American army, or to the community at large, that was affected by it.

Had the licenses been made ten times as high as they were, it would have been a most fortunate thing for many a loco-foco officer of the army, and some of whom are sought to be rewarded by their party with the highest civil honor known to our institutions. It comes, therefore, with a very poor grace from the Pennsylvania, to charge Gen. Scott with immorality because the civil and military Governors of the city of Mexico, who were indebted to him for that honor, had attempted to suppress gambling by assessing a tax upon all who kept gaming houses of any description.

Both the administration of Major General Quitman and Gen. Smith, as the two American Governors of Mexico, were so satisfactory, that Gen. Scott had no reason to interfere in the least with the municipal rules and regulations adopted by either of them. Gambling among the Mexicans was regarded as a national virtue, rendering the temptations to those of our own army who were all addicted to this pernicious vice, almost irresistible. Many squandered their entire pay, and all that could be borrowed by them, from friends, at these gaming houses; and both Gen. Quitman and Gen. Smith exercised all the power they possessed to keep on the vice, if they could not entirely suppress it. Had either or both of them, consulted Gen. Scott, there can be no doubt he would have applauded the ignominious that prompted them, and extended to them any authority he could legally clothe them with, whether by taxation or otherwise, to suppress gambling in the city of Mexico altogether. It was with this design alone, that the license system, both as regards drinking and gaming houses, was established by Gen. Quitman, and carried out by Gen. Smith as his successor as Governor of the city of Mexico; and so far from its being ground for censuring either of them, or General Scott, who was General-in-Chief of the Army, it should be cause for approbation on the part of every moral and upright man in the community.

The history of the world does not furnish an instance where a campaign involving an enemy's country was ever conducted upon as humane, magnanimous, and rigidly moral principles, as was the campaign of Scott, in marching over and conquering Mexico. The statesman, the philanthropist, the Christian, the generous and feeling conqueror, can be traced in every line and upon every page of the history of that memorable and unequalled brilliant campaign; and great and overshadowing as was the fame of General Scott previous to assuming the command of the American army in Mexico, the crowning act of his glory and world-wide renown is the fine of conduct he pursued upon every battlefield, and after every victory, and in his triumphant march from Vera Cruz to the ancient city of the Aztecs. The Pennsylvania, therefore, in assailing him, is like the viper biting a file.

ONE WHO SERVED UNDER SCOTT.

A few years ago a stove was unknown in Turkey. Now they are found in a majority of the cafes in Constantinople, and in the dwelling houses of the rich. They are mostly American stoves, or made after American models, many of them being manufactured by pupils of the seminary at Birbeck. They are now finding their way far into the interior. A short time since, a letter was put into the hands of a missionary, for him to forward, which was addressed to "B. at the coffee shop which has a stove, Sivas."

THE ONLY TRUE PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON. JUST PUBLISHED, T. B. WELCH'S MAGNIFICENT PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON. Engraved (by permission) from Stuart's early original portrait, in the Athenaeum, Boston.

THIS superb picture, engraved under the superintendence of THOMAS SULLY, Esq., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterized as the greatest work of art ever executed in this country. To its identity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, GEORGE WASHINGTON PARK CUSTIS, who says, "It is a faithful representation of the celebrated original," and to CHEIEF JUSTICE TANNY of the Supreme Court of the United States, who says, "As a work of art, it excels in New York; no strike every one who sees it, and it is no less happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be as true a likeness as any ever produced, the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says SENATOR CASS, it is a life-like reproduction of the great original. PRESIDENT FILLMORE says, "The work appears to me to have admirably executed and eminently correct in every particular." Says MARCHANT the eminent portrait painter, and the pupil of Stuart, "Your print to my mind is more remarkable than any other I have seen, for presenting the whole individuality of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of air and manner, which all who ever saw the original must have characterized of the illustrious man's commemorated." For the great merit of this picture we would refer every lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seen at the office of this paper, and to the letters of the following Artists, Statesmen, Jurists and Scholars accompanying it. ARTISTS.—Marchant and Elliott, New York; Neagle, Rothenmel, and Lambdin, Philadelphia; Chester Harding, of Boston; Charles Fraser, of Charleston, S. C.; and the adopted son of Washington, Hon. Geo. W. P. Gustis, himself an artist. STATESMEN.—His Excellency Millard Fillmore, Major Gen. Winfield Scott, Hon. Geo. M. Dallas, Hon. William Knowlton, Hon. Daniel Webster, Hon. John Boyd, Hon. Lewis Cass, Hon. Wm. A. Graham, Hon. John P. Kennedy, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, LL. D. JUSTICES.—Hon. Roger B. Taney, Hon. John Duer, Hon. John McLean, Hon. Rufus Chase. SCHOLARS.—Chas. Folsom, Esq., the well known Librarian of the Boston Athenaeum, who says: "I would rather own it than any painted copy I have ever seen." E. P. Whipple, Richard Hildreth, Hon. Edw. Everett, LL. D., Jared Sparks, LL. D., William H. Prescott, LL. D., Washington Irving, Ralph W. Emerson, Esq., Prof. T. C. Upham, J. T. Headley, Fizz Green Hatteck, B. W. Longfellow, Wm. Gilmore Simms; and FROM EUROPE. Lord Talford, T. B. Macaulay, Sir Archibald Alison, Lord Mayor, of London, &c., &c. THE PRESS, throughout the entire Union, have, with one voice, proclaimed the merits of this superb engraving.
