THE GAZETTE.

LEWISTOWN, PA. Thursday Morning, Dec. 4.

THE MESSAGE .- The late reception of this document prevents us from giving more than about one half of it this week without delaying our paper, which we long since determined to do fer nobody. It is considerable of a political harangue, censuring the north for voting for free soil, as though it was a heinous sin to do so. The document is not of much weight, and after being read will, like its author, be laid aside with a feeling of regret that his inaugural and first message should be so inconsistent with his last.

Res Congress met on Monday. In the House a debate sprung up on the admission of Whitfield, delegate from Kansas, and a majority decided he should not be sworn in. Is will be a fruitful theme of discord during the session. The message was sent in on Tuesday. Hale, Trumbull, and others, handled the assertions of Pierce as to the motives of the Republicans pretty severely.

The Democrat censures the County Commissioners for disposing of the stock held in the Lewistown and Tuscarora Bridge Company at private sale at par, alleging that more could have been got for it at public sale. We shall inquire into the facts.

253 The London Times is remonstrating earnestly against the location of gas works in the cities. It quotes from the mortality statistics of London, to show that in the districts where the gas houses are located, the proportion of deaths to the population is nearly twice that of other districts, with no other cause for the difference but the disagreeable and deadly effluvia from the gas works.

The Harpers have announced their intention to publish a weekly newspaper, of gin the publication of Mr. Thackeray's new sea. serial tale. Nothing that appears in this weekly is to be repeated in the Magazine of the same publishers.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

DIABOLICAL OUTRACE .--- Most of our citizens | Church, which is a large and commodious have been fully aware for years that some of the offscouring of creation were in our midst, but from a diabolical and venemous act per- tasteful appearance. In connection with this might be realized, if everybody would act nace, it would almost seem that among them are numbered those more deserving of being incarnate fiends than human beings. The furnace of Messrs. Etting & Bro., which had been undergoing sundry repairs for some months past, had been got ready for firing on the following day, and the hands employed were in and around it until six o'clock on Monday evening. Shortly after they had left the malicious scoundrel who no doubt had planned the act and watched his time, enterthe building, fired the stack, then opened the most every hue. In the rear and near the valves of the boilers and let out the water, centre of the stage stood "Flora's Bower," evidently with the intention of causing an explosion. Although the blast pipes had not Leen put on the fire obtained such headway in the stack before it was discovered as to wont to adorn the Infant School room, and to prevent its being checked. This would not have been of much moment, but on sending for the engineers to start the engine, they and song, until the school arrived, which endiscovered the boilers to be empty and red hot, and one of them with a large crack in it! Had any water been let into the boilers previous to this timely discovery, the furnace places on the stage in regular order the school would probably have been blown to atoms, and those in it either killed or maimed. The ance. The arrangement throughout was exfire in the stack, considered alone, might have been the result of accident, but when taken in connection with the discharge of not least, the singing of the Infant Class was water from the boilers, enforces the convic- enchanting. I witnessed it for two nights, tion that all was the work of one who had no and thought myself well paid in pleasure for scruples as to the destruction of property and they intend having another on New Year's human life in its most horrid and agonizing night, and I think it well worth a visit from form. Whoever was the perpetrator of the every lover of Sabbath Schools. All praise vile act, it was well for him that he was not discovered at the time or in the act, for had he been that roaring fire in the stack would perhaps have rid the earth of one fiend and given the bottomless pit an additional one .--- years in the penitentiary, has been pardoned. As it is, no effort ought to be spared to ferret him out, for such a being is an injury to our is now in operation. The first regular mail 1,3 citizens and their prosperity, an outrage on train from Cleveland arrived in Warren on the name of man, and at best an outcast of society; and if caught, let the law take its course, but if the law will not adequately punwaters of the Juniata, or a cord of pitch pine, could never be put to a better use than either might be in such a case.

THE POOR HOUSE .- The Directors of the Poor have had an arduous time for several days in allotting the Stewardship of the Poor morits and demerits of the several applicants in the way of qualification, &c., they finally appointed JOSEPH I. LANGTON, Esq., of Granville, Steward at a salary of $500 per annum. Mr. L. we think is well fitted for the post, and will probably prove as acceptable to the unfortunates who have to make their home there as any man who could be appointed, much towards reconciling unpleasant with public duties, and such may be the case with now that there is both public and private interest combined in its cultivation, will probably be made to yield what judicious farming generally produces, to wit, first rate crops .-We say this without any view of reflecting on those who have had the land in charge, but because it is an acknowledged truth that they will not for the public.

GAS BILLS .- The Treasurer of the company is now making his first visit to the consumers of gas with the bills for October and November, by which they can see what light is likely to cost. Some have perhaps burnt more freely than was needed-a splendid light being a strong temptation-but this will soon regulate itself. On the whole the consumers are well satisfied, many of them already wondering how in the name of sense they have been able to live thus far without gas! The number of consumers the first month was 70, the second about 100, and by spring they will probably increase to 150, which with prudent management and no mishaps, ought will afford a margin for a fair dividend.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE .-- Wm. Wilson, Esq. the newly elected commissioner, took his seat at the board during November court, in place of J. Fleming, Esq., whose term had expired. The board now consists of Jacob Hoover, Esq., President, Major J. Linthurst and William Wilson, Esq., with R. D. Smith as Secretary and D. W. Woods, Esq., Attorney. The election and other exciting subjects having in a measure passed away, two or three fights occurred in West Market street on Monday to wile away the time, in which both parties got some bruises and hard knocks. A bystander who saw the whole operation, says the peace officers prudently kept out of the way, so that there was no disturbance of the peace by an attempt to arrest the parties.

The weather continues very changea. ble, varying in a few hours from pleasant sunshine to rain, cold winds, and freezing .--There was a tremendous blow last night and which the first number is to be issued on the this morning, and we should not be surprised first Saturday of January next. It will be- to hear of much damage on both land and

STOVES-ECONOMISING HEAT.

It is well known that cylindrical stoves give out the most heat, and have the best House and the Poor House farm on the basis draft, but there are few who seem to know invited by their proposals. After sifting the the reason why. They do not seem to be aware at least that there is anything in the principle of their construction which imparts to them such qualities. Stove manufacturers cannot be accused of professing too much scientific knowledge regarding the best form of stoves, or we would not see so many blunders committed and rectangular furnaces. This is especithough we doubt whether he will find it an ally the case with cooking ranges and occupation to his liking. Use however does stoves-their fire boxes are constructed on wrong principles.

The reason why a cylinder stove gives him. The farm, on the shares, was given to out so much heat, and tends to produce Moses A. Sample, of Oliver township, who, such a good draft, is owing to the sides of its fire box or furnace being concave in form. Heat, like light, may be concentrated by concave mirrors, hence the heat is more concentrated in stoves which have concave, than those which have square fire boxes. The rectangular fire box may be more convenient for cooking ranges, but there is no excuse for constructing most men will do for themselves that which the furnace of any parlor or other heating stove of a square form.

The fire bricks for lining stoves should be fluted. Bricks with plain surfaces are not so durable as the fluted kind, because the latter tends to prevent the adherance of clinker. Some bricks for stoves are actually cast with convex surfaces, as if designed for scattering heat, thus exhibiting ignorance of the laws of heat.

Bright metal surfaces do not radiate heat so well as dark, dull surfaces, therefore Russia iron in stoves and pipe does not radiate so much heat into a room as common iron. Those surfaces which radiate heat most efficiently also possess the power of absorbing it, and vice versa.

As the intensity of heat varies inversely as the square of the distance from the rato yield from $3000 to $4000, an amount that diant point, it is evident that the nearer the stove is placed to the centre of the room, or space which it is designed to heat, the more uniform will be the temperature of the whole space, and not only so, but a greater amount of heat will be economiz-

> Stove manufacturers have devoted an immense amount of attention to elaborate the surfaces of cast-iron stoves, and to produce an incalculable amount of complicated forms, but not much to produce stoves based upon the philosophy of the laws of heat. We hope that more attention, scientifically, will hereafter be devoted to this great and important branch of American manufactures .- Scientific American.

In days that once were, the soapsuds went to the gutter as regular as the washing day was ended, and there are too many who allow the plan to be followed in the present day. All do not yet seem to have learned that a tubial of strong soapsuds is worth as much as a wheelbarrow load of good manure; and yet how much is thrown away. No wonder that the grounds about kitchens and farm-house grow rich in so short a time.

Now every bucket of suds should be thrown where it will not be lost. The garden is a good and convenient place to dispose of it, but the roots of grape vines, young trees, or anything of this sort will do as well. Anything that requires a and surrounded by a beautiful and well ar- strong, moist soil, needs soapsuds. Attachment of Vulcanized India Rubber Spring to the Tubes of Grain Drills. THE undersigned, having perfected an arrangement for the stitchment of a Gum. Spring to the Tubes and prag Bars of Grain Drills, is happy to inform Farmers and all others interested in the growing of Wheat and other grains, that he is prepared to furnish GRAIN DRHLLS, with the above article attached, at the shortest otice, at his Foundry, in Mc Veytown, Pa. Seeders have become an almost indispensable article to the Farmer, and he will find that the attachment of the Gum Spring will enhance its value at least one-half. All the deten tion and trouble caused by the breaking of wooden pins is entirely done away with by this arrangement, and a man, or boy, can perform nearly double the labor that he could under the old plan, with much greater ease, both to himself and horses. There need be no fear of the Spring breaking, for if there is an article that will neither break, rot, or wear out, the Gum Spring is that article, and I hazard nothing in saying that my Grain Drill is the signplest in construction, most economical in performance and therefore the most durable ever offered to the agri cultural public.
