AGRICULTURE IN CALIFORNIA.

The remarkable fertility of the soil of California, its genial climate and adaptability to furnish both temperate and tropical fruits, together with the great advancement of the agricultural interests during the past few years, have attracted to that country a large share of attention. Owing to these facts a single year has sufficed to work complete revolutions in her internal economy. One season looking to the Atlantic States for food, the next she assumes the position of a producer, and sends to New York the products of her hills and valleys. So suddenly and so easily was the change wrough', that one, speaking of the facility with which crops were raised, remarked, "You have but to tickle the earth with a hoe, and it laughs with a harvest."

We gather the following items relative to the agricultural portion of the State Fair, held at San Jose, from the California Farmer for October 24th and 31st.

The first matter which attracted the attention of the editor thereof on entering was "a pumpkin of enormous size, weighing 256 pounds, and measuring seven feet cight inches in circumference. Further on were some enormous cheeses, weighing 346, 106 and 74 pounds respectively .--They were of fine flavor, and show that we can make as good cheese here as can be made in the East. Still further along we noticed some enormous sugar-beets that cannot be easily beat; one of them weighed 103 pounds, and measured-well, we could not measure it, there were so many roots and branches, and all so enormously large, that we were as sorely puzzled as the Irishman when sent to count the pigs; counted all but one, a little speckled pig. that kept frisking about so that he could not count him. So with this; so many branches appeared that we could make no becinning to measure. Another beet, three feet four inches long, two feet two inches in circumference at the top, and twenty inches in circumference two feet and a nail from the top; weight not known. These grew in the Fountain Garden at San Jose. There were many smaller beets that anywhere else would have attracted unusual attention, but beside these monstrous roots they were but pigmies. Some of the largest Lima beans we have ever seen, were from the same garden. By their side were two bunches of very large parsnips. The name of the garden from which they were taken we could not learn, nor of the enormous cabbages could we find the owner's name. There were several of these cabbages that were very large -one weighing fifty pounds, measuring four feet eight inches in circumference; and two others a trifle smaller. The premium sample of oats averaged 134 bushels to the acre. Six samples of silk on exhibition. No. 1. Sample of spun silk from native cocoon. No. 2. Floretti silk from native cocoon. No. 3. Native cocoon .---No. 4. Two native wild cocoons, No. 5. Cocoons raised in the house. No. 6. Cocoons raised on a rose bush. This will ultimately become one of the best silkgrowing countries in the world.-Rural New Yorker, Dec. 13.

Mr. H. M. Bowman-Dear Sir:-I feel it my duty to let you know what your compound has done for my daugh-ter, and wish you to publish it if you can in hope that some suffering one may be induced by it to try your val uable medicine and be cured. My daughter was married in 1853, and went to Cincinnati to live, where her hus-to a celebrated physician there, and she took medicine from him for eight months; but he could not cure her.— Her cough was fixed and stubborn and seemed as though it would tear her breast during the paroxysm of cough.

and her breathing was at times very difficult. Failing to get relief from physicians, we thought we would try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and she took it regular for seven weeks, but it did her no permanent good. We then tries Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup, but with all she still be came worse, and it seemed as though she was beyond cure, when one day my wife was in at one of our neighbor's houses (Mr. Mayness') and she saw them give your Vegetable Compound to one of their children for a cough and she got three or four doses to bring home and iry it. After my daughter had taken it she breathed a little cas-ier, and we seat and got a bottle of it, and when it was (10 to the BEE HIVE DRUG STORE to buy your Hoofland's German Bitters, Boer taken there was a marked change for the better. I then got six bottles, the most of which she took as directed until finally cured—it is three months since, and she has
